'It Never Dries Out'

Three Arlington Families Are Tired of 'Swamp' Life

A STREAM FLOWS through the back yard of Mrs. Robert C. Prenzler, 917 S. Cleveland, Arlington Heights. Water seeps from a pond across the street into the Prenzler's crawl space and a sump pump forces it into her back yard.

Three Arlington Heights families are tired of living "in a swamp," as one of them put it.

Although it hasn't rained for several weeks, two wives step out of their back doors into muddy messes that once were lawns. One of them must turn on a sump pump every so often and let it run for several hours to get the water out of the crawl space under the home.

ACROSS THE street from the three homes in the 900 block of S. Cleveland ave., in sewer-less Park Manor subdivision, is a pond of water which children must be kept away from. The water seeps under the road into the three front yards. Then most of it goes into the crawl space of the lowest of the 3 homes, the middle one owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Prenzler.

Their pump empties it into a shallow gully crossing the length of the Prenzler back yard and the water winds it way to another large pond at the east or rear end of the yards.

Both the Prenzlers and their neighbors to the north, the Louis O. Carlinos, had their rear lawns washed away by last summer's flood and "we haven't been able to reseed them because the ground never dries out."

THE POND at the rear of their homes won't drain out naturally because "we live at the bottom of the saucer," Mrs. Carlino said. The land to the west and south, the natural direction of drainage, is higher. The water stays there most of the summer "and smells so bad we're ashamed to invite our friends out."

Their husbands tried digging trenches to the east and south but did little good. They asked the village to deepen a culvert to the east, running along Arthur ave., intending to dig a trench over to Arthur ave. themselves.

Public works superintendent Bill Luehring says that digging the culvert deeper won't help because the scummy water wouldn't flow uphill toward the culvert.

"The only thing they can do is get a sewer in there," said Luehring. The area is slated to have a sewer run through it if the giant relief sewer program is put through.

MEANWHILE, the three home owners aren't too happy with the village's reply. James K. Bigford, 921 S. Cleveland, the third owner, says he paid $207 in property taxes last year (most of which went for schools) and thinks more should be done by the village.

"We didn't even get mail delivered to our front doors last winter when the road was impassable. Luehring commented that the ponded water makes it hard to maintain the road and that his men dumped loads of rock on it this week.

As there is little chance of the relief sewer being installed by this summer, the 3 families face another hot season with added discomforts of smells and millions of bugs.

The Editor's Column

by STUART R. PADDOCK

The success of Warren Wright for the Republican nomination for state senator in defiance of Governor Stratton has evidently gone to his head.

His announcement this week that he did not favor judicial reform marked him as an old time politician. We predict that there will be many Republicans who will cross over and place a cross before the name of his opponent, Joseph Lohman, whose popularity in the state forced the lukewarm Democratic machine to place him on the primary ballot.

The press and radio are carrying to the voter the importance of judicial reform. If the measure is to be approved by the voters, it is doubly important that the negative label be placed on all candidates who oppose the reform.

There may be enough persons who will give cross-fingered support to the proposition to threaten its success at the November polls. A candidate who is lukewarm to judicial reform should be labeled as opposed to a measure that is greatly needed in this state.

It took a tragedy to bring about the formation of Arlington Heights Area Traffic Safety Council — important because its purpose is the saving of local lives. Credit for formation goes to local Lions club.

Similar councils should be formed in Rolling Meadows, Mt. Prospect and Wheeling.

The new council was formed less than a week after Arlington Heights deathless traffic record fell. That tragedy gave a note of real urgency to the words of speakers urging its formation.

A traffic death in Arlington Heights April 4 was the first since July 7, 1954, a period of almost 3 years, 9 months.

An art exhibit in a barber shop may seem incongruous, but that is just what is happening in Palatine. Vee Powell and the Powell Studio placed an oil painting exhibit this week in the Hi-Way Barber Shop, 103 S. Northwest hwy.

She explains it this way: "Why not? Contemplation of esthetics may be right in line with a customer who is getting 'beautified.'"

The public is invited. Barber Joe Pecos says, "It is not necessary to get a haircut in order to view the exhibit."

There is no doubt that some sort of a recession is hitting the older business districts in Arlington Heights and Palatine. Perhaps it can be charged to additional shopping centers, but Palatine Chamber of Commerce is asking the help of the Palatine village board.

They are asked to provide free parking throughout the business district during the shopping hours on Fridays and Saturdays. If the plan is approved, the businessmen will pay in a lump sum the meter daily rate. A special committee will take up the matter next Wednesday.

As we see it, the board should realize on which side their bread is buttered. Any possible loss in parking income would be offset by the increase in the half cent sales tax that would come their way from the increased sales.

Northwest Suburban YMCA kicks off its $378,000 fund-raising campaign tonight. This goal is the balance needed to build the $878,000 YMCA projected for this area.

The YMCA will benefit the whole community, and every resident, regardless of creed, has an important stake in its success. We hope that northwest suburbanites will be civic-minded enough in their generosity to support this drive.

New Traffic Safety Council

Expert Pleads for Citizen Support in Traffic 'War'

Organized citizens support for traffic safety can cut the auto death and injury toll by half, a safety expert said in Arlington Heights last Wednesday.

Urging 40 persons at a village hall meeting to support the formation of a traffic safety council for the village, Edward R. Klamm declared that the application of proven remedies can halve the accident cost in human lives. But citizens must demand that these remedies be applied, he said.

Klamm, who lives at 1200 Woodford, is accident prevention director of Allstate Insurance company and a member of President Eisenhower's traffic safety commission.

WHEN THE GROUP gave its approval to formation of the council, Klamm was chosen to head a temporary steering committee.

The group voted to confine its efforts to the Arlington Heights vicinity, and adopted the name of the Arlington Heights Area Traffic Safety council.

Representatives from Wheeling and Mt. Prospect agreed that formation of a council in each community, rather than on an area-wide basis, would be necessary. If and when councils are formed in other towns a top-level committee will co-ordinate safety campaigns throughout the northwest area.

REPRESENTATIVES of village government, Arlington Heights grade schools, civic and service groups and neighborhood associations attended the meeting, as well as numerous private citizens.

E. R. KLAMM

Several persons at the meeting had had extensive experience in saftey work.

Klamm is on the president's and Governor Stratton's safety commissions, in addition to working full time in the field.

Police Chief L. W. Calderwood worked in one of the first accident prevention bureaus in the state during his many years on the Evanston police force. Another who attended was John P. Hightower, 524 S. Lincoln, director of safety for Greyhound Bus Lines and a member of the board of directors of the National Safety council.

Calderwood and F. R. Buechner, village manager, said that traffic control is the "top problem" in the community and pledged their full support to the council.

"There is a psychological advantage in having a local safety commission to augment the work of police," added Buechner.

MOST speakers declared the idea of forming a citizens' safety group had been "in the back of my mind" for some time. But the actual impetus for the formation was provided by the traffic safety committee of the Arlington Heights Lions club.

At a meeting last month police Sgt. Oscar E. Johnson, an officer of the Lions club, urged the committee to work toward formation of a community-wide body. Earlier on the same day on which he spoke, three persons had been seriously hurt in a 2-car crash at Northwest hwy. and Euclid ave. Committee members contacted Chief Calderwood and Klamm.

Work Is Underway On Center

Construction started Wednesday on the Northwest Community Hospital center.

The hospital board of trustees last week awarded the building contract to B. W. Handler Construction co. of Chicago, low bidder on the project. The Handler bid was recommended by the hospital building committee headed by John R. Bartizal.

Handler's bid was $1,865,944.

BIDS WERE opened March 11 and examined by the committee and hospital advisors before a recommendation made. Under terms of the contract, the company winning the award agreed to start construction activities within 5 days after date of the contract.

The much-needed 110-bed suburban hospital will be located on a 27-acre site on Central rd. south of Arlington Heights.

The formal action on the contract was undertaken by the trustees after Walter R. Sundling, acting chairman of the finance committee, reported the completion of all contractual requirements for obtaining finances for the building while construction is under way.

TO ASSIST in the varied activities falling to the hospital finance committee during the construction period, N. M. Lattof, board chairman, named Hugh E. Nichols, partner of Arthur Andersen and co., as member of the committee.

At last week's board meeting, Lattof also called the trustees' attention to "the consistent and invaluable assistance" of the newspapers in supporting and publicizing the hospital project and bringing the non-sectarian hospital to the actual construction stage.

He paid special tribute to Stuart R. Paddock, editor-in-chief of Paddock Publications, "a moving spirit in the hospital project since its inception."

LATTOF ALSO paid tribute to the activities of the building committee, Walter R. Sundling, acting chairman of the finance committee in the absence of permanent chairman Herbert F. Bruning, and H. B. Rose, secretary of the board, whose "untiring and united effort culminated in making the necessary arrangements for awarding the contract."

'No-Death' Traffic Record Spoiled by Jury Ruling

Arlington Heights' no-death traffic record fell April 4, after standing 3 years, 8 months and 26 days, a coroner's jury ruled Saturday.

The jury decided that the death of John K. Richards, 38, of Palatine, in an auto crash April was due to accidental causes.

Richards' auto veered out of control while traveling at a high rate of speed and smashed into a brick wall of a cleaning shop at 1714 W. Northwest hwy.

THE VICTIM, a commercial artist who lived with his parents at 32 S. Greenwood ave., Palatine, was dead upon arrival at Resurrection hospital at 7:40 p. m.

Arlington Heights police had theorized that the death was due to natural causes but were unable to substantiate the theory. Police Chief L. W. Calderwood last week said it was possible that Richards suffered an attack and lapsed into unconsciousness before losing control of the auto.

Police could find no traces of skid marks before the crash indicating that brakes may not have been applied. However a witness to the fatal accident testified at the inquest that he heard a screech of rubber tires seconds before the car swerved off the highway, crossed a sidewalk and parking lot and hit the wall.

A MEDICAL REPORT by coroner's physician Dr. Thomas Carter gave the cause of death as a skull fracture and head lacerations. No autopsy was made, although Chief Calderwood had requested one after the physician had completed his report.

The last auto fatality within village limits occurred July 7, 1954. Two young boys were walking north along the edge of Wilke rd., near Kirchoff rd., when one of them eyed a snake and jumped out of the way into the path of an oncoming car. Romeo Ramos, 7, was killed when the auto struck him.

THREE OF THE FIVE witnesses to the April 4 accident testified at the inquest Saturday. Statements made by them and the missing witnesses to police were read to the jury but police were not asked to testify, a normal procedure at inquests.

William Zyburt, who witnessed the accident from a service station adjoining the cleaner parking lot, told the jury he heard a "screeching of brakes" and turned toward the highway. He said he saw the Richards auto weaving at an "excessive rate of speed" and watched as it sped into the building.

The car went across the corner of the station property narrowly missing a light post. Zyburt revised his estimate of the car's speed, 75 to 80 miles an hour, to "excessive speed."

THE STATEMENT of witness Nicholas Eberhard, 101 N. Lancaster, Mount Prospect, was that Richards, also northbound on the highway, passed his (Eberhard's) car going 75 to 80 miles an hour. As he was not at the inquest, his estimate remained unchanged. Also absent was Gregory Zyburt, whose statement was substantially the same as his father's.

Michael Bryant, 11, and his sister, Gail, 15 of 914 N. Race, said they also saw the crash while standing at the corner of Race and Northwest hwy.

Threat to Busse Woods Is Exposed

Unless the public exerts powerful pressure on county officials, a large trailer camp will be located right in the middle of Busse forest preserve. How can the northwest area prevent the spoliation of Busse Woods by the expansion of its trailer camp?

New Dog Catcher

Complaints about the large number of dogs on the loose has prompted Arlington Heights police chief L. W. Calderwood to hire a dog catcher.

He will be hired on a trial basis and begin work soon. Owners of dogs picked up by him will have to pay $2 a day pound costs and fines, plus buy a license if the dog has none.

County to Make Central 4-Lanes

(CNS)—The Cook county highway department has agreed to widen Central road into a four-lane highway from State road to Northwest highway.

Construction on the 1.5 mile stretch of road is expected to start sometime this summer and will be completed by the end of the year, said Hugo Stark, chief engineer of the county roads.

Stark met with Edward G. Carlisle, Arlington Heights village president, and Theodore A. Lams, Mt. Prospect village president Friday in Chicago. Also present were William J. Mortimer, Cook county superintendent of highways; James F. Kelly, assistant superintendent, and Lloyd R. Norris, Mt. Prospect trustee.

THEY AGREED that the cost of widening the highway from its present two lanes would be borne by the county with money allocated from motor fuel tax funds.

The county is working on a plan to re-route traffic onto other roads during the widening of Central rd., Stark said.

Officials of the two villages campaigned for the widening project after the county programmed widening the two-lane road by only four feet. The villages passed resolutions calling for four lanes.

THE WIDENING project includes construction of a curb and gutter along both sides of the road.

Stark said village officials and county highway officials agreed to start planning an extension of the widening program from Northwest highway to Rand road along Central road. This stretch of highway would also be widened from two to four lanes with the construction of curbs and gutters.

Construction on this section of Central road would probably start late this year or the first of next year, Stark said. However, this is at present only in the planning stage, Stark added.

Mammoth Scout Show Set Sunday

More than 2,000 cub scouts, boy scouts and explorers and over 500 adult leaders, comprising 53 cub packs, scout troops and explorer posts, await the starting gun for the Blackhawk district "Scouting in Action" show, Sunday, from 1 to 5 p.m., in the field house of Prospect high school.

Demonstrations of cub craft, scout skills, and explorer adventure will highlight the day's activities.

THOUSANDS OF tickets have already been distributed by the scouts and more will be available at the door. The public is invited to participate.

This is the first time all units have been able to put on a show together because of the previous lack of adequate facilities.

THIS YMCA BUILDING will soon be a reality in the northwest suburban area after completion of the present fund drive to reach a goal of $878,000. Already $300,000 has been pledged by the Chicago Metropolitan YMCA and $200,000 through advanced gifts solicitation, leaving a balance of $378,000 to be contributed largely by residents in the seven neighboring communities it will serve—Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Rolling Meadows, Palatine, Inverness and Des Plaines. The building will have complete gymnasium facilities, youth club rooms, an indoor swimming pool, meeting places for community groups, adequate health and recreational facilities and a modern kitchen. This evening 500 volunteer workers will kick off the residential campaign at a dinner in Prospect high school cafeteria. Guest speaker will be Emmett Dedmon, managing editor of the Chicago Sun-Times and author of the book, "Great Enterprises," a biography of the YMCA's 100 years of growth in Chicago.

Parkway Liquors Wins Back License

In the continuing crackdown on liquor sales to minors by Arlington Heights police, there were these developments this week.

One package goods store had its license restored by action of the state liquor control commission but a second store was charged with a sale of beer to a 19-year-old.

LAST TUESDAY the state liquor commission mailed out an order restoring the class B license of Parkway Liquors, 27 E. Davis.

Edward G. Carlisle, village president and liquor commissioner, had revoked the license February 12. His action followed conviction of a store employee on a charge of selling beer to a minor. The alleged sale took place January 4. Carlisle originally revoked the license January 20, five days after the trial. He later held a public hearing and revoked it a second time February 12.

THE STATE commission found that "the alleged sale of beer to a minor. . .was not sustained by the evidence." The order stated that "the license and its employees, as shown by the evidence, has for a long time prior to the incident been conscious of its responsibility to the public. . ."

The order reversing Carlisle's action added that Parkway "had done everything in its power to comply with the law."

The latest arrest on a charge of sale of alcoholic beverages to a minor was made at 8:15 p.m. Saturday by police Officer Maurice English. Charged with the sale was Stewart Scher, an employee of the Westgate Walgreen agency drugs, 1717 W. Campbell. Arrested for illegally purchasing a six-pack of beer was Armandos Castros, 19, of 1049 W. Higgins rd., Elk Grove township.

OFFICER ENGLISH'S report said he was in the drug store and observed the alleged sale. He said he asked the youth for identification papers as he was leaving the store. Castros could furnish only a draft card, which gave his age as 19.

English said he asked Scher if he had sold the beer to the youth and Scher replied he had and that the boy was of legal age, having shown proof of legal age at the time of previous purchases.

Trial is set for April 30 in the local magistrate court.

Wrecking Crews Demolish Residence

Wrecking crews from the Loeb Wrecking co. of Chicago have begun tearing down the house at the northeast corner of Dunton and Eastman sts., which is to be used for a parking lot for Illinois Bell employees, according to Robert E. Kozeliski, telephone manager for Arlington Heights.

The property has a 66-foot frontage on Dunton and 132 feet on Eastman.

Purchase of the property was completed recently after a search for some time for additional parking facilities. (AF

Few Voters Cast Ballots For Board

Fewer than 200 voters went to the polls Saturday for the election of three members of the Arlington Heights grade school board of education.

In the no-competition election, the results were: L. W. Bredehoft, 189 votes; William F. Hannum; 188 votes, and J. Brooks Smith, 188 votes. There were no write-ins.

BREDEHOFT AND Hannum will be serving their second terms; Smith will be a newcomer to the board. All will serve three years.

The turnout was only six per cent of the vote in the hotly-contested tax increase election last September, when nearly 3000 cast ballots. (AF

Cancer Fund Appeal Here This Week

The Cancer Crusade, annual fund-raising campaign of the American Cancer Society, takes place in Arlington Heights this week.

The drive is being directed by Mrs. Robert W. Fernstrom and a committee of 20 who designated workers throughout the town to call on residents.

ACCORDING TO present rates, cancer will strike one in every four Americans now living, and will affect approximately two of every three American families.

The research attack on cancer is the greatest, the costliest single undertaking in medical history. The problem of cancer is so broad and so profound that virtually every branch of modern science is engaged in cancer research.

Direct Dialing To Lake Zurich

Individual-line, two-party, and PBX telephone customers in Arlington Heights will be able to dial direct to Lake Zurich starting Sunday, telephone manager Robert Kozeliski said today.

Other telephone customers will continue to place their calls with the operator, he said.

THIS NEW service was made possible by a new group of lines from Arlington Heights to Lake Zurich.

Telephone numbers in Lake Zurich start with the telephone name GEneral, the manager said. (A

Dies During License Test

A driver's license examiner had a harrowing experience while giving a driving test in Arlington Heights Friday. The man who was taking the test, 80-year-old Otto Welinske of Antioch, slumped over the steering wheel as the car headed west on Campbell st.

Welinske lost consciousness and his foot jammed down on the accelerator. The car sped 300 feet along Campbell before examiner Arthur C. Anderson was able to regain control of it, traveling at a fair clip on the wrong side of the street.

An inhalator squad was unable to revive Welinske, apparently the victim of a heart attack.

SIDELIGHTS OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

In Various Ways and Places Easter Holidays Observed

The recent Easter holiday was observed in many ways in many different places. Several local residents who were vacationing away from home at that time returned last week, refreshed and enthused about their various activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Patrick, who left Arlington Heights for an extended vacation February 16, are home after 7000 miles of touring with stays at Hot Springs, El Paso and Tucson. Returning last Thursday night, they report an especially memorable Easter Sunday that began with their attending the 24th annual sunrise service held at the Grand Canyon. Conducted at the brink of the canyon and augmented this year by a 60-voice college choir from Flagstaff, the sunrise service, state the Patricks, is a most impressive ceremony and was a deeply moving experience.

THEY BEGAN their vacation with 10 days at Hot Springs, then went on to El Paso for a short stay and finally on to Tucson. During their long stay in Tucson, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick enjoyed reunions with former Arlington Heights residents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rapp and Miss Lois Whipple, who send back greetings to old friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Patrick who stayed at the senior Patrick home at 319 W. Hawthorne in the absence of Lynn's parents, moved to Crystal Lake Saturday where they will make their home.

THE JAMES DRAKE family returned home to 820 N. Dunton Thursday night from a 2-week vacation at Miami Beach, and a short visit in Palatka, Fla. with the C. A. Hughes, formerly of Arlington Heights. Mr. Hughes, who served as farm advisor at the local farm bureau for many years, joined his wife in forwarding hellos, via the Drakes, to their Arlington Heights friends.

The David Robinsons, 535 W. Euclid, enjoyed a week's vacation and Easter in Arpin, Wis. with Mrs. Robinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wernberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Boman and the children, 739 S. Evergreen, returned last Wednesday after 10 days in Madeira Beach, Fla. where they visited and enjoyed a family Easter celebration with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Boman and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Butler.

AN EASTER IN Florida was also celebrated by the Norman Bauske family, who returned to 102 E. Orchard last Thursday night after a 3-week vacation. They spent two weeks at West Palm Beach then early last week motored to Sumter, S. C., to visit Mrs. Bauske's sister and brother-in-law, Sgt. and Mrs. Arthur Sloan. They left Sumter to enjoy a leisurely return trip through the scenic Smoky mountains.

The Bauske vacation in West Palm Beach coincided with the 2½-week stay there of Mr. Bauske's sister and family, the James Suttons, 627 S. State, who returned here last Wednesday. Among the vacation activities they shared was a successful day of deep sea fishing when a party of nine caught nine dolphin, and an outdoor luncheon the following day with the main course, dolphin, of course.

On both occasions they were joined by Arlington Heights neighbors of the Suttons, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jorden who were vacationing in Florida at the same time.

MR. AND MRS. Charles Isleib and the children returned home to 524 S. Highland early last week after a 4-day visit and family Easter get-together in East Lansing, Mich. with the family of Mr. Isleib's brother, Donald, a professor at Michigan State college.

Mrs. Harriet Trude, 501 W. Euclid, is home again after a week's visit in Washington, D.C., and a sightseeing tour to many historic New England landmarks. Mrs. Trude was accompanied on the nearly 2000-mile motoring vacation by Mrs. Don Abel, a summertime neighbor and good friend of Williams Bay, Wis. where the Trude summer home is located.

Their week in Washington, D.C. was spent visiting Mrs. Trude's brother, Royal Christiansen, and after their sightseeing jaunt, the ladies enjoyed a picturesque homeward route through the Blue Ridge mountains, returning home Saturday afternoon.

Among the local families of the Eastern Orthodox faith celebrating Easter last Sunday were the Ernest Pouloses, 1225 N. Dunton, who spent Friday in Chicago attending the impressive Good Friday services at the St. George Greek Orthodox church.

Following the religious services in Chicago Sunday 35 members of the family gathered at the Poulos home here for a buffet supper and social evening. The buffet which included many typical Greek delicacies was centered by the traditional lamb, the Dill hospitality and an ever-roasted whole in an outdoor barbecue pit.

MR. AND MRS. William A. Ross, 1136 N. Dunton, returned by plane last Thursday after two weeks in Pasadena, Cal. with their son and family, the Paul Rosses, who moved from Arlington Heights to the west coast late last year.

Six friends and neighbors of Mrs. Robert Pagliai were guests with her last Thursday at the home of Mrs. L. J. Luber, 844 S. Dunton, in celebration of Mrs. Pagliai's April 5 birthday. A birthday luncheon and social afternoon was enjoyed.

Miss Barbara Lynn Traver celebrated her April 13 birthday Friday, April 11, at an after-school party with eight girl friends in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Traver, 725 S. Chestnut. Among her guests was a neighborhood twin, Rose Marie Kelly whose birthday is also April 13 .

The birthday girls were nine years old and Miss Kelly celebrated her day at a family dinner Sunday. Among relatives honoring Rose Marie were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gonser of Auburn, Ind. who spent the weekend here at the Kelly home, 738 S. Chestnut.

MR. AND MRS. Norman Bauske, 102 E. Orchard st., hosted six couples at a pre-dance cocktail party Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dill, 526 S. Evergreen, entertained Friday night with an after-a-holiday party for six friends. Enjoying ning of relaxation were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pretzel of Park Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stouffer of River Forest and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Behrens of Arlington Heights.

Weekend guests at the Claude Chapin home, 728 S. Chestnut, were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Jackson and son, Michael of Rockford.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray DeLong of Kalamazoo, Mich. were overnight guests last week of the Emil Schuberts, 317 S. Evergreen. Sunday the Schuberts, the Robert Wegner family and Mr. and Mrs. John Eugster, all of Arlington Heights, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schubert of Lombard.

MISS MARY JO Emig was guest of honor at a kitchen bridal shower given April 5 by a former high school chum, Mrs. Dawn Peterson of Peoria at the home of Mrs. Peterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kussow, 1203 Woodford. In keeping with the kitchen motif, a flower-bedecked dust-pan with measuring-cup candelabra was the unique centerpiece of the refreshment table.

Among the guests were Miss Emig's mother, Mrs. Fred Emig; her grandmother, Mrs. C. Poggi of Oak Park; her fiance's mother, Mrs. Wilbert Wagner and her future sister-in-law, Mrs. William Wagner.

Miss Emig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Emig, 1019 N. Highland, will be married JJune 21 in St. James Catholic church of Arlington Heights, to Thomas H. Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Wagner of Mt. Prospect.

FRED STUBER, 219 S. Walnut, is recuperating from major surgery in St. Joseph hospital, Elgin, and expresses his gratitude for the many cards and letters he has received. His sister, Mrs. Frieda Kwiran, 910 Mayfair, who was admitted to St. Joseph hospital the same day Mr. Stuber was, is also recuperating following surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. LeMeilleur, 1009 Miner, are hosts this week to Mr. and Mrs. Carson Middleton of St. Louis. Many festivities have been planned including sight seeing tours, luncheons and a cocktail party. Mrs. LeMeilleur's mother, Mrs. Margaret Cunningham of Houston, is also a visitor at the LeMeilleur home.

MISS LINDA LEE Meier of Foundry rd., and her grandmother, Mrs. Emma Garms, 1022 N. Highland, will be married June visit Linda's aunt, uncle and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Tinberg, Shelby and Sharon, in Watertown, Wis. Sunday they celebrated Shelby's birthday before returning home by bus.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Miles, 102 S. Brighton, returned Friday from Ponte Vedra, Fla. where they spent a 2-week vacation with their sons, Richard who was on a holiday from Trinity college, Hartford, Conn. and Robert, from North Shore Country Day school. This was the first time in several years that the family has been able to spend a vacation together and the two weeks were enjoyed by the boys as well as their parents. (A

Neighborhood Is A Mess, Complains Home Owner

A spokesman for a new Arlington Heights neighborhood complained to the village board Tuesday that their subdivider "hasn't followed the brochure."

As a result, said Joseph J. Gallietto, of 417 S. Prindle, the Mills subdivision (east of Stonegate) is "in a mess."

Among his specific complaints—

Phelps ave. is 4 to 5 feet above the next street to the west, Prindle ave., forcing storm water to drain down through yards to Prindle ave. homes.

SETBACKS ARE NOT uniform in new homes under construction and homes now being built are of lower cost than originally planned for the entire project.

—Lawns have been washed out because of water draining off a huge pile of dirt behind 3 homes. The dirt has been "sitting there" more than a year.

—"It is apparent builders exert far more influence with the building department than citizens."

Gallietto was told the board will soon pass a new ordinance to regulate establishment of grades on new homes. It will be the first such ordinance. The other complaints are being investigated by a board committee.

Schools Planning Appeal for WTTW

Seven Arlington Heights public schools —, Miner, Dryden, Park, Westgate, Ridge, North, and South Junior high —are preparing to participate in a community campaign to raise funds for WTTW, the educational television station on Channel 11.

Mrs. Robert Schultheis, of school district 25 PTA, has offered the full cooperation of the student bodies to help meet the cost of operating the non-profit station.

DR. JOHN W. Taylor, executive director of WTTW, reminded parents in a recent address that "WTTW exists in Chicago largely because over 300 thousand parents wanted it - they wanted it enough to contribute over $350 thousand dollars toward building an educational television station. Channel 11 will never be fully self-supporting any more than the Orchestral Association, the Art Institute or almost any university you can name. However, our short experience (WTTW is now three years old) has shown us that the community will continue to support something they believe worthwhile."

Business and industry and concerned individuals have raised over half the amount needed to meet the 1958 budget, an additional $140,000 is still needed. Approximately 3500 Arlington Heights students will bring envelopes home during the week of April 21. Their help will aid in the financing of the station's recent power boost and studio expansion. (A

Pancake Benefit

An invitation is issued by the Acolyte Guild of St. Simon's Episcopal church, Arlington Heights, to attend a pancake breakfast April 19, Saturday, from 9 a.m. until noon.

The breakfast will be held in the cafeteria of the South School Junior High and tickets may be purchased from any acolyte or from Ed Liebenow, CL 3-6079.

Proceeds will be used for the acolytes' vestments and necessary equipment. (A

Catholic Charities Served 400,000

The Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago last year served more than 400,000 people at a cost of $8,618,905, according to its annual report, released yesterday.

The figures were announced at a dinner meeting of the Charities' board of directors held April 10.

THE MEETING marked one of the last public appearances of His Eminence, Samuel Cardinal Stritch, archbishop of Chicago, before his departure next Tuesday for Rome, where he will assume new duties in the papal curia.

In an address to the directors, Cardinal Stritch thanked all those who participated in the charitable work of the Chicago archdiocese. Other speakers warmly praised the 70-year-old prelate for the constant care he has shown for the needy of his archdiocese.

"The cardinal's guiding thought," said Rt. Rev. Msgr. Vincent W. Cooke, Charities supervisor, "has been to make his Charities serve the needs of every family in the Archdiocese. Without discarding older but still needed services — such as those for the emergency relief of poor families — he has altered their emphasis and created new services to meet the new needs he has seen rising on every side."

MSGR COOK pointed out that the number of Catholic Charities agencies has grown from 39 to 87, and that the annual operating budget has increased by some 374 per cent, during the little more than 18 years since Cardinal Stritch came to Chicago.

"One effect of the cardinal's leadership has been to make the Catholic Charities do a much more adequate job of benefitting the total community," Msgr. Cooke said.

Leo J. Sheridan, president of the Charities' board and prominent Chicago realtor, called upon the directors to redouble their efforts in obtaining special gifts for the Catholic Charities' capital funds. Money obtained in the Special Gifts Appeal will be used to construct vitally needed new facilities and to refurbish many present buildings, he said.

THE FINANCIAL report indicated that $3,971,111, or about 46 per cent, of the 1957 budget was spent on the full-time care of 8,459 homeless children. Part-time care of nearly 68,000 children in day nurseries and community centers accounted for $820,430.

In addition, 32,953 persons were helped by the Charities' family care services, at a cost of $820,-120. Care of 2,226 older people in 13 local homes for the aged required $2,221,506.

Specialized services for the blind, deaf, hard-of-hearing and partially sighted children and for others with special needs cost $640,690. Administration costs amounted to 1.7 per cent of the total operating budget.

Eight new members were elected to the board of directors at the annual meeting. They are: Dr. Otto L. Bettag, Illinois state welfare director; Hon. Richard J. Daley, mayor of Chicago, and Charles J. Gallagher, John J. Kelly, Harley V. McNamara, Arthur J. O'Hara, Harry Puccetti, and John F. Smith Jr. (B8

Crusade Service Continues At Faith Church

The second service of the church attendance crusade at Faith Lutheran church, S. State rd. at Park, Scarsdale, will be held Good Shepherd Sunday, April 20, at the 10:45 a.m. worship service. Beginner and primary departments participated in services last Sunday and this Sunday the emphasis will be junior, intermediate and senior Sunday school departments.

At the worship service all children in the upper departments will be present with their parents and the children will recite the Shepherd's Psalm. The children are under the direction of Henry J. Schroeder, Sunday school superintendent. The Children's choir will sing "There Is A Tender Shepherd" and the Junior choir will chant the appropriate introit.

Choirs are under the direction of George A. Schrader, minister of music. Rev. Edgar H. Behrens, pastor of Faith church, will preach. All friends and neighbors are invited. (A

A HOSPITAL IN 1959! Lutheran General hospital board president, N. M. Nesset of Palatine, says "full speed ahead." Watching are Fred Mathison, board treasurer, Virgil Nelson, executive director, and William Schweitzer, general contractor. Work began this week on the new hospital located north of Park Ridge.

Lutheran General Hospital Awards Building Contracts

The board of trustees of Lutheran General hospital has awarded a construction contract to William E. Schweitzer and co. of Evanston. Construction is under way on the 24 acre site at Dempster street and Western avenue, Park Ridge. The hospital will be admitting patients in 1959.

THE BASIC CONTRACT covers a 200 bed general hospital building and a combination nurses school and residence hall building for 100 students. These two buildings, completely equipped, cost in excess of $5,000,000.

An option under the contract is a provision to add 126 more beds to the hospital during construction at a cost of approximately $7,000 per bed. This compares with a cost of $22,000 per bed for th efirst 200 beds. These additional beds would enable the hospital to add 100 family doctors and specialists to the medical staff.

THE HOSPITAL will serve Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Elk Grove, Glenview, Golf, Lincolnwood, Morton Grove, Mt. Prospect, Niles, Northbrook, Northfield, Palatine, Park Ridge, Prospect Heights, Rolling Meadows, Skokie and Wheeling.

"From now on all funds subscribed will be used to add the 126 beds," said N. M. Nesset, president of the hospital Board of Trustees. "Since there is a need for 1,500 hospital beds in the area to be served by Lutheran General hospital, it is felt that residents of the area as well as business and industrial leaders are appreciative of the opportunity to add 126 beds at one-third the normal construction cost. Daily many children and adults from this area are unable to get prompt hospital care. In some cases unnecessary deaths have resulted. Adding 126 beds to the hospital will greatly expand the health services available to the community."

Lutheran General hospital is designed to be the most modern fully equipped suburban general hospital in the midwest. It features the most advanced design in hospital construction. The care and comfort of the patient and family are the foremost considerations of the Board of Trustees.

Having all service facilities in between two corridors results in attractive outside patient rooms and nurses stations very close to each patient. Through the use of a speaker under the pillow each patient has his choice of five radio programs at any time of day or night without disturbing others. Also, the patient can talk with the nursing station at any time via a modern communication system.

BESIDES THE LARGE, complete physical therapy department on the ground floor, there are intensive therapy rooms to provide special therapeutic treatment to speed patient recovery. Each patient room is equipped with an oxygen supply.

On each floor a well furnished comfortable visitor's lounge is available for the family and friends to spend pleasant moments with the patient, and a small dining room on each floor makes it possible for ambulatory patients to dine together. Soothing and restful colors are combined in drapes and wall and floor treatment throughout the hospital.

In order to handle emergencies speedily, there is a large Emergency Department strategically located at the ambulance entrance. Emergency treatment beds, fracture and cast rooms, and an emergency operating room stand ready 24 hours a day for emergency cases. Also, there is a helicopter landing space on the hospital grounds.

General, bacteriological, pathological and other laboratories equipped with the latest diagnostic aids, as well as a complete X-ray department for diagnosis and external and deep therapy, will be under the direction of skilled personnel. The outpatient department is completely equipped to handle all types of cases.

A COMMUNITY needs a large bloodbank. Since blood is only usable for a 28 day period, the larger 326 bed hospital will make possible greater turnover of blood and a larger blood bank with more types instantly available. The bone bank and blood vessel bank will also be larger if a 326 bed hospital can be built now.

There are 7 operating rooms and 9 post-operative recovery beds with portable x-rays, oxygen supply and transfusion equipment—all air conditioned. The maternity and nursery includes 46 beds, 52 bassinets, 3 delivery rooms and 6 labor rooms. The Pediatrics Department consists of 25 beds, 4 bassinets and a special play area. The entire fifth floor is for treatment of acute mental diseases.

A large cafeteria, snack bar, and gift shop provide extra services for visitors and patients.

YMCA Swimmers Receive Awards

In the recently concluded Tuesday swimming classes at Maine high school, Northwest Suburban YMCA has given achievement awards to the following swimmers:

For learning to swim 25 feet: Steve Mann, 903 Tower drive, Mt. Prospect. For passing fish tests: Mark Westlake, 208 S. Albert, Mt. Prospect.

There are six classifications of swimmers in the YMCA program, ranging from beginners through shark. The tests that are given in these areas number 51. As soon as a boy or girl has completed these 51 tests they are qualified to begin Jr. Lifesaving classes.

MANY SWIMMERS are on the verge of completing tests in each category, needing but 2 or 3 more practice sessions before advancing.

Sessions run for eight weeks, the first six or seven being consumed by concentrated practice. Tests are given the last class or two depending on the number of students capable of passing. It generally takes a student from two to three sessions to advance from one class to another. The sessions run for eight weeks.

A new eight week session began April 15 and will run through June 3. It is not too late to enroll in this new session, however. To regiter simply call the YMCA at VA 4-4156. There is a choice of two classes. One meets at the Y office at 5:30 and returns by 7 p.m. The second class meets at the Y office at 6 and returns by 7:30 p.m. Classes are held on Tuesday evenings. A chartered bus transports the children to the Maine high school pool. The children are supervised at all times and are taught by trained qualified instructors. There are four instructors in the pool at all times and the class limit is 35 pupils. Cost for the eight week session is $3 for 'Y' members and $6.50 for non-members. Register by calling the 'Y' at VA 4-4156 or coming into the offfce at 1488 Miner street, Des Plaines. (B8

YMCA Offers Spring 'Tone Up' For Women

The women members of Northwest Suburban YMCA will be coming "into their own" this spring with special classes and activities designed to tone them up for summer.

A bowling league for both advanced and beginners will start April 25 and run for eight weeks at 8:30 a.m. each Friday. Having pre-school age children should be no deterrent to mothers to join for nursery facilities will be provided at Sims Bolwing Alley in Des Plaines where the classes will be conducted.

"Learning to swim in May at the YMCA" has been a popular city-wide campaign for many years for the purpose of teaching adults how to swim. Northwest Suburban YMCA will enter this city-wide effort for the first time this year by opening a class for women to start April 29 at the Park Ridge YMCA pool. Classes will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays at 1:30-2:15 p.m. Advanced swimmers as well as beginners may enroll in these classes.

WOMEN AND MEN interested in playing golf will have the opportunity to take instructions for six lessons outdoors at Rob Roy golf course starting April 28 at 6:45 in the evening. Professional instruction including grip, stance, swing and all phases of play will be covered.

Plans for the womens golf league are also being made. Play will start May 19 and will be conducted at Mt. Prospect country club. Advanced and beginners may enroll.

Further information on ths activities may be obtained by calling Northwest Suburban YMCA, Va4-4156. (B8

Professor Urges Revenue Reform

The need for revenue reform in Illinois to reduce inequities in the state and local tax systems has ben called for by H. K. Allen, professor of economics of the University of Illinois.

Allen issued an exhaustive study citing the need for additional tax revenues, a better distribution of tax burdens and the need for substantial additional tax revenues in the next few years.

"Few, if any, states have a more regressive system of state and local taxes than Illinois," Allen said.

"THIS CONDITION results from heavy reliance placed in Illinois on the sales and use taxes, and the absence of state individual and corporation income taxes. In 1956, collections from the sales tax alone amounted to 31.6 per cent of the state's total general revenue. Only the states of Washington and West Virginia collected a higher percentage from this source—41.8 and 37.1, respectively," Allen added.

In his study, Allen discusses the various taxes, their shortcomings and inequities, and makes recommendations for a new taxing system. (B8

THE SECOND TV SET

Quite a few folks have placed second sets in their recreational rooms and bedrooms. Naturally, the question arises if it's necessary to have a second antenna. Many folks visiting us at LANDWEHR TV held off getting the second set because they thought two antennas would be too much.

Actually, you need only one antenna . . . even if you have 3 or 4 sets. We can install an inexpensive device called a 'coupler' which handles the problem with great satisfaction.

Wheeling Principal Is New Head of Area Educators

Marion Omiatek, principal of Wheeling Central school, was elected president of Arlington Area Educators last Thursday evening at St. Peter Lutheran school, Arlington Heights.

Other newly elected officers are: first vice president, Frank Santelli, eighth grade teacher at Arlington Heights South Junior high school; second vice president, Donald Holtzee, junior high teacher at Kimball Hill school, Rolling Meadows; secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Ehrke, second grade teacher at Prospect Heights school; treasurer, Thomas W. Shirley, mathematics teacher at Arlington high school.

SOOM 600 TURNED out for the election and to hear Dr. George Howerton, dean of music at Northwestern university, discuss the role of the arts in the world today. Teachers, principals, and superintendents from northwest area school districts make up the large membership.

Some major objectives of the organization, according to Omiatek, are increasing community understanding and support of educational problems; the stimulation of professional initiative and spirit.

Some eight area-wide meetings are held during the year. Smaller groups meet from time to time to discuss various aspects of the teacher's career, such as curriculum planning. (B8

Round 'n About Westgate

Westgate Park is athrong these balmy days with hundreds of children enjoying the equipment placed there by the association. Not so gay are some of the nearby residents whose shrubs, grass and flowers are being trampled by enthusiastic youngsters. Parents, are asked to cooperate by encouraging their children to use the sidewalks to reach the park so that everyone may enjoy a pleasant, worry-free summer.

A welcome is extended to Beverly and Jerry Proesel, who recently moved into the former Dittmeyer home at 113 N. Wilke. They moved here from north Chicago and Jerry is civil engineer with the State Highway dept. They may attend the Methodist church in Arlington Heights and list golf and swimming among their hobbies.

THE NAME OF Margo Antoinette identifies the second daughter of Estelle and Chuck Baranowski, born April 11 in Resurrection hospital and weighing seven pounds, 8 ounces. Home at 239 Yale is daughter Laura, 9.

Weekend visitors with Arlene and Marvin Verbeck, 1511 Euclid, were Marv's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Verbeck of Moline, and Arlene's mother, Mrs. Harry Pike of West Liberty, Iowa, who will remain for the week.

Spending the week of spring vacation with his aunt and uncle, Phyllis and Clarence Wrobel, 1404 Fremont, was 6-year-old Douglas Carr of Oak Lawn. Doug was most reluctant to return home, having made many friends here during previous visits.

A peaceful weekend at the Wagon Wheel was enjoyed by Fran and Bill Johnston, 1505 Euclid, along with married friends from Madison and Milwaukee. The four Johnston children were ably cared for by Bill's folks, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Johnston of Menomonee Falls, Wis.

A PLEASANT evening of reminiscing was enjoyed by guests of Lois and Jack Madden, 1501 Euclid, when they entertained college classmates from DePaul university. A late supper was served to Mr. and Mrs. George Class Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Heidkamp of Niles and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Carvello and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Class of Chicago.

Hi-fi, dancing, food and fun made it a long weekend of celebrating the birthday of Bob Jacobs, 1418 Miner. Wife Fran's efforts were much appreciated. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. William Andres, Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Latzke and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jacobs. Present also was 80-year-old great grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Frischman of Arlington Heights.

Two local couples and their older children reached the Chicago Stadium in time for the last performance of "Ice Capades of 1958." The group included Elsie and Ed Johnson and youngsters, Eddie and Kathy, plus Arlene and Fred Hauth, daughters, Pamela and Denise, and their guest, Kathy Wrobel. Dinner later downtown nourished them for the trip home.

BETTY LANG of 123 Wilke was hostess recently to a group of neighborhood girls. Games and refreshments were enjoyed by Theresa Daniels, Margaret Potter, Beverly Proesel, Jerry Martinell, Jo Norton, Mary Keslinke, Dolores Pergandi, Rose McCracken, Olga Townill, Elva Rumery and Evelyn Althen.

Interesting and sometimes hilarious colored movies, augmented by a buffet supper, contributed to an enjoyable Saturday evening for guests of Fran and Harry Hebard, 409 Reuter. Present were Louise and Chuck Kuharich, Eleanor and Bud DeZonna, Bert and Andy Graczyk and Carolyn and Dick Burkett.

Sympathy is extended to Betty Timson, 1706 Fremont, on the death of her father April 7. (A

Ridge Park—Sherwood

Cathy Gordon, daughter of the Casey Gordons, was nine Friday and celebrated the day by inviting several friends for lunch: Frankie Nastal, Gloria Wysocki, Dorothy Bakowski, Linda Wiegel, Donna rBaunsreuter, Kathy Bulinski and Peter Hahn. Everyone had fun playing birthday games.

Carol Huskey, daughter of the John Huskeys, who formerly lived on Kaspar ave. before they moved to Grand Rapids, was here last week visiting Patty Loechl. While here, she went to some of Patty's classes.

Jay Kellar, son of the Al Kellars, was 11 Saturday and had a picnic party for several friends at Deer Grove. Jimmy Kunberger was there, as well as Charlie and Jerry Stocking, Paul Cryer and Chuck Read. The boys had fun building a fire and frying hamburgers. After lunch they played baseball, limbering up for Little eLague and went for a hike through the woods.

LIL AND GEORGE Lurtz were among those in the Ridge Park area who enjoyed the dance given by the Hundred club Saturday night in the Starlite room of the Post club, Elmhurst.

All newcomers to Ridge Park and Sherwood are invited to the Ridge Park Community Assn. spring dance Saturday, April 19, at the VFW hall. Dancing will be from 9:30 to 12:30 to the music of Paul Witt and his orchestra. Donations are payable at the door. This will be the last dance of the season, and for those who aren't familiar with this organization, this is the time to get acquainted.

The Jack Meades had a party at their house Saturday night, now that they are settled in their home at 1003 N. Kennicott. The Robert Dorises and John Vander Heides were there from Evanston; Herman Pickles from Palatine; Timothy Corcorans, Chicago; James J. Clerkans, Winnetka; Donald Callahans, Munster, Ind.; the Carl Wilkens, Lansing, Ill.; H. R. Althons, Rolling Meadows; Rolla Grahams from Steger; and the Albert E. Rileys, Arlington Heights. Mr. Riley is the president of Hasbrook Construction Co. building the new subdivision, Hasbrook Heights.

Tommy Adam, son of the Thomas C. Adams, has the measles. A first-grader at St. James school, he is finding it hard to be sick during such nice weather. The family is watching Gary, 3½, to see whether he will be next in line for them.

JIMMY KEDROW was 2 April 14, but he and his parents, the Wilbert Kedrows, celebrated last Saturday with a dinner party at home, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kenney were there from South Chicago and their son, Norman Jr., and Jimmy had a party of their own. Sunday they celebrated again, when Mrs. Kedrow's parents, the Hans Riekens of Chicago, came for dinner. The Harry Oases of Arlington Heights also joined the party.

Kathy Knutsen, daughter of the Donald W. Knutsens, celebrated her 10th birthday last Saturday with a luncheon party for five classmates. Kathy is a fourth grader at Ridge. After lunch the girls played games.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. House took Rickey and Rob to Sarasota, Fla., with them during the Easter holiday. It was the boys' first plane ride and they were kept busy trying the buzzers and other equipment available to passengers. oBth boys had the thrill of going into the pilot's cabin while underway, a privilege denied adults. In Sarasota they stayed with Mrs. House's parents, just a 15 minute drive from the Gulf. A highlight of the trip was chartering a boat to go deep sea fishing. Their haul was 56 mackerel, weighing 1 to 3 pounds apiece. Rickey and Rob went swimming only twice — the water was still too cold to be comfortable. But there were no complaints about that — everyone was too busy having a good time.

MARCIA PATE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert W. Pate, flew to Louisville, Ky. during the holiday to visit Suzanne Goehe, who formerly lived here with her parents. The girls enjoyed horseback riding, going out to dinner with Suzanne's parents and catching up on the news of each other.

Last Friday night Jean and Marshall Gray had dinner at Dohl's Morton House with Muriel and Ven Warejcka.

The E. W. Elstees have returned from a two-week vacation in Florida. They stayed at Clearwater Beach for 10 days and enjoyed being on the Gulf, where they could go swimming often. From there they went to Ft. Lauderdale to visit relatives. They were happy to have the George Lurtzes spend a day with them while there. By coincidence, the two families had planned Florida vacations at the same time. (A

Hit and Run Victim, 7, Recovering

This spring is an especially joyous one in the Robert M. Skallerup home at 1511 Oakton, Arlington Heights.

The Skallerup's 7-year-old son John, who was critically injured when a hit-run driver struck him last November, is up and eager to romp.

"We're having a difficult time limiting his activities," his father said this week. "But we're sure happy to see that desire develop."

THE SKALLERUP boy underwent another major operation a month ago at Resurrection hospital to correct an abdominal healing defect. A growth was removed from the intestine.

The boy was riding his bicycle home from school when the accident occurred. (A

Clabaugh To Attend PTA Parley

R. E. Clabaugh, superintendent of Arlington Heights public elementary schools, will carry a major leadership role in the Illinois Parent-Teacher association state convention, in Springfield today through Saturday.

Clabaugh, state chairman of the school education commission for the past year, has long been active in PTA work and was awarded a life membership by the local organization some years ago.

HE ATTENDED state board sessions Wednesday and will appear on television program this evening with Dr. Bereday of Columbia University.

He will also lead a forum discussion on school legislation at 2 p.m. today and Friday and will be a platform guest at the afternoon general session Friday, as a legislative consultant, and again in the evening as a state board member. (A

To Present Newcomers Officer Slate

Arlington Heights Newcomers club will hold its regular monthly business meeting Thursday, April 17, at 8 p.m. in the Pioneer park fieldhouse. During the meeting a slate of officers for the next six months will be presented by the nominating committee. Card games and a coffee hour will follow.

Friday night, April 18, 23 couples from the club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hawkes, 411 N. Carlyle, at 6:30 p.m. for cocktails and a social hour. Then they will travel on to Grier's Supper club in Palatine where dinner reservations have been made for 8 p.m. After dinner the group will dance to the Supper club orchestra.

THE GOLF tournament is scheduled to begin May 15. Those interested in playing are asked to sign up at any Newcomers meeting prior to that date or call Mrs. Howard Johnson, CLearbrook 5-5831 for details.

All newcomers to Arlington Heights with residence of one year or less are invited to the afternoon and evening meetings and become an active member of the club. Mrs. Nick Manta, CLearbrook 5-6252, may be called for further information. (A

Expect Village to Purchase Strip of Railroad Park

Purchase of a 25-foot-wide strip of the south side Railroad park by the village of Arlington Heights is expected within 60 days.

The Chicago and North Western railway, owner of the park land, has set a price tag on the property of $58,200.

The 3-block strip extends from Vail ave. to State rd.; the remainder of the park on the north side and opposite village hall on the south side would not be purchased.

Trustee Frederick A. Weber, who together with village attorney Stephen Jurco negotiated with the railway, said at a board meeting Tuesday the deal must be closed within 60 days. Though all trustees did not comment on the proposal to buy the land and Mayor Carlisle suggested the village's planning consultants be brought into the matter, the purchase was approved in principle when the dickering began.

WEBER SAID that the widening of Davis would ease commuter and shopper traffic congestion and would prevent future commercial development of the south side park. He said a 50-foot-wide strip will be left, most of it in parking lot or driveway. The railway must obtain the permission of the Illinois Commerce commission to sell.

Weber said the railway would be assessed a share of the cost of the widening of Davis st. The share was estimated at $13,000 to $15,000 some time ago, he added.

In another committee report Trustee Wendell L. Prunty, speaking for himself and Weber for the fire committee, urged the board to hire a full-time fire chief.

"WE HAD HOPED that the department's new training program established in January would work," Prunty said. "But there is a definite need for leadership and organization in the department if the program is to succeed."

He listed nine Chicago suburbs, ranging from 9,600 to 45,000 in population, which have full-time chiefs. Among them are Brookfield, Des Plaines, Glencoe, Highland Park, LaGrange, Park Forest, Wilmette and Winnetka.

Prunty asked for a decision at the next meeting. Fire Chief Elroy J. Winkelman several weeks ago said he does not favor the change. (AF

This Week with PTA

April PTA meetings will be concluded next Tuesday, April 22, at 8:15 p.m., with the following programs:

Miner

Dr. Freda Kehm, Chicago director of the Association for Family Living, will discuss "Building Stability in Our Children."

Majoring in psychology, Dr. Kehm graduated from the University of Illinois. She holds a master's degree from the university of South Dakota and in 1941 received her doctorate at Northwestern university in sociology, social work and public administration.

Prior to her appointment as director of the association in 1948, she taught social work at the University of South Dakota and for seven years was teaching in the department of sociology and anthropology at Carleton college, Northfield, Minn.

Former volunteer services include serving at young people's church camps as dean of women and lecturer on courtship and marriage, member of 1950 White House Conference on Children and Youth, national vice president of the American Legion auxiliary, consultant for the Illinois Commission for Children and Youth and the Illinois Sex Offenders' commission fact finding committee.

South Jr. High

This meeting will be a follow-up of the January meeting during which students and parents discussed teen-age problems. At that time parents formed discussion groups and came to general conclusions regarding manners, dress and parties, and several students formed a panel to present their views on the same subjects.

The results? All those interested in teen-age standards for this community, come and find out.

The meeting will open in the gymnasium, where parents of sixth and seventh grade students will remain for the evening. Eighth grade parents will reassemble in the physical education room where representatives from the high school will discuss the extracurricular activities available at the high school.

Westgate

"Snakes, Science and Schools" is the provocative title of a talk to be given by Roland Eisenbeis, director of conservation of the Forest Preserve district. Of great interest to parents, he will discuss local recreational facilities and how children can use them for extra fun and knowledge.

Mr. Eisenbeis has his degree from the State School of Forestry of North Dakota and spent his boyhood as a guide in that state. During World War II he was in combat intelligence in China, Burma and India. He has been with the forest preserve district for 11 years, formerly as a naturalist.

Following this theme, David C. Stubbs, metropolitan physical director and adult program secretary of the YMCA, will reveal "Suburban Resources for Family Fun."

Mr. Stubbs comes well qualified to speak on this subject. He attended George Williams college and is a graduate of Northwestern university. He is a member of the Pan American Games Committee of the U. S. Olympic Committee for Volleyball, vice president of the National YMCA Physical Education committee, secretary to the World's committee on Physical Education and a member of the National Basketball Rules committee. He also is North American YMCA's "good will" representative to South America and spent six months visiting most of the countries of South America. He spent five years in military service, mostly in physical training, and is presently deputy commander of the 9629th Air Reserve squadron with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Preceding these talks on youth activities, Mrs. Thelma Carroll, director of health services, will briefly discuss her role as school nurse.

Scalpers Take Note!

The PTA has taken to the river and will dock the River Queen for the Minstrel Show Thursday and Friday, April 24 and 25. Tickets for these shows are at a premium, but a few are available for dress rehearsal Wednesday, April 23.

When the lights dim and the curtain goes up, a well-rounded cast of parents and teachers under the able direction of Mrs. Earl Petersen will go into action. As part of the cast will be Mrs. Albert Dunham and Mrs. Robert Skamler, who have been rehearsing a song and dance routine, and Melvin Kasen directing the Father-Teacher chorus.

Waiting on the levee are many willing workers who are helping to make this a colossal production. Just a few of these are John Maun as stage manager, assisted by Walter Auburn, Donald Shriver, Pete Kiefer and Bernie Wood, who designed the schoolroom scene. The costumes have been made by Mrs. Morgan Russell, Mrs. Wayne Edie, Mrs. Frank Kleca, Mrs. Harry Compton, Mrs. Donald Shriver, Mrs. Glen Rubenking, Mrs. Carl McNeeley, Mrs. Joan Maun, Mrs. Ray MacDonald, Mrs. John Gross, Mrs. John Deery, Mrs. Herbert Stokes, Mrs. Allen Barry, Mrs. Robert Bishop, Mrs. Dean Shumate and Miss Gretchen Galecki.

With cast and workers like this, the PTA confidently expects to put on one of its greatest shows yet.

Off to Springfield

Representing PTA at state convention next week in Springfield will be Mrs. Robert Schultheis, president; Mrs. William Franck, incoming first vice president; Mrs. Robert Wallace, secretary; Ralph Clabaugh, superintendent of schools; Mrs. Ethel Henning, North school teacher and Mrs. Wayne Faust, reporter for this column.

Highlights and sidelights of convention proceedings will be reported in a later column. (A

GEORGE HARRIS

Just a thought in passing. Many of us who are talking about this so-called recession, have not been, nor does it look like we will be affected by it — unless we continue NOT TO BUY the things we actually need.

Why not look at the brighter side? There are still some 62,000,000 people who are working and will continue to do so — people who have not been touched by any part of this so-called recession. It only seems like common sense to continue to live as you have in the past and buy the things you need — NOW. Continuing not to buy is only contributing to a condition that is mostly conversation. To be sure some people have been affected by being laid off their jobs, but we can help them go back to work by living and spending in a normal fashion.

When you are in need of anything in the Pharmaceutical or Drug line, I hope you'll think of Harris Pharmacy. I hope you won't think old "Dad Harris" has turned "pollyanna," but I still believe in this country, this community and in the people I meet.

Red Cross Spring Water Safety Program Starts

American Red Cross annual pring training program in water safety for north and northwest suburban Cook county will be conducted this year again at Lion's Memorial park pool, Lincoln and Maple sts., Mt. Prospect, from June 9 to June 20. Tom Cooper, park district superwill meet from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, Monday through Friday, for two weeks, Cooper said.

During the program, Cooper said the folowing courses will be offered:

WATER SAFETY instructor for anyone 18 years of age or over who has completed his Senior Life Saving within the past three years or is currently enrolled in the Senior Life Saving class being offered during the program. It is permissable to enroll in both the Water Safety Instructor and the Senior Life Saving casse.

SENIOR LIFE SAVING - anyone 16 years and over is able to pass the preliminary swimming test.

WATER SAFETY AIDE - for anyone 14 years and over who is desirous of receiving experience in teaching swimming to others in his own local communities during the Learn to Swim program this summer. The Water Safety Aide course is planned chiefly for housewives and high school students who have the time and are willing to vounteer their services to help teach these children to swim. They do not have to be skilled swimmers themselves in order to enroll. However, in order to be eligible to receive the water safety emblem and certificate upon completion of the course, the applicants must also have completed Junior or Senior Life Saving.

JUNIOR LIFE SAVING - for anyone 14 or 15 years old who is enrolled in the Water Safety Aide Course. No one under 14 will be permitted to enroll in this program. It is strictly for adults or for those old enough to receive the Water Safety Aide certificate.

This program is free - there is no pool fee, nor charge for the instruction. The Mt. Prospect park district has again offered the facilities of the pool and field house free for the courses, an instruction is furnished free by the American Red Cross.

Last year 78 persons participated in a similar Red Cross program - thirty completed the Water Safety Intructor's Course, 36 passed Senior Life Saving, 14 passed Junior Life Saving and 26 passed Water Safety Aide. The program is under the supervision of a staff representative from the Chicago chapter, American Red Cross, assisted by volunteer American Red Cross water safety instructors.

Registration will take place at the pool on the opening day, or may be given in advance by calling the Mt. Prospect park district office: Cl. 5-5381. (B8

AWAY WE GO to sell Girl Scout cookies. The sale will be held April 18 to 28 and this year's proceeds will benefit the new camp site at Chippewa Falls, Wis. Residents are urged to welcome the scout who calls. She will have five different varieties of cookies from which to choose. Representing scouts from Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Wheeling and Prospect Heights are Patty Bertram, Sharon Koeneman, Sally Spitler, Eileen Boden and Ann Leslie.

Builders, Realtors Optimistic About Business

Looser Mortgage Money Market Is Major Factor

Builders and realtors in the northwest suburban area are generally optimistic about business this spring.

Their optimism is based on a variety of factors not the least of which is the "loosening up" of the mortgage money market.

Most subdivision developers are moving ahead full-steam and there's enough of a turnover in older homes to keep the real estate people busy, too. There's also activity among the individual builders, who construct several houses in an area or custom-made units.

MOST AGREE that this supply of home-financing money will for the first time in several years, equal the demand.

As a result, there will be more favorable financing available in both conventional and FHA mortgages.

Late last year the going rate for mortgage money in this area was about 6 per cent; now it is down to 5½.

SOME LENDING institutions say the 5½ conventional rate is a better buy than the 5¼ FHA rate because there is a half-per cent monthly premium on FHA loan insurance, paid by the borrower.

Interest rates often vary among lending firms and the wise home-buyer will "shop around" a little for the best rate.

If, however, you purchase a home in a subdivision or an individual home the builder will probably already have arranged financing. The buyer must qualify personally.

THE HOME BUILDERS association of Chicagoland notes that the more advantageous housing market also is the result of keener competition among builders resulting in more value for buyers, additional space and luxury features.

Martin H. Braun, association president, says construction of superhighways is allowing builders to move farther out in the country from where the owner may still commute daily to his downtown office.

The down payment is often the big stumbling block for the young couple who wants to buy a home in the suburbs or move to a larger one in this area.

THERE'S GOOD NEWS for them too as the down payment on most properties will be less this spring and summer as compared to last year. They may even get a few more years to pay off the mortgage in the present buyers' market.

Down payments, according to most officials, will range from 25 to 35 per cent.

Here's typical requirements for home financing plans as gathered by the Cook county County Council of Insured Savings and Loan associations:

Home Price Range	Type of Financing	Income Range	Down Payment Range	Monthly Payment
$15,000 to $18,500	Savings & Loan	$4,600 to $6,200	$3,000 to $4,625	$73.70 to $99.35
	F.H.A. Insured	$5,500 to $6,200	Legal Minimum of $1,050 to $2,000	$82.92 to $98.08
$18,600 to $21,500	Savings & Loan	$6,200 to $7,500	$3,720 to $5,375	$91.36 to $115.46
	F.H.A. Insured	$6,200 to $7,500	Legal Minimum of $2,100 to $2,900	$98.08 to $110.56
$21,600 to $26,500	Savings & Loan	$7,500 to $9,000	$4,320 to $6,625	$106.10 to $142.31
	F.H.A. Insured	$7,400 to $8,400	Legal Minimum of $3,000 to $6,500	$110.56 to $118.88

Along the Camp Fire Trail

by Dorothy Schomburg — CLearbrook 3-7017

Mt. Prospect

Fourth grade Humming Blue Birds from St. Paul's school spent Monday morning, March 31, touring the Avon plant in Morton Grove. Four trained guides took the girls through the 7-acre building and at the end of the tour, each girl was pleasantly surprised with a beautifully wrapped can of talcum powder and each adult was given a bottle of cologne. From there the girls traveled to the Choo-Choo restaurant in Des Plaines and lunched on hamburgers, french fries and cokes.

Arlington Heights

The April 9 Camp Welasi day camp staff meeting and girl-planning committee Mrs. Mirrel R. Kephat's home brought to light many new facets of the summer camp program. Final plans were made for the closing council fire to be carried out by the Cheekata Camp Fire Girls of Forest View school.

The group's guardians are Mrs. Robert Currie and Mrs. Stanley Luczak. A playlet, based on Indian legend, will be staged during the ceremonial and various Camp Fire and Blue Bird groups will participate. Mrs. Joseph Crittenden is directing the dramatic offering.

AUTHENTIC OR handmade Indian items are needed and anyone having any of the following items is asked to get in touch with Mrs. Crittenden at Clearbrook 3-2055: Indian tepee, Indian chief headdress, peace pipe, tom-toms, rattles, small bows and arrows, and magic charms (feathers, fur tails) and headdress for medicine man.

Theme of the 3-day summer camp is "Friendship in the Woods" and all phases of the program will be centered around natural resources and Indian lore and legend. Handicraft projects will be made of Mother Nature's woodland materials and songs, games, dances and outdoor cooking will all be material handed down from our only true heritage, the American Indian.

SATURDAY'S registration of Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls in the Arlington Heights district brought 65 new members into this rapidly-growing youth organization.

Six or seven new groups will be formed this fall as a result of the spring registration program. Anyone wishing to enroll their 7 to 15-year-od daughter in the Camp Fire program may contact Mrs. Myron M. Masny at Clearbrook 3-5345. All new girs will light their candles and be taken into the friendship circle of Camp Fire at the district council fire to be held Sunday, May 25, at 3 p.m. in the girls' gym of the Arlington high school.

Fireflies Blue Bird group toured the Palatine pet shop during their April 3 meeting. The 15 girls attending stopped at Prince Castle's for hamburgers and malts after the tour. Painting of papier mache' blue birds made at a previous meeting was the handicraft project for the April 10 meeting. Mrs. Gayle Oberlin is leader of the second grade girls.

AT THE LAST meeting of the Forest View Blue Birds, the played games, sang songs, discussed experiences they had in selling candy and talked about day camp. After the business meeting, Chritine Boldas sari, hostess for the day, served the "treat" and they worked on their new handicraft project.

The Wikotanda Camp Fire Girls planned a trip out-of-doors for their April 8 meeting. The girls, with drawing pads in hand, sketched an interesting tree or shrub. In a month, they will return to record the change. Reports of officers and committees were aso given. Mrs. Raymond Traver is guardian of the fifth grade group.

Camp Fire and Blue Bird news from Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Palatine is submitted for publication by Mrs. Louis Schomburg, CLearbrook 3-7017. News should be in the hands of Mrs. Schomburg before 1 p.m. Mondays.

YMCA Begins Swim Sessions

In the recently concluded Tuesday night classes for boys at Maine high school Northwest Suburban YMCA has given achievement awards to two local swimmers. For learning to swim 25 feet Steve Mann, 903 Tower dr., Mt. Prospect, won an award and for passing fish tests, Mark Westlake, 208 S. Albert, Mt. Prospect, also was a winner.

There are six classifications of swimmers in the YMCA program, ranging from beginners through shark. The tests that are given in these areas number 51. As soon as a boy or girl has completed these 51 tests they are qualified to begin junior lifesaving classes. Many swimmers are on the verge of completing tests in each category, needing but 2 or 3 more practice sessions before advancing.

SESSIONS RUN FOR eight weeks, the first six or seven being consumed by concentrated practice. Tests are given the last class or two depending on the number of students capable of passing. It generally takes a student from two to three sessions to advance from one class to another. The sessions run for eight weeks.

A NEW 8-WEEK session began April 15 and will run through June 3. It is not too late to enroll in this new session, however. There are two classes; one meets at the 'Y' office at 5:30 and returns by 7 p.m., the second class meet at the 'Y' office at 6 and returns by 7:30 p.m. Classes for boys are held Tuesday evenings, for girls, Wednesday evening. A chartered bus transports the children to the Maine high school pool, and children are supervised at all times. There are four trained qualified instructors in the pool at all times, and the class limit is 35 pupils.

Youngsters may be registered by calling the 'Y' office, Va 4-4156, or by stopping at the 'Y' office, 1488 Miner st., Des Plaines. The cost of lessons is very small

What Makes a Good Community?

Are you proud of the town you live in? What do you most appreciate? Is it is beauty of architecture in homes and public buildings? Is it the quality of the schools and the public library? Is it the public health well cared for? Are people neat, so no ugly litter lies around? Is relief prompt and effective for those who have misfortune? Are your churches at work vigorously in behalf of spiritual values?

The Youth Orchestra of Greater Chicago announces its spring concert Friday evening, April 25, at Orchestra hall. The orchestra, composed of high school students from high schools of the Greater Chicago area, this year is under the baton of Dr. Desire Defauw. Dr. Defauw has conducted major American symphony orchestras, including the Boston Symphony, Detroit Symphony and Chicago Symphony.

Tickets for the April 25 concert are available from members of the orchestra and will go on sale April 15 at the Orchestra hall box office.

Among the student musicians participating in the concert will be: Marge Sandford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Sandford, 510 N. Emerson, Mt. Prospect, playing the bassoon; and Jeremy Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Campbell, 41 S. Ridge, Arlington Heights, playing a trumpet. Both are students at Arlington high school. (AM

Trips Set by 'Y'

Openings are still available in the Northwest Suburban YMCA Saturday Fun Club trips. Six exciting trips are planned, and the cost has been reduced for those missing the first trip.

APRIL 19: YMCA DAY AT THE MUSEUM. A special tour has been arranged for YMCA youngsters, and they will also see a movie called "American Indians" and a cartoon. Bring lunch and milk money.

Bus leaves Palatine 8:15 a.m.; Arlington Heights 8:25 a.m.; Mt. Prospect 8:35 a.m. Return is approximately 2 p.m.

APRIL 26: MOVIE, "KILL THE UMPIRE." Everyone will go to West school in Des Plaines to watch Bill Bendix in "Kill the Umpire." This will get the youngsters in the mood for the baseball season and the Fun Club trip to Wrigley Field later on.

Bus leaves Palatine 9:20 a.m.; Arlington Heights 9:30 a.m.; Mt. Prospect 9:40 a.m. Return is approximately 12:30 p.m.

MAY 3: GOODMAN THEATER PLAY. The story of how a witch's greed for power is destroyed by good. Rapunzel's rescue from the witch's tower and Rapunzel's prince are two of the elements which build the play to its exciting climax.

Bus leaves Palatine 12:30 p.m.; Arlington Heights 12:40 p.m.; Mt. Prospect 12:50 p.m. Return is approximately 5:45 p.m.

MAY 10: A TRIP TO THE ZOO. This is always a favorite for the boys and girls. Brookfield Zoo in the spring means seeing some new additions to the Childrens Zoo and a visit with animal friends. Bring lunch and milk money.

Bus leaves Palatine 10 a.m.; Arlington Heights 10:10 a.m.; Mt. Prospect 10:20 a.m. Return is approximately 3:30 p.m.

MAY 17: BASEBALL - CUBS VS GIANTS. The Fun Club will be there to cheer the Chicago Cubs against the San Francisco Giants. Arrival at the park will be in time to see batting practice. Bring a lunch or money for hot dogs, peanuts and popcorn.

Bus leaves Palatine 11:30 a.m.; Arlington Heights 11:40 a.m.; Mt. Prospect 11:50 a.m. Return is approximately 5 p.m.

MAY 24: GOLD RUSH OUTING. At the YMCA Day camp site at Deer Grove there will be a gold rush day. Find "gold" and buy candy with it. But be careful of the "bandits." Bring a lunch.

Bus leaves Mt. Prospect 9:20 a.m.; Arlington Heights 9:30 a.m.; Palatine 9:40 a.m. Return is approximately 1:30 p.m. (8

Rev. Kausch Accepts Call

REV. G. KENNETH KAUSCH

Rev. G. Kenneth Kausch, assistant pastor of St. Peter Lutheran church of Arlington Heights, has accepted a call to the pastorate of Redemption Lutheran church in Battle Creek, it was disclosed at a recent St. Peter voters' meeting. At the meeting, Mr. Kausch explained the great needs of the calling congregation for pastoral help, and then asked for and received a release from his present charge.

MR. KAUSCH, a native of Detroit, was graduated from Concordia seminary, St. Louis, in 1957 and began his ministry at St. Peter upon his ordination that same month. He has served together with the Rev. Luther V. Stephan, pastor of St. Peter church, in all areas of the parish, with some emphasis on youth work and vacation Bible school.

St. Peter church, one of the oldest congregations in the community, numbers 1500 communicant members and has a Christian day school of 450 pupils, taught by a staff of 12 teachers.

THE KAUSCHES and their son, Paul, will leave Arlington May 1 and reside in a new suburb of Battle Creek, where Mr. Kausch will serve a young congregation of 250 communicant members. (B8

Music Educators Conduct Festival

Three well known names in the music education world will conduct the fifth annual West Suburban Music festival Monday, April 21, at 8 p.m. in the boys' gym of Arlington high school.

J. Russell Paxton, professor of music at the University of Wisconsin, will direct a 900 member choir composed of students from the conference's 8 schools. Paxton is director of choruses on the Wisconsin campus and has appeared as guest conductor for all-state choruses in Indiana, Arkansas, Michigan, Kentucky, and Wisconsin.

CONDUCTING a 150 piece band will be Leonard Falcone of Michigan State university. Falcone is a native of Italy and studied under the late Donato Donatelli, Neapolitan bandmaster. He has appeared widely as guest conductor and as soloist on the euphonium.

Charles O. DeLaney, assistant professor of music at the University of Illinois, will lead the 160 piece orchestra. DeLaney is assistant conductor to the university's 90-member student orchestra and has made many appearances as a flute soloist.

CHARLES DELANEY

LEONARD FALCONE

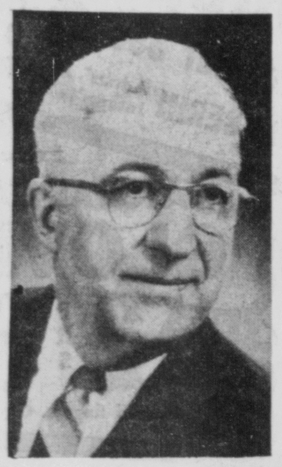
ARLINGTON, Maine (Des Plaines), York (Elmhurst), Glenbard (Glen Ellyn), Riverside-Brookfield, Hinsdale, La Grange, and Downers Grove will have students participating in the musical extravaganza.

Site of the festival changes each year; this is Arlington's first year to act as hosts.

Music department head Fredrick Schmoyer predicts "a delightful evening of entertainment." Tickets are now on sale at the high school or may be purchased at the door that evening. (ACM



Business 'Recession' May Reduce Water Works Costs

Arlington Heights has been told the business recession may generate a savings in its water works improvement program.

The consulting engineers, Consoer, Townsend and Associates, informed village trustees that bidding was spirited on the proposed projects.

THE CONSULTING firm added:

"Although labor prices and equipment prices continue to rise, low bids submitted reflect a general lowering in construction prices due to lesser profit to the general contractor, more efficient use of labor, and fewer delays due to enhanced deliveries of equipment."

One project planned is the installation of 4,400 lineal feet of underground water mains. These are needed to connect the village's No. 7 well and the proposed 1,000,000-gallon elevated tank to the present system. A total of 13 bids were received.

Three bids were submitted for fabrication and erection of the elevated tank. Five bids were received for work at the pumping station and for foundations and other work at the elevated tank.

Low bidders were awarded contracts for $325,000 worth of waterworks improvements at the Arlington Heights village board meeting Tuesday.

Successful bidders were George A. Hardin, $35,595 for 4400 feet of water mains; Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel co., $169,880 for fabrication and erection of a one million gallon elevated storage tank, and John Erskine co., $120,440 for a pumping station and other items. (A

Incorporation and Election At The Church of Our Lord

Sunday evening, April 13, action to incorporate was taken by the members of the Church of Our Lord in congregational meeting.

Early in 1957 the Evangelical United Brethren denomination received an assignment through the Church Federation of Greater Chicago to develop a church from a "focal-point" just south of Arlington Heights.

Rev. Truman Stehr was assigned full-time to this task beginning July 1, 1957. A three-acre site located on Lincoln ave., one-half mile east of Arlington Heights rd., was purchased.

Services began October 6 in the Forest View school, located on Arlington Heights rd., just north of Algonquin (route 62). The first members were received Easter Sunday of this year.

A fellowship supper provided by the women of the church preceded the congregational meeting. The meeting opened as Rev. Nelson Ringsmuth, pastor of the Rolling Meadows Community church and president of the Northwest Suburban Ministerial association, brought Christian greetings and encouragement to the congregation. Officers for the church were then elected, and a building committee was officially approved.

A highlight of the meeting was the reading of a historical record of the early events connected with the beginning of this church. Mrs. Peter Vollmann, who had compiled this record, was the reader.

Anyone interested in further information about the Church of Our Lord is invited to call Pastor Stehr, FL 8-2383, or to visit a service some Sunday, 10:30 a.m., in Forest View school. (AMC

Eastwood Events

Mrs. Jan Behrens, 203 Brighton pl., gave a farewell luncheon for Mrs. Tom Lambert, who will move, with her husband and five sons, Mike, Paul, Joey, Frankie and Timmy, to a new home in Prospect Heights. Neighboring guests attending were Mary Walberg, Jean Snelton, Marilyn McKlennan, Pat Christofferson, Virginia Neas, Fran McKnight, Gert Kanouse, Alberta Westby, Carol Glader, Edna Harty, Marion Haseman and June McBride. A gift certificate for the home was presented to Peg.

New residents at 212 N. Brighton pl. are Mr. and Mrs. Bud Scully and daughters, Claudia, 3, and Selena, 4.

Spending the days after Easter visiting her mother, Mrs. Cecelia Suhi at Long Lake, Wis., were Helen Kasper and daughter, Karen. Billy visited his uncle, Steve Suhi in Wadsworth, Ill.

VISITING AT the home of her daughter, Eleanor Leet and family, for the past three weeks was Mrs. Henry Barth of Scotia, N. Y.

Spending Friday with his sponsor, a West Point graduate, Lt. Charles Hug, Jack Mutti visited the Nike sites in Arlington Heights and Palatine. Both attended the Eagle Scout Recognition dinner in Park Ridge that evening.

A welcome is extended June and Bruce McBride and their two daughters as new residents in the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Thomas, 216 N. Brighton pl.

Ricky Kazakiewicz celebrated his first birthday April 1 with a family dinner party in the Dick Kozakiewicz home, 218 N. Lincoln lane.

JERRY HANNER will celebrate his first birthday April 18 with his family at home, 215 N. Lincoln lane.

A group of neighbors and friends surprised Jack Mutti Saturday evening in celebration of his birthday. They presented him with "silly" gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Curt Kenyon, 313 N. Brighton p., entertained out-of-town guests last weekend.

Taking a bird hike in Deer Grove with their biology class from Prospect high school Saturday morning were Dawn Anderson, Terry Moore, Jack Mutti and Frank Soprano, accompanied by Miss M. Davis and Mr. Pumphree.

Church Women to Hear Panel at Special Meeting

Representatives from three Chicago neighborhood houses have been invited to take part in a panel discussion at a meeting of the Women's association of the Arlington Heights Presbyterian church next Wednesday, April 23, at 8 p.m. Robert Hutchinson of Arlington Heights, who is on the board of directors of Firman house, will act as moderator.

Rev. Raymond R. Day will represent Beacon house. Besides having served as pastor of several churches, Mr. Day has had wide experience in social work and is now director of Beacon Neighborhood house.

Miss Geraldine Gregg, an ordained Congregational minister, will tell of her work as program director at Christopher house and William Iverson will be representing Firman house where he is engaged in community organizational work.

THESE church-affiliated neighborhood houses minister to a variety of needs in their respective communities. Besides providing a social center for people of various ages, races and creeds, they offer educational and spiritual guidance as well.

The local Presbyterian church contributed to their support and also has representation on the various boards. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hutchinson are on the board at Firman house, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Holloway are board members at Christopher house, and Mrs. A. G. Benedix is an auxiliary member at Beacon house.

Special organ music will be provided by Mrs. George Hasbach and Mrs. Harold Rose will be in charge of devotions. A short business meeting will be conducted by Mrs. John McComb, association president and refreshments will be served following the meeting by members of circle 7. Mrs. Bert E. Gathercoal is chairman of this group and Mrs. Chas. Tully is co-chairman. Visitors are welcome. (APK

Village Theatre Re-Elects Tom Grisell as President

Re-elected for the second year as president of Village Theatre Inc. was Tom Grisell when the group held its election of officers last week.

Serving with him this year as vice-president and director of public relations will be Kay Hawley, who will automatically be nominated for president next year.

OTHER OFFICERS include: George Garland, secretary; Ken De Celles, treasurer; Barbara Schneider, director in charge of talent bank, and Charlotte Shaughnessy, director in charge of the play reading committee. Al Wilcox remains on the board as past president, due to the re-election of Grisell.

The group is still supplying a lovely geisha girl in Westgate Home Furnishings on Saturday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30. She serves tea and fortune cookies to those purchasing tickets for "Teahouse of the August Moon," to be staged May 1, 2 and 3 in the Prospect High theatre. Without costume, this Saturday's saleslady is known as Lynn Lobenhofer.

TICKETS ARE also available at My Place restaurant, the Beauty Bar, and from the box office, 733 S. Highland. Reservations may be made from 1:30 to 3 daily at CLearbrook 3-4314.

Since the May 1 performance is a benefit for St. Simon's Episcopal church, tickets for that evening may also be obtained from Mrs. W. R. Gard, 336 S. Windsor, CLearbrook 5-0339, ticket chairman. (ACM

Final Adventure Lecture Tuesday

The Travel and Adventure series of the Arlington high school-adult education program will have its last lecture of the season in the Theatre at Prospect High school Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Julian Gromer's adventure film "The Mighty Amazon" will bring to a close this season of lectures which has included the top lecturers in the country. Gromer is a world traveller, adventurer, and winner of a number of film awards as one of the country's finest photographers.

THE FILM STORY begins with a visit to the gay town of Belem at the mouth of the mighty river, where old meets ultra modern in a setting of tropical flowers. The natives are busy with trading in the market while, near by, products of the Amazon valley are hoisted aboard ocean-going vessels. The jungle story is told by girls dressed in feathered costumes.

Unusual sequences follow, with a native worship service, scenes on Marajo island where cowboys ride horses, water buffaloes, or dugout canoes, and shots of the seine and thrownets bringing in the savage man-eating piranha fish. (ACM

Meyers Moving To West

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin H. Meyer, 617 Burton pl., will leave Arlington Heights next week for their future home in Boulder, Colo., where they will operate a McDonald Drive-In restaurant.

Although residents of Arlington Heights for 19 years, they feel as if they will be returning to their "hometown." Their daughter, Judy, is a junior at University of Colorado and another daughter, Mrs. Jean Martin, is a resident of Denver.

The Meyers both are graduates of University of Colorado and have three brothers living there.

MR. MEYER originally came to Illinois as part of the Benjamin Electric Mfg. co. organization, where he was retired in January after 23 years service.

Their drive-in, to be open all year, will be located on 28th street on the main highway to Estes Park. They hope their Illinois friends vacationing in that area will stop for a hamburger (not on the house, however!).

Mr. Meyer said he loves the mountains and expects to have a home with mountain views on all sides. (A

Lightning Causes 400 Fatalities

Lightning accounts for nearly 400 deaths and 1,000 injuries each year. And 90 per cent of the damage done by lightning every year occurs in rural areas, says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

This threat from the skies also accounts for about five per cent of the nation's fires and an annual property loss of $20,000,000, Hogsett says.

In most cases you can prevent lightning damage to your building and their contents with a system of air terminals and grounded conductors. Be sure that the system is properly installed and maintained.

During electrical storms seek protection in buildings protected with lightning rods whenever possible. Stay away from open windows or doors and fireplaces, stoves, pipes and other metal objects.

If you have to stay outdoors, keep away from small sheds or shelters in exposed locations, isolated trees, wire fences, farm machinery or hill tops in open areas.

Best protection in the open when you have no other alternative is to lie on the ground, away from objects that tend to attract lightning. Bolts of lightning always head for the highest point in the area, whether it is a barn, a tree or a man walking in a field. (Fm

Science Fair Set For High School

Prospect high school's cafeteria will be crowded with the work of future scientists this Saturday as District 214 plays host to the Junior Academy of Science's annual science fair.

Approximately 1000 projects will be open to public viewing Saturday afternoon following the morning's judging. Robert Kemman, head of Arlington high school's science department invites all interested suburbanites to see the students' work from noon until 4 p.m.

GRADES 7-12 will be represented with a total of over 50 schools participating. Boundaries for the academy's northwest district extend from Madison street in Chicago to the Wisconsin state line. All of DuPage and Lake county is included, as well as most of Cook.

Projects, which cover subjects as diversified as science itself, will be judged and awarded first, second, and honorable mention awards. All first prize winners are eligible for the state fair at the University of Illinois.

Judges will be picked from area scientists in industry and education. (ACM

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. When a man and his wife and his mother go to church together, how do they walk down the aisle and, also, does he sit between them or at the end of the pew?

A. The mother and her daughter-in-law walk down the aisle together, followed by him. He sits with his mother between him and his wife.

Q. Is it proper to send gifts to the mother of a newborn baby?

A. Although relatives and close friends will sometimes send flowers or candy to the new mother, usually any gifts sent are for the baby.

Q. What apology should one make after a sudden sneeze in public?

A. "Pardon me" is sufficient.

Q. When two girls are walking along the street together and meet a boy who is a friend of one of the girls and he stops to talk, does the other girl stand by while they converse or does she walk ahead slowly?

A. If the boy is a stranger to her, she should walk on slowly until her friend rejoins her.

Q. Since becoming engaged recently, I have received a number of gifts of money. Am I supposed to divide this with my fiance, or does it belong to me to send as I please?

A. Rightfully, you should put this money into a special account to be spent later by both of you for something for your home.

Q. Is it proper to place the elbows on the table while drinking from a cup, holding it with the fingers of both hands?

A. This is not considered the best of manners.

Q. When a girl has been introduced to a young man, and is leaving him, should she say that she is glad to have met him?

A. No. It is the man's place to say this, to which she may reply, "Thank you." If he makes no such statement, then a smile and a "good-by' are all that is necessary.

Edmund Schmidt Funeral Friday

Edmund R. Schmidt, 55, of 1217 W. Euclid, prominent in Arlington Heights civic and fraternal circles, suffered a fatal heart attack Tuesday afternoon.

He was employed as a plant engineer for Illinois Bell Telephone co. in Chicago and had lived in the village for 12 years. He was a past president of the Arlington Heights Lions club and currently was serving as club treasurer.

SCHMIDT WAS also a member of the Arlington Heights Masonic lodge 1162, A.F. and A.M. and the Order of Eastern Star, lodge 992. He is survived by his wife Catherine and a brother, Erwin, Park Ridge. His wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Gendelmeyer, live with them at the Euclid address.

The Rev. Paul Stumpf of the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights will officiate at the funeral Friday at 1:30 p.m. at Black's funeral home. Burial will be at Oak Ridge cemetery in Hillside. (A

Annual Clean-up Starts May 5

May will be "clean-out-the-attic-and basement" month in Arlington Heights.

The annual spring rubbish pick-up will begin May 5 and continue through the week of May 11-17. Trucks of Laseke Disposal service will start the pick-up on the south side of the tracks Monday, May 5 and work there until all rubbish is removed.

ON THE FOLLOWING Monday, May 12, pick-ups will begin on the north side of the tracks and will continue through the week until the job is completed. Rubbish must be placed in containers.

The trucks will haul away such things as: old ice boxes, stoves, and other appliances, and old furniture.

The truck will not take dirt, concrete, building materials or tree branches.

Householders will not be charged for the service as the village has contracted the job to Laseke. (A

Forest View Voting 'Light'

Five men and 2 women will compose Forest View school's new elementary board of education as a result of last Saturday's election.

Balloting was light and a drawing of lots was necessary to decide the seventh member of the board.

Topping the 10 candidates was Mrs. Eunice Hutchings, 1660 S. State, with 70 votes. She was followed by Robert L. Palmer, 211 Council, with 68. William Grismer Jr., Golf rd., received 64 votes, as did Mrs. LaVerne Koenig, Algonquin rd.

EDWARD Smalenberger received membership with 62 votes, and 60 marked their ballots for Edward Lauing, 406 Busse rd.

Tied for the final position on the board were Robert B. Ayres, 1525 S. State, and A. Henry Rossberg, Golf rd. Each received 43 votes, but Rossberg won the drawing and the board membership.

ROUNDING OUT the ten candidates were Mrs. Shirley N. Groschе, 146 N. Golf, and Thomas Baldassri, Golf rd., with 37 votes apiece.

Since the board is new, a drawing will be held at the April 21 meeting to determine three three year terms, two two year terms, and two one year terms. The school was previously under the supervision of a board of directors. (A

Two Re-Elected By Wilson School

Wilson school voters gave a vote of confidence to two board members last Saturday by voting them back for three year terms.

Leo B. Kneer, 1645 N. Evergreen, and G. William Gunnison, 1407 Clarendon, will return. Defeated were Mrs. Nellie Neal, 213 Sunset, and Oden S. Jester, 203 Waverly.

Elected for a one year term was George E. Herbert, 1227 N. Chicago, who won over Elizabeth Fitzpatrick, Waverly rd.

LIGHT VOTING marked the April 12 election, which saw Kneer win the biggest total of ballots in the three year term competition, 100. Gunnison received 83; Neal, 54; and Jester, 39.

Herbert received 109 votes compared to Fitzpatrick's 39 for the one year term. (A

'You Can Count On Her'

by Betty Thackery — CLearbrook 3-1916

South Mt. Prospect

Two scout troops from south Mt. Prospect held their annual father and daughter banquets.

Twenty girls of troop 101, their father and leaders, attended their banquet at the South Church April 9. The girls entertained their guests with a minstrel show using the girl scout laws as a theme.

Eleven brownie scout troops and their fathers dined at St. Paul Lutheran school, with 361 persons attending. Each of the 11 troops took part in the program which included a skit, singing, dancing and a millinery fashion show with hats that were designed and modeled by the girls. The program was concluded with a community sing.

Rolling Meadows

March 25 troop 483 enjoyed a talk on "Life in Russia" by Mrs. Lambert Byrnes of Rolling Meadows. Mrs. Byrnes grew up in Russia and she told the girls about the schools and educational system of her birthplace. Troop leaders are Mrs. Lynn Bozee and Mrs. Howard Miner.

North Palatine

Special Easter tray favors were made for the Plum Grove Nursing home and Catherine Memorial hospital by troop 268, fulfilling a requirement of "My Community" badge on which the girls are working. In conjunction with this badge the scouts have visited several village court sessions and are now planning to attend the next village board meeting.

Northwest Arlington

Troop 24, consisting of 14 eighth grade girl scouts, sponsored a spaghetti dinner Monday night, April 14, at the Presbyterian church for their parents and friends. The girls and their leaders, Mrs. Audrey Yates and Mrs. Leona Olsen, are planning a trip to Greenfield Village in Dearborn, Mich. June 10 and 11 and this dinner was a fund-raising project for the trip. The girls assisted in the planning and preparation of the dinner.

Cookie Sale

The Girl Scout cookie sale starts Friday, April 18. Residents are asked to welcome the scout or brownie who calls. Proceeds from the sale will go to help build up the new camp site in Wisconsin. (B8

If you've always thought all fruit cocktail was alike, then you have a surprise waiting for you when you open a can of Cherry Valley Fruit Cocktail. It's Jewel's own luscious blend of tree-ripened peaches, juicy pears, seedless grapes, red cherries and tangy pineapple.

Because you use fruit cocktail for the appetizing touch it adds to salads, gelatin molds and desserts, only cleanly-cut dices of fruit go into Cherry Valley Fruit Cocktail. This means you never get a lot of little fruit fragments.

And think of this—Jewel buyers check every shipment for good bright flavor and perfectly ripened fruit. Why? Because, for example, if pears are too ripe they "powder" off into tiny pieces and cloud the syrup. And if they are too green, they're hard to the bite. Among professional buyers this sampling process is called "cutting"—it's their way of assuring you of that famous Jewel quality.

Imagine the dozens of glamorous desserts and salads you can make if you win a whole case of Cherry Valley Fruit Cocktail playing Jewel Extra Value Line-Up. Remember, you're always the winner when you rely on Jewel quality!

'Y' Graduates 56 Swimmers In 'Learn to Swim' Classes

Taking advantage of the Easter holidays to get a jump on summer, 56 children from the Northwest Suburban area learned to swim 20 feet or more in a class conducted by the local 'Y.' A chartered bus transported the swimmers to the new Park Ridge YMCA pool for four consecutive lessons. Under the Tutelage of staff personnel of Northwest Suburban YMCA, 65 per cent of the students enrolled were able to navigate the 20 feet distance required to earn a diploma. Northwest Suburban YMCA was proud to be able to service these children, most of whom were receiving their first contact with YMCA instruction.

Arlington Housewife Shares Tempting Spring Luncheon

by LOIS SEILER

A tempting spring luncheon menu featuring a chicken casserole and an avocado-grapefruit salad has been shared with us by Mrs. Elmer E. Zilen of Arlington Heights.

The savory casserole could actually be termed a baked salad. In addition to the chicken (turkey may be substituted), it contains such flavorful ingredients as celery, almonds, green pepper, pimento, onion and lemon juice.

THIS MIXTURE IS combined with cooked rice and mayonnaise, placed in a casserole and covered with grated swiss cheese and crumbled potato chips.

The casserole may be prepared a day in advance and popped into the oven 20 minutes before serving.

Mrs. Zilen usually accompanies this delicious chicken dish with a salad and hot rolls.

One of her favorite salads is of lime gelatin molded with avocado and grapefruit sections.

SIMPLE TO prepare, this refreshing salad is an excellent flavor complement for the tasty chicken.

The Zilens live at 438 Banbury in Arlington Heights. They have two children, John, 11, and Elizabeth, five.

Mrs. Zilen is a member of the Arlington Heights Woman's club, the PTA, and a circle of the Presbyterian church.

Chicken Casserole

2 cups chicken or turkey
2 cups celery, chopped fine
½ cup slivered, blanched almonds
1/3 cup green pepper, chopped fine
2 tablesoons choped pimento
2 tablespoons chopped onion
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¾ cup Miracle Whip Salad Dressing
1 cup cooked rice

Mix all ingredients together and place in a greased casserole.

Cover with grated swiss cheese and sprinkle crumbled potato chips on top.

Bake 20 minutes in 350 degree oven. Serves 6 to 8.

Avocado Grapefruit Salad

1 package lime jello
1¾ cups boiling water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 scant cup sliced avocado
1 scant cup grapefruit sections
1/8 teaspoon salt

Pour boiling water over jello. Sitr until dissolved. Add salt and lemon juice.

When gelatin begins to thicken, fold in grapefruit sections and avocado cut in pieces the size of grapefruit sections.

Pour into individual molds. Serves 6 to 8. (SH

Onion Soup 'Peps Up' Western-Style Beans

SERVE A TASTY Western beef and bean casserole in individual bean pots for a hearty and filling meal. The recipe calls for canned pork and beans, a package of onion soup mix, and ground beef.

When you take "pot luck" with a bean pot everyone is in for a treat. Baked beans are perennially popular from the rocky shores of New England to the wide plains of the west. In the western version, ground beef is appropriately found among the ingredients.

As a main dish, this baked bean casserole proves hearty and filling. It also has the advantage of being easy to make since it calls for ingredients that are staples in any well-stocked larder—canned pork and beans, a package of onion soup mix, mustard, catsup and vinegar.

THE SAVORY beef-flavored stock and golden-toasted onions of the soup mix give the beans a wonderful flavor while saving you the troublesome chore of peeling and slicing onions.

Serve these baked beans in individual bean pots at your next party. The recipe calls for only twenty to thirty minutes cooking time so it is a real boon to the busy hostess.

Western Beef And Bean Casserole

2 tablespoons butter or fat
1 pound ground chuck
1 package onion soup mix
½ cup water
1 cup catsup
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 teaspoons cider vinegar
2 1-pound 12 ounce cans pork and beans
Bacon slices.

In skillet, heat butter or fat and brown ground beef. Stir in remaining ingredients. Pour into individual casserole or 2-quart casserole. Garnish with bacon slices. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 20 to 30 minutes until heated through. Crisp bacon slices under broiler. Makes 8-10 servings. (SH

Accidents Injure Five

Two accidents at Mt. Prospect rd. crossings injured five persons during the past week.

Only one other accident in which bodily injury resulted occurred in the unincorporated areas of northwest Cook county. In that mishap, 2 persons were injured, bringing the week's total to seven injured.

MOST SPECTACULAR crash occurred Sunday at Algonquin and Mt. Prospect rds. in which three persons were hospitalized and four autos involved.

Rushed to Resurrection hospital following the mishap were Marie R. Hoover, 57, 1577 Henry st., Des Plaines; Harold F. Meier, 54, 1822 S. 19th ave., Maywood, and Martha Meier, 52, of the Maywood address.

According to state police, a car driven by Meier, eastbound on Algonquin, failed to stop at the stop sign and crashed into a northbound car driven by Wayne G. Busse, 27, 1717 Verde, Mt. Prospect. Meier's car careened off the Busse car and struck a westbound car driven by Henry C. Hoover, 61, 1577 Henry st., Des Plaines. Hoover's car then bounced back into one driven by Edward G. Kasman, 30, 1223 S. 19th ave., Maywood.

Damage to Busse's car was estimated at $250, damage to Meier's car at $400, to Hoover's auto at $350 and to Kasman's car at $100.

TWO DRIVERS were rushed to Resurrection hospital Friday when their cars collided at Touhy ave. and Mt. Prospect rd. Injured were George C. Watson, 35, 209 E. North ave., Elmhurst, and Leon Nyman, 25, 49 Austin st., Carpentersville.

Nyman's car, according to state police, after stopping, headed south across the intersection and was hit by Watson's car. Nyman was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Police estimated damage to Watson's car at $350 and to Nyman's auto at $400.

Two motorists were slightly injured and were to have seen their own physicians following a head-on collision on Elmhurst rd. at Camp McDonald rd. in Prospect Heights Monday, April 7.

INJURED WERE Richard J. Nickelsen, 17, 11 E. Stonegate drive, Prospect Heights, and Olga Bowler, 34, 208 N. Parkway, Prospect Heights.

Police reported the vehicles hit head-on when Bowler attempted to make a left turn off Elmhurst rd. onto Camp McDonald. Bowler was issued a ticket for failure to yield the right of way.

Damage to Nickelsen's car was placed at $800 and the Bowler auto at $720. (B8

Cafeteria Director Elected President of Association

Mary Handlin, cafeteria director at Arlington high school, will be installed as president of the Illinois School Food Service association this Friday at the organization's annual meeting in Decatur.

Miss Handlin, director at Arlington for 10 years, was elected to office this spring and will serve a one year term.

Prospect Heights' school lunch director, Mrs. Lillian Young, Palatine, will be installed as director of the association's Cook county region.

DORIS EVANS, director of Arlington Heights Public school cafeteria, is also planning to attend the two day meeting.

Saturday's schedule includes a general session, exhibits, and discussion meetings. Slated to lead a discussion group on "Administrative Problems" is Peter Bakas, 1213 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights, business manager for District 25 schools. (ACM

Tollway Awards Contracts Traffic Signs, Lighting

Contract proposals for fabrication and erection of traffic signs for the Illinois Tollway and for the furnishing of a complete lighting system at interchanges, toll plazas, and service areas were received Monday by the Illinois State Toll Highway commission.

The Federal Sign and Signal corp. of Chicago, with a bid of $733,326.06 was apparently low on the traffic sign contract.

CHARLES L. Dearing, executive director of the commission, said that four bids ranging to $924,747.82 were received on this contract.

"The signing contract calls for the furnishing of all labor, materials, services, tools, equipment and transportation required for complete fabrication and erection of traffic signs on the tollway," Dearing said.

George L. Jackson, chief engineer of the commission, said that 44 bids were received on the 11 contracts that together make up the complete lighting system.

"Apparent low bidders were not announced on these contracts because the commission has not as yet made a final decision whether concrete, steel, or aluminum light standards will be used," Jackson said.

THE KOHLER Company of Kohler, Wis., with a bid of $123,002.21, was announced as the apparent low bidder on a contract calling for the furnishing of 25 gasoline-engine electric generators which will be used to maintain continuity of the communications and toll collection systems in the event of a power failure.

Jackson said that all bids received will be checked and tabulated by the engineering department.

With the openings Monday bids remain to be received on only one major contract, that for erecting the eight maintenance buildings planned for the tollway. Bids on this contract will be opened on May 1.

The Northwest Tollway and the Lake county portion of the Tri-State Tollway will be opened to traffic on July 31. The remainder of the 187-mile tollway will be opened by December 31 of this year. (B12

Petite Japanese-American Coaches 'Teahouse' Star

by BETTY BROOKS

She lives amid five acres of peonies and lilacs, she studied Japanese classical dancing under an old master of the art in Tokyo, she taught our service men the Japanese language during World War II, and now she has graciously consented to teach Jane Miller a geisha dance for her role as Lotus Blossom in "Teahouse of the August Moon."

Petite and pretty, Yoshiko Uragami, who lives with her husband, Thomas, and 5-year-old boy, John, on Oakton in Des Plaines, is a Japanese-American who has made the most of her ancestry and heritage and her nationality. A thoroughly modest person, she is willing only to talk about herself and her ancestors' land and customs in the hope of promoting increasingly better understanding between the two races.

POSSESSING AN enviable collection of dolls, including a newly acquired group of 23 miniatures, she has spoken about them before five local groups, donning her kimono during the talk, in the hope of showing children here that Japanese children are very similar to them and enjoy the same sort of playthings.

It was at one of these programs before a girl scout troop that she came to the attention of a Village Theatre member who asked her assistance for the next production. Since then she has given Jane invaluable help and dancing pointers and, in turn, is amazed at her student's ability and quick grasp of the art. As a result, those attending the show will be seeing a very authentic imitiation of a geisha girl.

Born in Los Angeles, Yoshiko visited her grandparents in Tokyo for two years when she was 10 years old, where she learned the customs of her ancestors, the language and dancing. When she returned to this country she continued her language study with a private tutor until she was really proficient. In addition, she was preparing to be a professional singer and appeared in leading soprano roles on the west coast before the war.

WHEN WORLD WAR II broke out, she and her parents were sent to camps in this country for the duration. However, due to her background, she was accepted as an instructor for the naval intelligence school in Boulder, Colo. She also taught enlisted men at the University of Minnesota and officers again at Northwestern university. Now, in addition to her talks, she often serves as an interpreter for Japanese business men who come to this country.

She and her husband, an engineer, are members of the First Methodist church of Des Plaines. She will be seen next Tuesday, April 22, at St. John United Church of Christ in Arlington Heights in one of her talks.

Jane Miller, of course, will be seen on the stage of the Prospect High theatre on May 1, 2 and 3, when "Teahouse of the August Moon" will be presented by Village Theatre Inc. under the direction of Mary Tindall. (ACM

Ridge-Park Set For Benefit Dance

Ridge-Park Community association is buzzing with activity this week as plans are being completed for a dance, a bowling banquet, softball and volleyball teams for teenagers and the erection of signs to designate the area.

Social Chairmen Helen Krilcic and Lil Lurtz reminded the residents that the dance will be Saturday at the VFW hall to the music of Paul Witt and his orchestra. Proceeds to be turned over to Jo Thill, Welfare Chairman, for use by her committee within the Ridge-Park area.

MONDAY AND Wednesday night leagues will combine to hold their bowling banquet at Old Orchard country club on May 24. Prizes and trophies will be awarded to winning teams and individual bowlers.

Ed Oja, youth activities chairman, issued a last call for teenagers to send in their cards to register for the softball and volleyball teams which are being organized.

Volunteers are needed to help erect signs which will be ready next week. Free-hanging signs of wood painted black with white letters spelling Ridge-Park will be hung on 15 corners along the Northwest hwy. and Oakton st. Anyone willing to help with one or more of the signs may call CLearbrook 3-1011. (A

New Administrators Named by Schools

Creation of four new administrative positions was announced this week by Arlington Heights grade school superintendent R. E. Clabaugh. With the beginning of the 1958-59 school year District 25 will have an assistant principal at Miner junior high, a dean of students at South junior high, a curriculum consultant, and an audio-visual consultant.

Need for the new jobs resulted from the growing enrollments in the Arlington schools in the last 10 years, according to Clabaugh.

Named as assistant principal at Miner was Chester F. Raasch, 941 N. Mitchell. Raasch, who holds a BA from Carleton college and an MA from Colorado State College of Education, has taught language arts-social science at Miner for the last year and a half.

FATHER OF two Arlington high school girls, Raasch began teaching in 1934 at Tracy, Minn. In 1942 he moved to Redwood Falls in the same state, before leaving the education field for 10 years. He came to Arlington Heights last year as a sixth grade teacher. His wife, Ruth, is a music teacher at South Junior High.

Frank Santelli, 409 N. Yale, is the new dean of students. Santelli is a graduate of St. Mary's college, Wenona, Minn., and will complete his graduate work at Loyola university this June.

A father of four children, the 33 year old dean began teaching in Olivia, Minn., where he also coached football and baseball. He is now in his fourth year in the Arlington system. The Westgate homeowner is a commissioned Air Force Reserve officer.

ASSUMING THE position of curriculum consultant will be William J. Fitsche. At present a seventh grade language arts-social studies teacher at Miner junior high, Fritsche came to Arlington Heights five years ago.

He has served as chairman of the sixth and seventh grade language arts-social studies departments as well as being a member of numerous faculty committees, including the district's Gifted Child committee.

Prior to coming to Arlington, Fritsche taught English and social studies in Viroqua, Wis. He received his BS degree from Wisconsin State college, Milwaukee, now the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, and his MA from Colorado State college, Greeley. Recently married, Fritsche resides at 661 W. Chicago, Arlington Heights.

ROBERT D. BRIGHT has been named audio-visual consultant for the district. Bright is a graduate of Illinois State Normal university and will receive his master's degree from the University of Illinois this spring.

In his second year in the Arlington system, the new consultant taught three years in central Illinois. Bright's past experience with audio-visual materials comes from heading a McLean county committee on selecting testing instruments and serving as chairman of the audio-visual testing committee in his previous employment.

Parents of one son, Bright and his wife, who teaches business education at Arlington high school, reside at 800 Salem ln., Carpentersville. (A

Wedgewood Terrace

The activity in Wedgewood last Sunday comprised members of the association laying the final 450 feet of underground cable for the entrance light. This was a full day's hard work for the men and is much appreciated by all residents.

The next step will be instalation of the lamps on the pillars, astronomical time clocks attached to the poles and hooking up of electricity. No definite date can be given for this completion, but it is hoped to be in the near future.

Profits from the association Easter ham distribution amounted to $112.74.

MEMBERS OF the Triangle club met at the home of Anita Sailer April 8. During the business portion of the gathering it was decided that the Wedgewood potluck supper be held at St. John Episcopal church May 3, at approximately 7:30 p.m. This super is for residents only and the girls have built the menu around baked ham, scalloped potatoes, jello moulds and desserts.

The resale date has been set for April 19, in the morning, at the home of Grace Sylvester.

Chairman of the rummage sale asks that residents save brown paper bags for this project and bring them along Thursday evening, April 24, together with their rummage to the Sinclair station in Prospect Heights. If there is anything too large to be taken to the sale, it is requested contact be made with Louis Sylvester. He will pick up the items by truck that Thursday evening.

Tuesday evening the park committee met to discuss purchase of a lawn mower for the community parks. At the time this column was compiled, no decisions were reported. (AM

Jail Sentence For Driver, 18

Police Magistrate William F. Neumann found an 18-year-old Arlington Heights youth guilty of reckless driving Wednesday and sentenced him to 10 days in the county jail.

Judge Neumann said he hoped the unusually stiff sentence "would help" the youth, who has a lengthy traffic record.

ASSISTANT State's Attorney Eldred Benz recommended reducing a drunk driving charge to reckless driving and also recommended the jail sentence for James Bell, 1515 W. St. James, Arlington Heights. He was also assessed a total of $39 in fines and fees on the reckless driving and two minor charges. A speeding charge is pending.

Jacob Gjoen, 830 S. Arthur, Arlington Heights, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol Wednesday and was fined $100 and costs. His driver's license will be automatically revoked for a year. (A

Variety Night on Schedule At Our Saviour Lutheran

The Couples Club of Our Saviour United Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights, will meet in Dryden school, Dryden and Rockwell sts., Saturday evening, April 19, at 8 o'clock. Lou Behrle and his program committee have drawn upon club member talent to present the second annual "Variety Night" show. Other committee members are Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Neas, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Almquist, Mrs. Louis Behrle and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Snodgrass. Robert McReynolds and Richard Mathisen will act as masters of ceremonies. Refreshments will be served following the program.

The Men's club will take charge of the annual spring clothing collection program for Lutheran World Relief. The need for clothing continues in many areas throughout the world, particularly among the homeless refugees.

Any type of clothing is acceptable providing it is clean and in good repair. Contributors are asked not to bring hats, neckties, open-toe, backless, high-heel and narrow-width ladies shoes or bulky bedding, such as pillows and comforters.

Clothing and other articles will be collected during the two Sundays, April 20 and 27, at Dryden school. It is suggested that men, women and children's clothing be separated and placed in the large boxes which will be provided for each.

Officers and members of the Sunday school staff will meet Monday, April 21, 8 p.m., at the home of Edgar Neas, 201 N. Brighton, Arlington Heights.

Storage Building Issue Unsettled

A metal storage building erected last year on the South junior high school grounds continues to be a source of friction between the Arlington Heights village board and the district 25 school board.

Trustee Robert H. Bukowski reported at a board meeting Tuesday that a meeting between representatives of the two public bodies had not resolved the question, which first came up months ago. He said the school offered to paint and landscape the building but the school representatives refused to remove the building.

"The school's counsel felt the school board is not responsible to the village of Arlington Heights on any building question," said Bukowski. There have been no court cases involving the power of a municipality to regulate school construction and the school district is basing its stand on an opinion of the Illinois Attorney General, according to Stephen Jurco, village attorney.

THE COST of a metal storage shed is about one-fifth that of a more permanent building, the school men told the trustee.

No building permit was obtained for the structure and such buildings are not permissible under village building codes.

Only a court trial can resolve the dispute, Bukowski said. But a committee will examine the matter further before a decision on whether to go to court is made. (A

PREDICT NORTHWEST 'BOOM'

"TYPICAL" SUNDAY CHAOS at new subdivision model homes is satirized by Art Henrikson, staff artist.

Spectacular Growth Is Forecast for Suburbs

The exodus to suburbia is unending — and it will result in a "solid city" in northwest Cook county from Park Ridge to Barrington.

So predicts Neal T. Dean, president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors.

His estimate of growth for the next 10 years includes a population of 500,000 and continued expansion of light industry and commercial development.

He also foresees an "upgrading" in the quality of homes being built.

"Northwest suburbs are an ideal location for homes and business," declared Dean. "Potential for growth is almost unlimited."

FACTORS RESPONSIBLE for this growth potential:

—northwest Cook county has an enviable record for building good, substantial homes;

—this is one of the best transportation areas in Cook county, with the railway, toll roads, expressways, and O'Hare International Airport attracting home seekers as well as desirable manufacturing; —northwest suburbs have kept pace with growth by expanding school, park, church, and shopping facilities;

—there is adequate vacant land suitable for development as residential and business; and —rigid building standards protect the character of the communities.

NEAL T. DEAN

ESTIMATING POPULATION in northwest Cook county today at 225,000, Dean said that 65 per cent of these suburbanites moved to the "country" since 1946.

"They moved here primarily because of good transportation, an increase in light industry in the general area, and a general increase in the standard of living," he explained. "Another important factor is the exodus from Chicago; families have outgrown apartments, and they want a freer, safer life."

Dean said the average price for a home in northwest suburbs is now $22,000. Most have 3-bedrooms with approximately 60 per cent of them equipped with basements.

The average newcomer is a white collar worker with an income of $8,500 a year. He is 35 or 36 years old, married, with two children, and has a wife who is 32 years old.

REAL ESTATE outlook for 1958 is better than last year with the demand for both new and used homes very good. Prices, however, are extremely competitive, said Dean. In 1957, northwest area realtors sold 1,150 homes with an additional 3,000 sold by builders or developers.

"There won't be any slump in building or realty activity," he advised, "because the money market is more than adequate mortgage commitments are greater and interest rates are lower than they were six months ago."

Churches, Schools Keep Up with Area

Announcement of plans for a new subdivision is usually the signal to church and school officials as well as merchants to start planning additional facilities to meet the new influx of residents.

With new houses going up every day in the northwest suburban area, there has been much activity among these services to add on to present facilities or construct new churches, schools and stores in an effort to keep up with population increases.

MORE THAN a half-dozen churches in the area are planning new buildings, several are under construction and several others are planning additions. Others are thinking about fund-raising campaigns to finance new contuctioLa- -year-olds."T struction.

Our Savior's Lutheran church (ULCA) in Arlington Heights broke ground in February on a $200,000 building at State rd. and Olive st. The building will house worship as well as educational facilities.

The 98-year-old St. Peter Lutheran church in Arlington Heights hopes to celebrate its centennial in new quarters on N. Oakton st.

OUR LADY OF THE Wayside moved into its new $300,000 church last year and is currently building an $80,000 addition to its 2-year-old convent.

The First Methodist church has launched a $250,000 fund drive for a new building on Euclid ave.

The newest shopping center — the Arlington Market — in this area had its grand opening April 10. There are 17 stores in the first unit.

THERE ARE two Rand rd. projects, one a 20-acre development to include shops, motel and a kiddieland and the other on the corner of Rand and Palatine rds. may get under way this summer.

Rezoning is reported near for a sizable tract within the village of Arlington Heights for a supermarket. It is located on Wilke rd. just south of Westgate.

In Palatine the First Methodist church is now in the final stages of construction on a new building at N. Plum Grove and Wilson while the St. Philip Episcopal congregation recently moved into its new church at Wood and Schubert sts.

BETHEL LUTHERAN church, serving area south of Palatine, recently completed a new 250-seat church.

Building of a new Palatine shopping center is expected to get underway soon on a 13-acre tract on Northwest highway. A 10-acre tract just north of Palatine was recently approved for a business center. It is located at Dundee and Hicks rds.

Over in Hoffman Estates services are being held in the new community's first church, the Prince of Peace Lutheran. There's a shopping center proposed but work has not begun.

Momentary announcement is expected on a shopping center for store-less Elk Grove Village. It is expected to be a fairly small development at the corner of State and Higgins rds. Plans call for eventual construction of a larger center to the south.

CHURCH-WISE, there are several organized in the new village but a building program may be some months away. Long established St. John Lutheran church in Elk Grove township plans to erect a $65,000 multi-purpose room and classrooms for which a fund drive is now being concluded.

With two shopping centers opened within the last year, there are no immediate plans, announced to date, for additional facilities in Wheeling.

With few exceptions most communities have plans for new schools or additions in various stages of completion. Those in the vicinity of the larger housing developments, face the more immediate problem of providing additional classrooms.

IN THE Prospect Heights and Wheeling areas, completion is expected this fall of a new church and school for the St. Alphonsus Catholic parish at Wheeling and Willow rds.

Our Saviour Lutheran (Missouri Synod) hopes to start construction on a new church within a few months to serve the Prospect Heights-Wheeling area.

Construction will begin April 15 on a new $400,000 church for the St. Joseph The Worker congregation in Wheeling. It will also include an 8-classroom school.

Community Presbyterian church also hopes to go ahead with a building program soon.

Predict 'Buyers' Market' This Spring in Suburbs

It looks like prospective home owners in the Northwest suburban area will enjoy a "buyers' market" this spring.

The market is picking-up from its slump during the last half of 1957 and now is a good time to buy, according to Albert Collins, Skokie builder, who is president of the Northwest Builders' Association, representing some 95 builders in this area. He adds that buyers will now get more house for the same dollar than last spring and summer.

FROM A FINANCIAL standpoint, Albert L. Gundelach, loan representative in this area for the Percy Wilson Mortgage co., looks for the availability of GI home financing money because of the expected increase in the interest rate from 4½ to 4¾ per cent. Conventional and FHA mortgage money also is available at lesser interest rates than a few months ago.

The proposed federal housing measure is expected to give business a lift, but local builders and lenders don't anticipate that it will solve all the problems. The anti-recession bill is designed to create new jobs and add some 200-thousand houses to this year's total as well as ease the FHA and VA loan terms.

Meanwhile, home building in this area during February was down slightly from a year ago, according to a Bell Savings and Loan association survey.

THERE IS, HOWEVER, increased activity in subdivisions throughout the area.

The first group of homes in the Hasbrook subdivision, Arlington Heights' largest postwar housing development, have been completed. Completion of another 30 homes is scheduled for later this month or early next.

The $10-million development features 3-bedroom homes in the $18,000 to $19,500 class.

THERE IS A major housing project underway in almost every northwest community. And with them comes more "growing pains" for village governments in providing adequate schools, fire and police protection, water and sewers for the rapidly-increasing population.

In Elg Grove township, Builder Salvatore DiMucci is getting underway on a $22 million, 190-acre housing development. The 500-home project plus 120 four to six-room apartments will increase the township's population by close to 3,000.

The development may also create a school problem, a big worry to most communities where subdivisions have been built. DiMucci and school officials are attempting to work out a solution for additional school facilities, according to last reports.

IN THE VILLAGE of Elk Grove, work is progressing on the multi-million dollar Centex development on Higgins rd. An average of about 20 families are moving in weekly and the company plans to build some 6,000 homes during the next couple of years.

There is a number of other subdivisions in various stages of completion throughout the area, including Winston Park and Waycinden Park among others.

Interest Money -- Down the Drain?

Take a look at your mortgage payment receipt and notice that probably more than half of your monthly payment on a relatively new mortgage goes for interest while the principal is reduced by only a few dollars.

That's how a long-term debt works as you must pay for the privilege of borrowing thousands of dollars to buy a house.

BUT, ALL THE interest money doesn't go down the train.

The partial pay-off comes at income tax time, and just in case you haven't tackled yours yet, the deadline for filing was Tuesday, April 15.

You may include all the mortgage interest on your return as well as real estate and personal property taxes.

For example, the annual interest on an 11-thousand odd dollar mortgage will total about $500.

IN ADDITION, you may deduct losses from fire, theft or storm, not covered by insurance.

Uncle Sam also wants his cut if you made a profit on the sale of your home. But, he does not allow you to claim any loss on the sale.

YOUR GAIN tax-wise is the difference between the sales price and your original cost plus the cost of permanent improvements. The Internal Revenue instructions add:

"If you sold or exchanged your principal residence during 1957 at a gain and within one year after (or before) the sale you purchase another residence, and use it as your principal residence, none of the gain is taxable if the cost of the new residence equals or exceeds the adjusted sales price of the old residence."

There are other factors involved so if you sold you home last year, be sure and read the regulations.

Basket Hose

You won't have to wrestle with your garden hose each time you put it away if you follow this hint from Popular Mechanics. Store the hose in a wide-mouthed bushel basket. It will permit the hose to be coiled neatly without kinks or bends.

Brush Haircut

Here's an easy way to remove the frayed and worn outside bristles of a paintbrush, according to Popular Mechanics. Using a hacksaw blade as a guide, insert it between the good bristles and the unruly ones. Then trim the frayed bristles with a scissors, without any danger of cutting good bristles.

Centex Reveals 4-Bedroom Home Plans for Elk Grove

Centex Construction Co., largest homebuilding firm in the nation, last week revealed plans for four new model homes to be opened May 3 in Elk Grove Village.

Tom Lively of Dallas, Tex., president of Centex, said Elk Grove Village this year would again account for the heaviest portion of his company's building volume, with 1,000 of the new units scheduled for erection during the next 12 months.

Since this time a year ago when homes were first offered to the public, Centex has made 634 starts in the village, all of which have been sold. About 400 families have already moved in. The project ranked as 1957's largest home development.

FEATURED AMONG the 1958 models will be a four-bedroom house called the Correlaire, designed by A. J. Del Bianco and Associates. Containing two full baths and 1,908 square feet under roof, including garage, storage area and porch, the Correlaire marks Centex' first venture into a four-bedroom home in this area. The three other lower-priced models have three bedrooms, as did all of last year's models.

The price range is being extended this year in both directions and will run from $17,000 to $21,500, Lively announced. This compares with a spread of $18,450 to $19,950 for the previous models.

THE $17,000 BEVERLY is designed to bring a quality home within reach of more families in the $7,000 to $8,000 salary bracket. Lively said. It contains fewer built-in appliances than the other homes, but otherwise offers the same basic living advantages in slightly less floor space.

"Through a broader selection of homes suited to families of various size and income, we hope to achieve more nearly our objective of a balanced community in Elk Grove Village," Lively stated.

Multi-Bedrooms Get New Emphasis

With the nation's birth rate at an all-time high, home builders are putting greater emphasis on features to accommodate the younger set.

Most of today's new homes contain three or more bedrooms and builders are making a special point of decorating one of the bedrooms as a nursery, reports the National Lumber Manufacturers association.

WOOD PANELING has become a favorite material for nursery walls, according to the association, because of the charm and warmth it adds to this important room.

Wood's ability to resist scuffs and other abuse is another factor. And busy mothers find it easy to wipe fingerprints and crayon markings from a wood paneled wall, whether the wood is painted or given a natural finish, the lumbermen point out.

These and scores of other hints on how home buyers can get greater value and more carefree living for their housing dollars are passed along in a new 32-page booklet, "Better Homes are Built of Wood."

THE PUBLICATION, single copies of which are being offered free by the National Lumber Manufacturers association, Washington 6, D. C., includes more than 50 photographs and drawings showing how wood can be used to improve the appearance, increase the livability and raise the value of homes old and new.

Set off by an attractive four-color cover, the booklet discusses the practical and esthetic advantages of wood-frame construction, wood siding, wood windows, wood flooring and other lumber items.

In a foreword to the publication, Frank Lloyd Wright, dean of American architects, writes:

"Wood is a friend of mine! The best friend on earth of a man is the tree. When we use the tree respectfully and economically, we have one of the great resources of the earth.

"Use wood as a beautiful material friendly to man — the supreme material for his dwelling purposes. If a man is going to live, he should live with wood.

Old Brooms

An old broom that has frayed and spreading bristles can be renovated by following this hint from Popular Mechanics. Soak the bristles in water for a few minutes and then snap a couple of heavy rubber bands around them below the stitching. After the bristles are dry, remove the rubber bands and the broom will be almost as good as new.

Pieces of discarded rugs or carpeting make ideal "mulch" for young trees. Cut a hole in the center of the rug and then make one slit from the hole to the rug's edge. Fit the rug around the tree trunk and use rocks to hold it in place.

Schools Building 125 Classrooms

School authorities are struggling to provide more classrooms to stem rising enrollments as more families flood to the northwest suburbs.

Currently, upwards of 125 new classrooms are either under construction or on the drawing boards for nine districts in the area. Two parochial schools are planned.

A NUMBER OF NEW classrooms opened at the beginning of the present school year. Largest school to open was Prospect high, Foundry rd. Built at a cost of $3.5 million, the school offers some 70 classrooms which will eventually accommodate some 2,500 students in Arlington high school district 214.

At the end of last year, Palatine high school district approved a new school for 40 acres at Quintens rd. and Illinois ave. The school is needed to help absorb a projected student population of 1,500.

Nearing completion is an addition to the Palatine Township high school, of seven classrooms and expanded locker rooms and cafeteria facilities.

THE INITIAL WING of a grade school for Winston Park, some 16 classrooms, is under construction on a 12 acre plot on Chicago ave., just east of Rohlwing rd. Completion is scheduled for next fall.

Some $328,068, estimated cost of the school, will come out of a $775,000 bond issue passed early this year in Palatine grade school district 15.

The remainder of the bond issue was used to finance construction of a 14-classroom addition to the Salk school in Rolling Meadows. Near completion, the classrooms were planned for use as a junior high, but will be used instead for kindergarten through grade five due to lack of classroom space in the city.

PALATINE district 15 voters approved by an overwhelming majority March 17 a plan allowing the district to borrow some $300,000 from the state for 12 new classrooms, interest fee.

F and S Construction Co., builder of Hoffman Estates, recently dedicated an 8-room grade school to the Schaumburg district. Construction is scheduled to start in May. This is the fourth school the construction firm has donated to the district.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS school district 25 is providing 11 more classrooms for kindergarten through grade five pupils. About half finished are a 4-classroom and multi-purpose room addition to Ridge school and a 7-classroom school at Windsor ave. and Miner st., adjoining Miner junior high.

The new classrooms, to be ready next fall, will accommodate some 300 pupils and help relieve double sessions.

ELK GROVE district 59 school board is considering plans for a junior high. Some 15 to 17 classrooms are needed to accommodate between 400 and 650 students. The board is trying to sell the 20-classroom Higgins school at Higgins rd. and Touhy ave., which is now used for kindergarten through eighth grade.

Last month the Elk Grove board approved plans for a 12-classroom addition to the Ira R. Rupley school, Oakton rd. Estimated cost of the addition is $175,000.

Builder E. A. Herzog has promised district 59 an 8-room grade school, which will accommodate some 240 pupils. The school will be in Herzog's Waycinden Park subdivision, between Algonquin rd. and Dempster st.

WITH THE RECENT addition of a gymnasium, Mt. Prospect district 57's Lincoln school will open next September as a junior high for the south side of the village. The school will continue to accommodate lower grades until such time as it may all be used for junior high.

A sixth grade school for Mt. Prospect, is under construction at WaPella and Lonnquist. It will provide 15 classrooms for kindergarten through sixth grade. Some $375,000 in bonds have been issued to cover the cost.

A third grade school for Wheeling consolidated school district 21 is scheduled for June 1 completion. The $184,000 structure will provide 12 classrooms, a multipurpose room, and two counseling rooms on a 15-acre site.

TWO NEW parochial schools opened recently. The educational unit of St. Mark Lutheran church, Mt. Prospect, provides some 25 classrooms. Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran church of Palatine opened its ultra-modern 7-room parish school in February.

Under construction is an 8-classroom school for St. Alphonsus Catholic parish, Prospect Heights.

Ground breaking ceremonies for Wheeling's first Catholic church and school were held Tuesday. Estimated cost of the project is $500,000. Part of a 24-acre site at 181 E. Dundee will be used for an 8-classroom parish school. The parish serves some 600 families.

Central Air Conditioning Becoming More Popular

Central air conditioning of northwest suburban homes is the coming thing.

If you have a warm air heating system in your home, you you also have the distribution system for air conditioning which is half the job, according to Robert A. Kraft of Circle-Aire, Palatine heating and air conditioning contractors.

"WITHIN A FEW years central air conditioning will be as common in the suburban home as a television set," Kraft said.

He urged home owners interested in air conditioning to pick out 3 reliable contractors for competitive bids on installing a central system. He cautioned about buying strictly on price alone and suggested that the prospective purchaser consider only name brands.

Because of hard water in this area, the Palatine Lennox dealer recommends air cooled equipment rather than water cooled. He said the initial cost is higher but the owner will save money in the long run.

INCREASED property value, improved family health, elimination of mildew and musty odors are among the advantages of home air conditioning units.

Kraft said installation of a central unit is considered a permanent improvement under FHA regulations and most institutions will loan money for the purchase.

THE NEED for air conditioning was first recognized by stores and later many business firms in this area.

Stores found it a necessity to keep summer sales up while many offices and plants are air conditioned to maintain a high production level during the summer months. (RE

Brickman Opens Radcliffe Homes

First models in the Radcliffe subdivision, a major 62-acre development in northwest Des Plaines, were opened to the public Saturday, April 12, with the presentation of five homes of two different designs by Joseph M. Brickman, president of Brickman Home Builders.

The five models, located on Rand Road one-half mile southeast of the intersection of Rand, Mt. Prospect and Central Roads, are the first of 221 homes to be built on the site. An additional 25 homes are in varying stages of construction. Final completion date is scheduled for November of this year.

OF THE 221 HOMES to be built, 180 will be the $19,400 model and the other 41 will be the $22,700 model.

Designed by A. J. Del Bianco, both models have three bedrooms and are on fully improved lots. The minimum lot size is 55 feet by 130 feet.

Both models include metal cabinets with birch doors, hardwood floors, wall tile in the bathroom, full basement forced air heat, face brick, fully decorated preselected colors, formica top kitchen sink, full weather stripping, black top driveway and a copper tone range hood with exhaust fan.

Hill Unveils New California Models

The dream of today's young, discriminating home seeker—a home designed up to the style standards of housing magazines, at a price they can afford, built in an area without the "development look"—has finally been achieved in the Chicagoland area by Kimball Hill and Associates.

The new California Contemporary ranch homes now being offered in Rolling Meadows by the firm completely answers the challenge presented by today's home purchasers.

THE 6-ROOM, 3-bedroom ranch homes are designed for flexible site orientation, providing 16 different styles from which the home buyer may choose. The basic home, orientated in four differnt ways, with setbacks, carporches and curved streets, has entirely eliminated the "development look" which has always been present except for "custom built and custom priced" homes.

Featured in the California Contemporary homes is a "carporch" which provides a breezy outdoor porch in the warm weather and a protective shelter for the family automobile in the cold winter months.

Other "plus" details of the homes include automatic gas heat, parquet natural oak floors, fully tiled bath with colored fixtures, automatic washer and dryer and floor-to-ceiling picture windows.

THERE IS A vaulted ceiling in the 30-foot long living-dining area, giving the appearance of even greater space. The full-dining room is a feature seldom found in moderate cost homes.

The kitchen has birch cabinets and formica counter-tops. The open kitchen planning permits the installation of built-ins at the home owner's request.

The homes, decorated inside and out in the home owner's choice of colors, are built on large lots on a minimum 60-foot frontage. Streets are paved and curved, curbs and sidewalks are included, and both sanitary and storm sewers are provided. Water is provided by a modern system owned by the City of Rolling Meadows.

PRICES FOR THE new 100-series California Contemporary homes, styled for 1958, start at only $16,500—one of the lowest home prices in the north suburban area.

The "new look" in Rolling Meadows is outstanding. The forward-looking new city can now boast of homes with a forward look.

The "new look" will continue in the city. Kimball Hill and Associates, not content with their outstanding California Contemporary styling, are in the process of establishing a "field laboratory" where 20 new experimental models of homes will be built. Four new styles of basement homes and one bi-level are now under construction, with additional models still on the drawing boards. The first experimental models will be open to the public for comment and suggestions in May. The "laboratory in housing" will provide an even greater scope of "new look" for the northwest areas "new look" city.

Household Hints

To sharpen a dull sewing-machine needle without removing it from the machine, Popular Mechanics suggests that you "sew" a sheet of emery cloth. The needle will sharpen itself on the cloth.

To prevent stains when water is spilled on a rug, immediately blot up all the water possible with white terry cloth, white absorbent tissues, or white paper towels. When as much water as possible has been soaked up, place fresh towels or tissues on the spot and add weights to assure close contact between the blotters and the rug. Keep towels and weights in place until the spot has dried completely.

Outdoor Cookery Eases Chef's Job

With outdoor cooking becoming more and more popular, many amateur chefs now are expanding their summertime activities from fixing hamburgers and steaks to preparing more elaborate menus.

Several outdoor grill accessories are available to make the preparation of these creations easier. Some of the most popular, according to Arvin Industries, one of the largest manufacturers of outdoor barbecue grills, include electric motors that turn rotisserie spits automatically, utility tables that hook onto the fire bowl and provide handy work space and extra hoods so the open grill can be transformed into a smoker.

All these accessories are designed to make outdoor cooking easier and more enjoyable. Most of them are made so they will fit on present outdoor grill equip-

Centex Nation's Biggest Builder

The nation's biggest home builder has its biggest project in the heart of northwest suburbs.

Centex Construction Co. of Dallas, Texas, is devleoping Elk Grove Village south of Mt. Prospect, where they own some 1,500 acres.

Sales are well ahead of starts now, but the production line is just about to move into high speed. Expected 1958 production: 1,000 or more houses compared to 600 in 1957. There is land enough for 6,000 homes. The firm is also developing a successful industrial development in Elk Grove township and has plans for a regional shopping center within two years.

CENTEX HAS been among the nation's biggest builders since it was formed in 1950. It hit the "number one" slot last year.

The organization is building sales houses in Chicago, Dallas, and Honolulu; military housing in Indiana and Arkansas; and planning a high-rise apartment building in Tulsa, Okla.

During the last seven years it has also built in other cities in Illinois, Florida, California and Texas. Total production: about 17,500 units valued at $240 million.

President of Centex is a 38-year-old "Horatio Alger," named Tom Lively. When World War II ended, Lively, then 25 years old, started building homes, one at a time, in the $20,000 to $25,000 price range.

"One thing led to another," he recalls, "and I started building two at a time, even did small projects." The largest: 26 homes.

IN THE LATE 40's, Lively formed a partnership with a veteran Dallas realtor, Ira L. Rupley. They built a tract of 500 homes in Dallas before they joined with the late Fletcher Lippett, Dallas businessman to form Centex.

They were joined in 1955 by two sons of oilman Clint Murchison, who bought a substantial interest in the company.

Before he completed a single house in Elk Grove Village, Lively built a $175,000 school and named it in honor of Rupley, who is retiring this year as executive vice president of Centex. The building was donated to school district 59. (RE

Which Is Better Buy; New or Old?

Which is the better buy . . . a new home or an older one?

Realtors will generally recommend the older homes in established neighborhoods with all improvements included in the purchase price while the subdivision builders will be selling you on the advantages of a new home in a planned community.

THERE ARE, of course, advantages to both. While an older home may be just the thing for one family, another would prefer subdivision living with neighbors of their own age and the natural attraction of owning (with the mortgage company) your very own new home.

Lower down payments, sometimes better financing and the desire to take part in planned community activities are some of the reasons, builders note, why families choose the subdivisions.

"In the present market the better buy is the older home," according to Donald D. Florence, president, F-B-K Realtors, Arlington Heights.

HE DESCRIBED an older home as up to 10 years old. The older home, he noted, offers the advantage of an established neighborhood with the purchase price including all improvements such as sewers, sidewalk and curbing. The price may also include a garage or porch and often even furniture, drapes and kitchen appliances.

On the other hand, according to Florence, a builder will offer a new home without a garage because it would increase the down payment out of the so-called low range.

"The purchaser then may spend $1,200 for a garage, but mortgage-wise it's worth only about $600," the realtor added. He estimated that new home buyers often spend several thousand dollars more for a garage or porch, storm and screen windows among other items.

ALTHOUGH THE market is off some 10 to 15 per cent from its peak, Florence said that older homes are moving well. His firm sold some 20 properties in March as compared to 14 in February.

Financing of an older home, he noted depends to a large extent on the age and condition and the neighborhood. He said that mortgage money is "loosening up" and that F-B-K has been negotiating good commitments on both conventional and FHA mortgages.

Despite the availability of FHA and conventional mortgage money, there is little, if any, GI mortgage money available, Florence said. He doesn't believe the proposed GI interest increase from 4½ to 4¾ per cent will materially change the situation.

The interest rate in the current mortgage market is 5½ per cent. For a while loans were made at 6 per cent, he recalled. (REF

British Family Make Home Here

"Home sweet home" for the Leslie Fowler family of Arlington Heights, took over 4,000 miles and five years to find.

The family left Essex, England, for Rexdale, Canada, where Fowler was offered a job. Now, five years later, the family has once again pulled up stakes, and has settled here where they hope to remain permanently.

ACCORDING to Mrs. Fowler, her husband left Canada last August to start a new job with an electronics firm on Chicago's north side. In November he purchased a home in Arlington Heights' new 532-home community being developed by the Hasbrook Construction Co.

According to Hasbrook officials, the Fowler family was the first to move into their new subdivision.

"It marks them as pioneers," they said.

Hasbrook made a special effort to complete the home to family back together again as soon as possible. They moved in during February.

THE FAMILY has four children, Arthur, 20, who is remaining in Canada to study flying; Elizabeth, 14; Kathleen, 12; and Peter, 3.

Mrs. Fowler is very happy with the family's choice of Arlington Heights.

"Of course, we're quite fond of England and Canada, but the people of Arlington Heights have been so kind and helpful, that we already feel this is our real home," she said.

The fresh air and outdoor life here in the suburbs is so much better for the children."

Official welcome to Arlington Heights was made by Mrs. Eileen Chapin of the village's Welcome Wagon organization. She presented Mrs. Fowler with gifts from local merchants, and chatted with her about the various activities and services available in the village. (RE

Development of Airport To Push Northwest Growth

Development of O'Hare international airport into Chicago's port of entry in the commercial jet age will be a major factor in the continued economic growth of the northwest suburban area, according to community planners and realtors.

They point to the closeness of O'Hare airport as a contributing factor in the selection of this area by many industrial firms for all or part of their manufacturing and office facilities.

VIRTUALLY EVERY corner of the globe will be within a matter of hours by jet from O'Hare airport. The majority of new plants now under construction or planned in this area are but a half-hour or so from the airport.

Meanwhile, a revised development plan for the airport is being considered by the city of Chicago and the 17-odd airlines that serve the city.

MAYOR RICHARD J. Daley said recently that he hoped the city's financial advisers and air carrier representatives would soon reach full agreement on the financing so revenue bonds may be issued.

Because of the extent of the O'Hare project, plans call for its development into a complete jet terminal through various construction stages.

The initial phase would include 2 of 3 terminal buildings, a new 10,500-foot east-west runway, 56 of the planned 94 airplane loading gates as well as extensive other construction.

The general airport terminal layout would be in the form of a U with the 3 terminal buildings along the sides. The 2-story steel and glass structures would be 900 by 125 feet.

PARKING AREAS to accommodate some 10,000 cars also are included in the plans, prepared by the Chicago architectural firm of Naess & Murphy.

Completion of the first stage would provide facilities to handle some 15 million passengers annually, according to public works commissioner George L. DeMent.

Start of construction is contemplated for this year and completion of the first stage by 1960. Cost of the initial construction phase is estimated at more than 100 million dolars.

WORK WOULD be financed through the issuance of revenue bonds, payment of which would be guaranteed by the airlines. The airlines must pay sufficient landing and other fees to assure the city against any airport operating loss.

Because of O'Hare airport, northwest area residents may get a bonus in the quicker completion of the northwest expressway, connecting the Loop with the airport.

Just recently Mayor Daley announced that he would attempt to speed construction to meet an opening date late in 1959.

THE MAYOR said he would ask the cooperation of state and county officials in requesting contractors to work at least a 16-hour shift and in some cases, work would go ahead on a 24-hour shift.

He noted that his proposal would also help alleviate unemployment and added that the expressway is vital to the development of the airport.

At the same time work is progressing on the northwest tollway through this area on its route from O'Hare airport to Rockford. Opening is scheduled for this summer. (RE

Handy Hints

Don't repair cracks in plaster caused by the settling of a new house until the settling is complete, Popular Mechanics advises. Mark the ends of the cracks with a pencil, remarking them each time they lengthen. When cracks no longer increase beyond the pencil marks, widen them slightly and fill with spackling compound. Allow it to set thoroughly before painting or papering.

To make dents in inlaid linoleum less noticable, soften the dents with a 250-watt heat lamp and then "burnish" the edges of the dents with the handle of a table knife. Avoid overheating the linoleum with the lamp. (RE

Pamphlets Help New Home Buyers

"So you're going to buy a home."

That's the title of just one of many booklets and pamphlets available from various organizations to prospective home owners.

This one, published by the Chicago Bar Association, discusses some of the legal problems that the buyer may encounter. It is available without cost from the association at 29 South LaSalle st., Chicago.

Are you getting a clear title . . . What is a title policy . . . A Torrens certificate . . . Should title be taken in joint tenancy . . . How are you going to close the deal. These are some of the legal aspects of home buying discussed in the booklet.

The booklet notes that there are many legal aspects to the purchase of a home, as well as many pitfalls. It adds that buying a house will very likely take a great part if not all of your savings and then some, "and it may be a lifetime investment... the most important transaction of your life."

HOME BUILDING associations, mortgage firms, banks and various governmental agencies, all have available for the asking or at a nominal cost booklets of interest to prospective home owners.

One of the more detailed booklets is published for the "Home-Buying Veteran" by the Veterans' Administration, Washington 25, D. C. It offers an excellent checklist for any home purchaser or anyone planning to have a home built to his specifications.

The 29-page pamphlet takes the reader through the procedure for buying a home step by step, pointing out the things he should look for and check before signing a contract.

The checklist for buying or building includes such items as the neighborhood, its convenience to schools, transportation, and shopping; condition of the lot; the exterior as well as the interior of the house among many others.

"ONE OF THE COMMON errors made by some people in buying a house is to think that the only cost will be a small down payment plus monthly payments of principal and interest. Before you buy be sure that your income is big enough to cover all of the costs which you will have to pay," the booklet notes.

After the down payment and closing costs, you must make regular payments on the mortgage taxes and insurance, heat and utilities and maintenance. These, of course, are in addition to your other debts for such items as furniture or automobile. And don't forget you'll probably have to pay for garbage collection and water among some other small items that go with owning your own home.

A third booklet available is "Why should your title to real estate be guaranteed."

THE FIRST TIME you buy a house you will no doubt discover that the purchase of real estate is quite different from other kinds of property and the transfer of real estate from one person to another is a little more complicated.

For example, the Chicago Title and Trust co. booklet points out that you buy an ordinary article without being concerned with whether the seller is married, single or divorced.

"But when you buy a home or other building, or a vacant piece of real estate, all of those things are vital to know...and you must have a complete investigation made on every point or you may discover that the property you bought and paid for is not actually yours at all."

The booklet explains the need for a guaranteed title and the protection it offers the home owner.

Garden Hints

Here's an easy way to protect newly-planted tomato plants from cutworms that sever the tender stems immediately above the ground. Popular Mechanics suggests that you cut an old garden hose into short lengths and then slit each section of hose lengthwise. Enclose each tomato stem with a section of hose, making certain that the hose extends a short distance below ground level. The hose lengths are easy to remove when the plants begin to mature and are no longer endangered by these worms.

Permanent weather-proof markers for rows of newly-sown seeds can be made of strips cut from an aluminum-foil cake tin. Plant names and the dates planted should be marked on the strips with a ball-point pen so that rain won't smudge or erase them. (RE

Clean Up, Fix Up Time Here Again

Now's the time to start thinking about fixing-up the old homestead or making permanent improvements such as a garage or porch.

Spring is the traditional season for the weekend "do it yourselfers." Lumber companies, plumbers and heating contractors in the northwest area are anxious to assist you in making minor repairs, but strongly recommend that you seek professional help for the major ones.

"THIS IS THE TIME of the year we get calls to fix up some of those do it yourself jobs which have gone haywire," said one contractor.

The major jobs — room addition, basement recreation room — add to the value of your property. The investment will pay-off in greater living comfort and when you sell.

Conventional as well as FHA home improvement loans are available from banks, savings and loan institutions.

THERE'S NO END to the minor jobs — Re-seeding and fertilizing the lawn, cleaning out the gutters, basement and attic, and what have you.

The high food prices may even bring back the old victory gardens this spring and summer. Many home owners find great pleasure in a vegetable garden along with making a small dent in the weekly food costs.

That old homestead could probably stand a new paint job this spring, too. The cost is not too great for the average size house. Many stores now are advertising paint sales and this would be the time to buy.

PAINTING contractors say the most important step is to prepare the old surface by scraping and sanding the bad spots before applying a new coat.

A gallon of house paint, depending on the kind and cost, will cover with one coat anywhere from 400 to 600 square feet.

If you are fortunate enough to have trees on your property, they too need care. The rotted ones, a potential danger particularly in the summertime lightning storms, should be removed. The others may need pruning and feeding.

Be sure to include a summer clean-up and inspection of your heating unit. The nominal cost will give you better heat at less cost and eliminate breakdowns during next winter's sub-zero weather.

HOW ABOUT THE plumbing? Some of the common problems which the home owner can correct are leaky faucets, stopped-up drains and plumbing noises.

If it looks like a major job, call a plumber before you start guessing at what to do.

The Plumbing-Heater-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 W. Wacker dr., Chicago, has available for 10 cents a booklet entitled "What You Should Know About Plumbing." It will also help you plan that second bathroom you probably need in your home. (RE

Northwest Suburbs Welcome Industry

Industry is here to stay in the northwest suburban area.

Recognizing the natural suburban attractions for industry some communities are out to get their share while others have only a passing interest.

SOME SUBURBANITES in urging their village governments to be very choosey in approving industrial plants argue that industry may very likely destroy the country charm, bring on additional traffic problems and put an added burden on water and sewer facilities.

Communities like Elk Grove and Rolling Meadows, on the other hand, want the industrial tax dollars to alleviate their school problems and are actively selling their industrial areas.

Rolling Meadows, whose city government is all for industry, is the recognized leader among communities in this area in urging plants to locate in its new Northwest Industrial park area.

SMITH-CORONA INC. plans to build a half-million dollar plant this year on a 30-acre site in the industrial park. Plans for other plants are in various stages of development.

The industrial area covers more than 200 acres and will be connected with the city's water and sewer systems. The area is located south of the C&NW railway between Hicks and Rohlwing rds.

Another big industrial area is under development in Elk Grove village where more than 10 plant sites have been sold, according to the Centex Construction Co.

CONSTRUCTION of the Hotpoint plant in the village's Centex Industrial park is well under way. The plant, where some 300 workers will be employed, eventually will be part of the Hotpoint industrial community. It is located near Tonne and Landmeir rds.

Early this year Palatine's village board began moving ahead to develop the village's industrial potential.

Construction of 2 light industry plants — Standard Safety Equipment Co. and Kerr Chemical Co. — are being completed. Standard will employ about 75 persons in its plant at Quinten rd. and the old Northwest hwy.

PRESSURIZED CANS of deodorants and insecticides will be among the items manufactured at the Kerr plant at Colfax and Smith sts. Various kinds of safety equipment will be manufactured in the Standard plant.

Palatine's master plan locates two light industrial areas and the village government has indicated that it will welcome light, non-objectionable industrial plants.

Mt. Prospect also has the welcome sign out for light industry where the umber of plants has more than tripled in the last five years.

Construction of the Charles Bruning Co. plant is nearing completion in the village's industrial area. Complete occupancy is expected this year.

COMPLETION of the expressways through the northwest suburban area and completion of O'Hare international airport will serve as additional attractions for industrial plants in this area.

There's increasing industrial activity in the Wheeling area, too. Plants for the American Marietta Co. and the International Iron Works are under construction there.

Pure Oil Co. plans completion of a new plant next year on Golf rd., south of Palatine. It will employ more than 1,000.

2 Local Men Attend Carolina Conference

G. H. Bartlett, 503 S. Nawata, Mt. Prospect, field administration vice president of the Allstate Insurance companies, Skokie, and Richard A. Hogan, 431 S. Pine, Arlington Heights, assistant vice president in charge of sales for Allstate, have returned from a trip to Charlotte, N. C., where they participated in a program recognizing the victory of Allstate's Charlotte regional office in a recent national sales contest.

Bartlett and Hogan were among a group of Allstate's top executives who accompanied Judson B. Branch, president of the Allstate companies, on the trip. (BB

Sanitary District Maps $72 Million Flood Program

(CNS)—A flood control program, estimated to cost $72 million, is being mapped out by the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Horace P. Ramey, chief engineer, has outlined a 10-year construction program, approved in its preliminary form by district trustees.

Top item on the long list of projects calls for the spending of $30 million to widen and deepen the district's Sanitary and Ship canal connecting with locks at Lockport. The list of projects will reach into every corner of Cook county.

Other proposals by areas:

WEST AND Northwest: Dredging and deepening the Des Plaines river from Riverside to the Lake-Cook county line north of Wheeling, a 31-mile stretch that hasn't been cleared for at least 25 years; estimated cost, $9 million.

Improvements along Addison and Silver creeks, $4 million.

Improvements along Flag creek, $1 million.

Improvements along Feehanville and Weller ditches, $1 million.

(Also suggested but not included in the sanitary district's overall estimate is a $5 million program for improving Salt creek in DuPage county.)

NORTH: Deepen and widen North branch of Chicago river, north of Lawrence ave., Chicago, $4 million.

Enlargement of North Shore channel, $2 million.

SOUTH: STORM water outlets and other improvements for villages in the Grand Calumet and Little aClumet areas $6 million.

Enlargement of Stony creek and construction of tributary ditches and sewers for the Evergreen Park, Alsip, Oak Lawn, and southwest side of Chicago drainage area, $8 million.

Storm water outlets for Posen, Midlothian, Markham, and south Blue Island, $4 million.

Improvements along the Calumet Union drainage ditch, $2 million.

Improvements along Thorn creek, $1 million.

The sanitary district's projects will supplement Chicago's $165 million long-range sewer expansion program now in the construction stage. Chicago has yet to have bond issues presented for voter approval on $70 million of its long term sewer program.

THE GRAND TOTAL future construction cost for flood relief has been estimated by Ramey at $173 million. This includes $72 million to be raised by the sanitary district, $70 million by Chicago, and also the cost of storm water sewer systems needed by suburbs in Cook county. Cost for the last item mentioned was estimated at $31 million in 1955, latest available estimate.

The sum seems staggering. Yet, Ramey has said: "It is probable that the cost of flood protection would be less than the cost of flood damage."

He pointed out the amount of damage from one great flood, in October, 1954, has been estimated at $30 million. Damage from the flood of July, 1957, was less, he said, but a loss of $10 million has been mentioned.

"PROPER SOLUTION of the flood problem will require a construction program far beyond the imagination of everybody except a few who have been close enough to realize its magnitude," Ramey said.

Here are some of the local projects recommended by Ramey that sanitary district engineers will tackle:

DES PLAINES RIVER: Deepen the channel bed four to five feet in the section between Hoffman dam (at Riverside) and North ave., and about three feet between North ave. (Elmwood Park) and the Lake-Cook county line.

Bottom widtn of the new channel would be 300 feet from Hoffman dam to the mouth of Salt creek, about 230 feet to North ave., then 210 feet to Higgins rd., diminishing to 150 feet at Palatine road.

Changes in channel widths would be made at points where tributary creeks enter the Des Plaines river.

Sub-dams would be constructed at proper intervals to maintain desired low water levels, Ramey said.

TO LESSEN THE RISE in water level over these dams and to pass high flood flows, the dams could be built diagonally instead of directly across the stream. Ramey said this would give greater crest lengths.

It is said the plan would lower the flood water stage by 5 or 6 feet from the Riverside dam to North ave. and beyond.

Ramey said it is believed the suggested channel improvements would enable the Des Plaines river "to carry any flood which may reasonably be expected in the future."

THE DES PLAINES river, rising in southeastern Wisconsin, west of Racine, flows southward, parallel to and about 10 miles west of Lake Michigan to about 49th st. and Harlem ave. Here, one mile south of Riverside, it makes a sharp bend to the southwest, and continues past Lockport and Joliet, to Dresden, where it unites with the Kankakee river to form the Illinois river.

Drainage area of the Des Plaines river above Riverside is 643 square miles; above Lemont, 690 square miles, and above Lockport, 713 square miles.

Its most important tributary is Salt creek, which comes in from the west at about 39th street.

Salt creek rises in Cook county, northeast of Palatine, flows southward through the eastern section og DuPage county, past Bensenville, Villa Park, and Elmhurst, to Hinsdale. It then flows eastward past Western Springs and LaGrange Park, through Brookfield, into the Des Plaines river. Its drainage area is about 152 square miles.

Specific improvements were not detailed in Ramey's preliminary reports for Addison, Silver and Flag creeks, nor for the Feehanville and Weller Ditches. (RE

Winston Park Officials See 'Bright Future' for Palatine

In the seven months since Winston Park Northwest unveiled its homes to the public in Palatine's newly annexed section, public acceptance and sales have been "very gratifying." Winston Park Northwest officials declared this week.

Robert Richards, vice president and general manager of the construction firm, said more than 240 families have purchased homes in the first unit contained on 755 acres bounded by Wilke and Palatine roads. He noted that public acceptance is a "great civic boost for the area.

"THE $45,000,000 housing, shopping and industrial development is also a pace setter for the northwest suburbs," said Richards. Both he and David Muss, president of Winston Park, envisioned this area as the nucleous for suburban living advancement and look to a "bright future" in the community.

With completion of the 559 houses in the first unit of Winston Park homes, said Richards, work will begin on the $18,000,000 shopping center with 100 specialty stores and room for parking 6,000 automobiles.

WINSTON PARK planners have designed the community to be a close-knit development with all modern conveniences. The project will have its own independent storm water and sewage systems.

All electrical and public utility cables are to be installed completely underground. Paved street, curbs and gutters with city garbage and snow removal services will be provided.

"Since the growth of Winston Park Northwest will more than double Palatine's current population, 62 acres have been devoted to construction of parks and two new school sites," said Richards. Winston Park recently turned over $18,000 to the Palatine school district to be used for construction of a new elementary school. The construction firm will have donated an additional $100,000 for the schools by the completion of the first unit of homes.

IN AN EFFORT to create an ideal residential community, homes within a given area will be composed of several models. This—combined with an exterior color scheme exclusive for each group of residences—will allow individuality for all units.

Five luxury homes, three ranch and two split level models, are priced from $19,890 to $25,990.

Central rd., Mount Prospect, was presented with a citation of merit from the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry and the Chicago chapter, American Institute of Architects, for its national headquarters and manufacturing plant. Designed by the architectural firm of A. Epstein and Sons, Inc., the building was recognized "for the development of a plan which utilizes the various component elements of an industrial plan to produce an extremely interesting composition of masses. An open plan, differing from most industrial complexes, opens up the various elements and gives exposure of these units to the exterior and the landscaping." The citation was presented at the fourth annual awards luncheon in Chicago last Thursday. The program recognizes superior design and construction of buildings completed in the Chicago metropolitan area since 1953.

Office Girl Job Holders Suffer from 'Mobilitis'

Today's modern office girls suffer from "mobilitis," but the boss can console himself with the fact that there is practically no shortage in the office help field.

A study just completed by the business research and statistics division of the Chicago association of Commerce and Industry of 566 Chicagoland firms employing more than 10,500 secretaries, stenogrphers and typists revealed that the feminine desk set is frequently "on the move," is in quite adequate supply, could be better trained and is getting higher wages.

"Most revealing," said Arthur J. O'Hara, vice president of the association's research division and vice president of the Northern Trust Co., "is the mobility of office help that is creating an impression of a serious shortage."

According to the association's survey, the turnover within secretarial, stenographic and typing fields was reported at a high level. Twenty-four per cent of the secretaries quit or were discharged from their jobs last year and 25 per cent of the total number employed were hired, as related to the total number of jobs available. Stenographic turnover was even higher. Thirty-four per cent quit or were discharged and 36 per cent were hired. Forty-six per cent of the typists quit or were discharged and 53 per cent were hired during the year.

O'Hara said that the survey also showed that the job market, represented by 10,608 secretarial, stenographic and typists employees, was at near capacity with only 297 job openings reported available. Surveyed firms, employing 3,740 secretarial personnel, stated there were only 59 job openings in this field. Three hundred and sixty-six firms employing 2,765 stenographers reported only 96 job openings and 411 firms employing 4,103 typists reported 142 jobs open.

O'Hara pointed out that 25 per cent of the surveyed firms indicated secretaries were not up to job specifications they were hired to fill. Thirty-three per cent reported newly-hired stenographers did not meet specifications and 32 per cent of the firms said typists did not have the skills required for their positions. "This indicates that the really nimble-fingered Girl Friday never had it so good," said O'Hara.

In 1957, Chicagoland office girls starting on new jobs were paid an average of $16 more a month than a year ago. Starting salary increases for the three categories were: secretaries — $18 a month, stenographers — $17 a month and typists — $13 a month.

The average low and high pay figures are:

Secretaries	$324-$394
Stenographers	$285-$342
Typists	$255-$309

Starting salaries for secretaries climbed six per cent during the past year. The highest paid Girl Friday was a south-side secretary who received $670 per month. The average secretary today is paid a monthly starting salary of $325. Her sister stenographer begins at $292 and the typist at $258. (BB

Development Of Industry Hits $15,000,000

(CNS)March industrial development investments totaled $14,984,000 for the Chicago Metropolitan area, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

Total investments in March of last year were $15,554,000. "This March figure compares favorably with that of last year," said Thomas G. Ayers, an association official, "in spite of a general business slowdown experience these past few months." Ayers said that Chicago's industrial development and expansion programs continue to prove the city's economic strength and its security in the business future.

The first quarter of announced industrial developments for 1958 totaled $41,599,000. The first three months of 1957 totaled $56,236,000.

The 1958 March total exceeds investments made during the month of March in five of the past 10 years and the cumulative three month figure also is higher for three comparable periods during the past 10 years exceeded substantially only in 1951 and 1956.

Among the projects announced in March:

Willie Toll Corp., 4638 N. Ravenswood ave., Chicago, manufacturer of special machinery, tools and dies, has acquired a 54,000 square-foot site at the southeast corner of Linden and Fargo aves. in Skokie. The site is located in Edens Industrial Park.

Import Motors of Chicgo, is erecting a new 42,000 square-foot building on a site west of Edens highway in Northbrook. It will handle the wholesale parts business for its foreign car midwest distribution system. The company is now located at 1511 E. 71st st., Chicago. (BB

Palatine Man Says Policies Reach Peak

ROBERT B. HAMOR

New individual life insurance written by Continental Assurance co. in the first quarter of 1958 was the largest of any quarter in the history of the company, Robert B. Hamor, 236 N. Hale st., Palatine, vice president and director of agencies, announced. The average amount of coverage on the policies written during the period also set a new high.

The Chicago-based life insurance organization wrote individual policies in the amount of $121,114,791 in the three months ended March 31, 1958, an increase of 12 per cent over the $108,260,158 of insurance written in the like period last year.

The average policy was valued at $9,834 in the first three months this year compared with an average coverage per policy of $8,193 in the corresponding period last year.

The best previous quarter in the company's experience was the second quarter of 1957 when $118,946,308 in new business was written.

Hamor said the company's increased business in the first quarter was national in scope, including industrial areas where the business recession has been deepest and unemployment more pronounced than for the country as a whole. (BB

Arlington Jaycee Health Chairman

Plans for the first city-wide Chicago Health Fair were completed today in a wrap-up session by members of the Chicago Junior Association of Commerce and Industry.

The fair is to be held at the Museum of Science and Industry April 19 through 27. The Museum and the Welfare council of Metropolitan Chicago are working with the Jaycees to bring Chicago its first experiment in community-wide health education.

"Mayor Daley has proclaimed April as Community Health Month," Charles G. Freund, 1164 Beverly lane, Arlington Heights, the Fair's general chairman said, "because of this we know the people of the metropolitan area will respond to the Chicago Health Fair."

"The Fair has been in the planning stage for some time," he said, "and we feel it will be a success because it is designed to acquaint Chicagoans with the tremendous services available in the health field, and bring to everyone an awareness of health as one of the basic needs for a progrssive and dynamic city."

The fair will be an important part of Chicago's Community Health Month. Many health agencies in the city will display interesting exhibits of a positive nature. Chest X-rays, dental examinations, hearing exhibits, displays on nutrition, blood banks, recreation and physical fitness, civil defense, and educational exhibits on the human body and bone structure will be open free to the public Saturday, April 19 and will continue through Sunday, April 27.

More than 50 exhibits on health are planned. Many are for children, some basically appealing to industrial health, and others of general interest.

The Museum of Science and Industry is located at 57th and South Lake Shore drive. Admission to the Fair is free. Museum hours are 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. (BB

10.6% Of Chicagoland March Home Building In Paddock Area; Palatine Tops 119 Suburbs

More than 10 per cent of the money poured into home construction during March was done in the area served by Paddock Publications.

According to figures released last week by Bell Savings and Loan association, building permits were issued on 236 homes valued at $4,901,722 in 11 northwest suburban communities.

The dollar value figure is 10.6 per cent of the Chicago area total of $36,717,930. In total building, the area served by Paddock Publications accounted for 8.4 per cent of the $84,147,508. All construction totaled $6,966,497.

Palatine broke all building records in having the third largest total value in the Chicago area during March. Palatine's record $2,993,142 in building permits was exceeded only by Chicago with $24,894,965 and Skokie with $3,256,275.

However, Palatine leads all suburban towns in the amount of home construction in 1958 with 124 residences valued at $2,743,394. The average cost of each home is $22,124. Arlington Heights is fourth in home building in 1958 behind Skokie and Carpentersville. Eighty-four homes valued at $1,552,560 have been constructed in Arlington during the first three months. The average value of new homes in the Heights is $18,483.

In home construction during March, Palatine led with 97 homes valued at $2,353,594. Arlington Heights was second with 37 homes at $671,400. Mt. Prospect was third with 22 homes at $456,200. Rolling Meadows was fourth with 22 homes at $387,000.

Addison was fifth with 18 homes at $263,000; Bensenville sixth with 13 homes at $212,500; Northbrook seventh with eight homes at $200,500; Barrington eighth with eight homes at $159,400; Roselle ninth with seven homes at $125,000; Wood Dale tenth and three homes at $47,128; Wheeling 11th with one home at $20,000. Elk Grove village had no home building permits issued during March.

In all construction, Palatine led with $2,993,142; Elk Grove village was second with $837,200, including $836,000 for a Hotpoint plant; Arlington Heights third with $769,357; Mt. Prospect fourth with $528,522; Rolling Meadows fifth with $411,342; Addison sixth with $380,000; Northbrook seventh with $303,175; Bensenville eighth with $239,533; Roselle ninth with $205,000; Barrington 10th with $176,415; Wheeling 11th with $61,683; and Wood Dale 12th with $61,128. Consumers Are Spending More Income for Services

Consumers are spending a growing proportion of their income on "services," the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reports in its monthly review, "Business Conditions."

Today almost two out of every five dollars of personal spending goes for services, which include such items as housing, railroad travel, movie admissions and hospital care. Service outlays have moved from 31 per cent of the consumer dollar in 1947 to about 38 per cent last year.

PARTICULARLY marked gains in expenditures, the bank says, have been scored by rent and interest payments on consumer debt. But the surge in "service" expenditures has not been the result of a spurt in any one item.

Most of the major service groups have shown gains on the order of 100 per cent or more since 1947. Over-all, spending for services has more than doubled in the past decade. This compares with a 70 per cent increase in outlays for consumer durable goods and a 50 per cent gain in purchases of "soft" goods.

PRICES HAVE been moving up, too, as consumer demand for services has mounted. Since 1947, service prices have risen 38 per cent — about doubling the durable and nondurable goods price advance. Increases in individual service categories have varied widely, however, Hospital fees and transit fares are up more than 100 per cent, while residential gas and electricity rates have risen only 16 per cent.

YET EVEN AFTER adjusting for the effects of higher prices, service expenditures have gained substantially. In terms of constant prices, the bank says, consumer service outlays have increased about 50 per cent in the past decade. Spending for durables have risen almost as much, and nondurable purchases have gone up about one-fourth.

Behind the persistent rise in service outlays is, in part, the fact that both prices and consumption of many services are fairly "insensitive" to declines in consumer income. This is in contrast to purchases of hard goods. As might be expected, outlays for housing, household utilities, hospital care and religion seem to be least affected by income fluctuations. (BB

18 Agents Invited to New Orleans

Eighteen representatives of Prudential Insurance Co.'s local Palatine district office, 744 S. Northwest hwy., have been invited to attend a company-sponsored conference on advanced life insurance underwriting in New Orleans, according to Manager Henry C. Bauer.

The conference, to be held in the Jung hotel, May 11-17, is an annual event open to the leading district agents in Prudential's Mid-America territory covering Illinois and Indiana. Qualification is based on excellence in the sale and service of life insurance during the previous year.

Besides Bauer, others attending will be Staff Managers Raymond A. Chuipek, Carl E. Fuller, Fred J. Thiel, and Agents, Richard Bokelmann, Thomas P. Drew, Dan M. Fisher, Barry D. Lamond, John F. Mabrey, Walter J. Nissen, Arthur W. Nordhem, John V. O'Brien, Robert F. O'Donoghue, Roland H. Peterson, Robert B. Ramirez, Frank B. Shadel, Donald M. Weber and Paul G. Watson. (BB

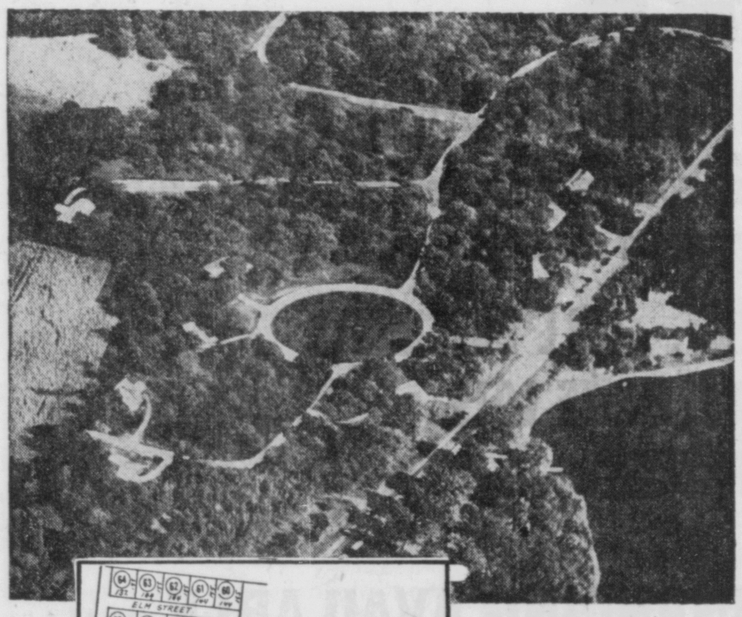
LAKE COUNTY'S FINEST WOODED SUBDIVISION



INDIANS once roamed these beautiful winding trails that now are modern roads serving residents who demand the finest in wooded homesites.

A friendly atmosphere prevails created by the present residents. Yet your privacy is safeguarded by the large heavily wooded lots, where children can play safely, away from the dangerous highways.

LOTS are approximately three quarters of an acre, with wide frontages - and - each with a high building site surrounded by 100-year oaks, hickory, elm and many flowering hawthorns.

HOMES range from $20,000 and up. You can build your own, or we will build for you. The lots are very reasonably priced. Terms if desired.

GENERAL INFORMATION

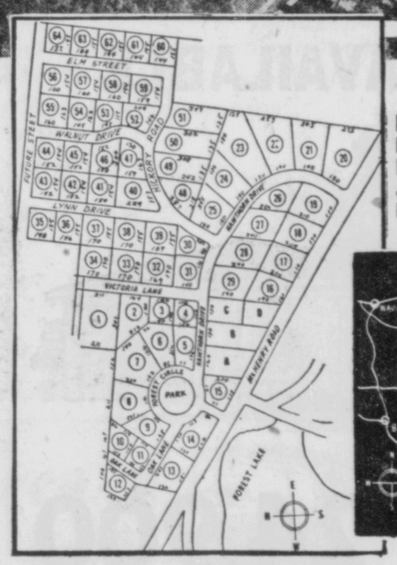
TRANSPORTATION is excellent, with forty-minute non-stop service on the North Western from Barrington or Palatine — or — the North Shore from Mundelein. You can easily drive to the loop in one hour.

FINE SCHOOLS - both parochial and public. Grade and high schools are within approximately two miles, with school buses picking up the children at the main entrance.

MODERN SHOPPING CENTERS are close by and all have plenty of parking area.

UTILITIES are included. Roads are continuously maintained, including snow removal. Electricity and telephone, of course - and - gas. Fine, deep well water is furnished and plenty of it.

RESTRICTIONS are sensible, yet give you real protection.



DIRECTIONS

Hawthorn Woods is on McHenry Road about midway between Routes 22 and 63, and directly opposite Forest Lake.

Enlist Now Report for Duty Later

Men enlisting in the Marine Corps Reserve can now wait up to four months before reporting for active duty, according to Sergeant Michael P. Casella, local Marine recruiter.

The new recruiting program allows high school seniors to enlist in the Marines immediately, but permits them to set their own date of [illegible] duty station. Sgt. Casella says this allows the [illegible] accumulate promotion seniority while still in school.

[illegible]ts are open to all eligible men who have had no prior active military service. Active duty periods are 36 months.

Marine headquarters instituted the same program last year on a temporary basis, but response was so great it was decided to make it a permanent part of the recruiting system.

Sgt. Casella is avaiable for complete details at his office at the Post Office in Evanston.

French 'Bloc'

The word "bloc" is a French word meaning a "group of persons." It was first used in the United States Senate in 1921 to designate a group concerned with farm relief.

Joins Navy On Minority Enlistment

BILL ARMER

William Michael Armer, 17, son of Mrs. Evelyn Kelly, of 141 Berkley, Hoffman Estates, enlisted in the U.S. Navy April 7, for a period of minority years as a airman recruit.

Under the minority enlistment Armer will be released from active duty one day before his 21st birthday at which time he will be able to decide if he would like to re-enlist and make the Navy his career. The Minority enlistment is open to 17 year olds only and they must have their parents consent prior to enlistment.

Prior to his enlistment in the Navy Armer was a member of the Naval Reserve at the Glenview Naval Air station, and from his experiences there decided that he would like to enlist in the regular Navy. He made application at the Navy recruiting office in the Des Plaines Post Office building where his papers were processed.

He was sent to Chicago where he underwent a final physical examination and test after which he was sworn into the Navy and transferred to the Great Lakes Naval Training Center where he is at the present time undergoing his Basic indoctrination into the Navy. He will be granted a 14-day leave prior to reporting for duty at his next ship, station or school whichever is appropriate. (WUS

John L. Payne, fireman, USN, son of Mrs. F. W. Harper of 212 N. Dunton st., Arlington Heights, aboard the destroyer USS Theodore E. Chandler, returned to San Diego, Cal., March 23 after a six months cruise in the far east.

While in the Far East the ship operated as a unit of the U.S. Seventh fleet. (WUS

Now Artillery; Not Antiaircraft

Brigadier General Peter Schmick, commanding general of the Chicago-Gary Air Defense forces, announced today that air defense groups in his command will henceforth be designated as "Artillery Groups (Air Defense)" instead of "Antiaircraft Artillery Groups."

The 45th Brigade, which is General Schmick's immediate command, will similarly be designated the "45th Artillery Brigade (Air Defense)" instead of the "45th Antiaircraft Artillery Brigade."

General Schmick's announcement follows a decision by the United States Army Air Defense Command to call all brigades and groups "Artillery (Air Defense)" units. The new names reflect the change in the Army's Air Defense weapons from conventional guided missiles to modern surface-to-air guided missiles.

The redesignation of Army Air Defense units comes just a year after the name of the entire antiaircraft command was changed from the Army Antiaircraft Command to the "United States Army Air Defense Command." (WUS

Area Youth Participates In Local Government

Neal Berlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Berlin, 55 N. Rose st., Palatine, has been selected for an internship in local government program for the spring semester of 1958. This program will be comparable, on the local level, to the Washington semester program on the national level.

Berlin will spend two afternoons a week working out of the city hall under the supervision of the city manager. Projects may include work in various offices of the municipal government assisting with such things as traffic surveys, preparation of financial reports and assistance in the preparation of materials to be presented to the zoning and planning commissions.

In addition to the work at the City Hall there will be consultations with the political science staff on campus once every two weeks. Three hours credit in the Political Science Department will be given for this work.

A junior at the university, Berlin is a member of Acacia, national social fraternity, and Young Republicans. (CC

At Blackburn

Miss Ann Wilkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delton Wilkins of 323 S. Benton, Palatine, has been selected as a candidate to try out for a position on the Blackburn college student work committee.

This committee of 11 assigns, directs and grades their fellow students in the carrying out of the school's work plan. Each year from the individuals chosen to attend a work school, the most qualified, on the basis of tests, experience and work grades are selected to serve as a work head in charge of one of the 11 departments for a one-week trial period. At the end of three weeks of try-outs, the out-going work committee selects their successors for the following year.

Ann will act as kitchen head during her try-out week, being in charge of the operation of the school's kitchen facilities.

Each resident student at Blackburn is required to work 15 hours a week. This work program handles the complete physical plant of the school — from the preparation of meals to the construction of buildings. (CC

the freshness of California Contemporary Styling is yours in the all new 100 SERIES FOR 1958 much more of everything you want in Glamour & Space

Probably the most rewarding feature of these new homes is their individuality. Each home is dramatically different in both elevation and lot location, yet is priced at LESS than a home in a large development with its row on row of identical structures. Actually, there are 16 different styles for you to choose from. Regardless of which you select, you may be sure it is abundantly endowed with glamorous styling and spacious rooms that make it a home the entire family can be justly proud to call their own.

Located in the completely established community of Rolling Meadows, conveniently near a vast shopping center and public and parochial schools. Bituminous-topped curvilinear streets add to the charm of this beautiful area. Drive out and see it today.

NOW WITH THE SENSATIONAL NEW CAR PORCH
It's a breezy outdoor porch for members of your family to enjoy during warm weather. It's a protective shelter for your automobile during cold winter months. And, best of all, it's yours at no extra cost. Just one more in a long list of VALUE-PLUS features that you get in these homes.

At Illinois Wesleyan

Miss Delores Dahlstrom, of Bensenville, has won a competitive freshman music award from Illinois Wesleyan university, Bloomington. The award was made as a result of an audition conducted by faculty members from the University's School of Music.

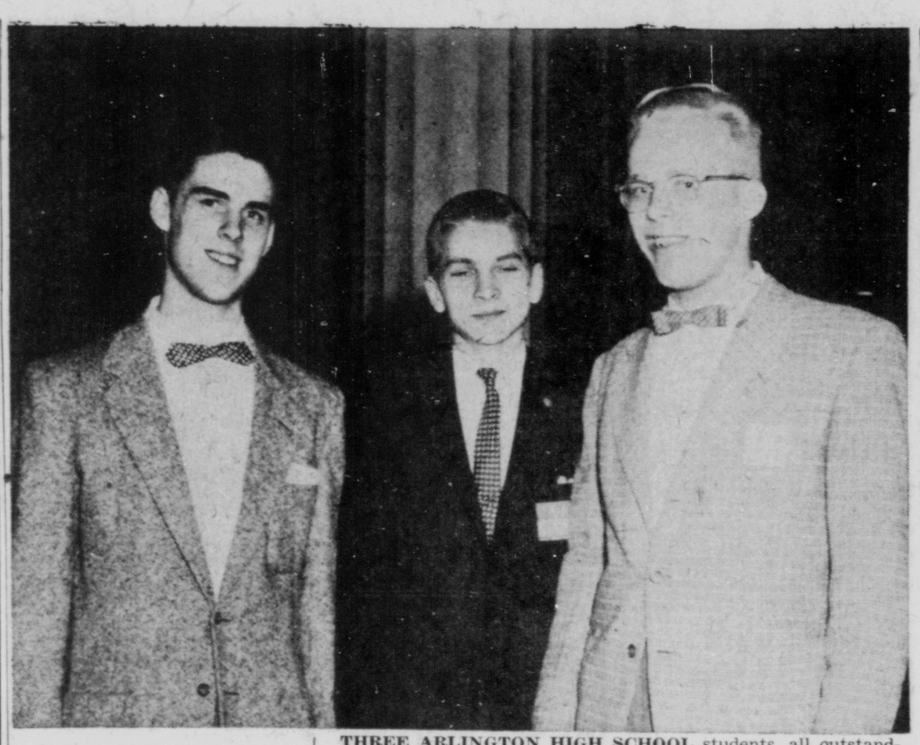
In order to earn this award, a student must have a fine high school record and demonstrate outstanding talent in the field of music. Audition centers this year have been in St. Louis, New York, Chicago, and on the Wesleyan campus.

More than 100 students competed for the music awards which are renewable each year if the student maintains the required university average. (CC

Arlington Girl Gets Nursing Cap

Rosemarie Meyer, 315 W. Hawthorne, Arlington Heights, was one of 90 student nurses from Chicago Wesley Memorial hospital school of nursing who received their nursing caps in a candlelight ceremony in Chicago Friday night.

This is one of the largest classes in the history of the school to be capped. The ceremony symbolized the successful completion of 6-months of preclinical training by freshman nurses. (CC



THREE ARLINGTON HIGH SCHOOL students, all outstanding seniors, were among 213 students who competed for Wabash college honor scholarships during two days of written examinations on the Crawfordsville, Ind., campus. Star-Time

Sidereal time is star-time; it is measured by the rotation of the earth in relation to the stars.

Canada Today's Frontier Air Reservists Are Told

Canada is today's "Frontier" in America like the United States was before the turn of the century, Ralph E. Branscombe, consul for the Canadian consulate general in Chicago, told members of the 9631st Air Force Reserve squadron Wednesday night in Des Plaines.

Branscombe said last year Canada admitted 285,000 immigrants, of which 15,000 came from the United States. Largest group admitted to Canada last year, he said was 36,000 Hungarian refugees. Of these, 500 returned to Europe, 400 of their own wish and 100 for "other reasons."

SINCE THE END of World War II, 120,000 persons have immigrated to Canada from the United States. Other leading nationalities which have immigrated to Canada since World War II are 125,000 from Holland and 120,000 from Germany. Great Britian has sent 115,000 to Canada.

Branscombe said that a major share of those immigrating to Canada from the United States are highly trained technical people, most of them in the petroleum and mineral fields.

However, he remarked more Canadians enter the United States every year than come to Canada. The ratio is now 5 to 3. This is changing in Canada's favor since it was 3 to 1 in 1945.

MOST CANADIANS leaving for the U. S. are college graduates. Branscombe said this concerns his government very much. The reason for their leaving, the counsul said, is greater economic opportunity in the United Sates.

Economic opportunity is changing in Canada's favor he told more than 75 members of the 9631st. Industries are reinvesting 20 per cent of their profits in Canada, which Branscombe declared to be the highest in the world.

A recent non-government survey showed firms in the United States own 60 per cent of Canadian industry, Branscombe remarked. This he said has become a matter of national concern. This does not mean foreign capital is unwelcome, he said. Canada needs it, the consul emphasized.

However, control of Canadian industry ties its economy too close to the United States so that when unemployment occurs in the United States it also happens in Canada.

BRANSCOMBE SAID actually unemployment is worse in Canada. About 7½ per cent of the working force in the United States is unemployed, he remarked, where in Canada it is between 9 and 10 per cent.

Branscombe's talk was the second in a series of lectures on how other nations look at and feel towards the United States. Next Wednesday a member of the British consulate in Chicago is scheduled to speak on the United Kingdom before members of the 9631st Air Reserve squadron at 7:30 p.m. in squadron headquarters, 620 Lee st., Des Plaines.

Roselle Man Named Drive Finance Head

Arthur H. Bothen, 450 Brynmawr ave, Roselle, has been named chairman of the finance committee of the Ravenswood Conservation commission of Chicago which will seek to raise $15,000 operating funds for 1958-59, the campaign to start April 16.

Bothen is to be honored with a testimonial plaque at dinner April 21 by the North Side Bankers' club for having served the club as secretary-treasurer since 1954. Bothen is vice president of the Lincoln National bank of Chicago. (BB

Rolling Meadows Among Leaders in Retail Sales

(CNS) Norridge, Rolling Meadows, and Skokie showed the greatest increase in retail business among the north suburbs during 1957, according to a Community News Service tabulation of state revenue department figures on collections of the 2.5 per cent sales and use taxes.

Norridge increased its business by 170 per cent collection of from $167,768 in 1956 to $452,890 in 1957. This raised its rank from 19th to 13th among the north suburbs.

Rolling Meadows was up 110 per cent, from $49,743 to $104,872, moving from 28th to 25th place.

First in dollar increase and third in per cent was Skokie, which moved to second place with $2,204,930, an increase of $945,571, or 78 per cent, from its third place behind Evanston and Elgin in 1956.

This was more striking because first-place Evanston dropped two per cent in sales during the year, by $64,043 to $2,929,025. Elgin rose six pct., to $1,936,830.

The next best showings among the Big Seven were Arlington Heights, in seventh place from eighth in 1956, with a 24 per cent rise of $150,459 to $769,588, and Wilmette, remaining in sixth place, but with a 20 per cent rise of $134,231 to $786,524.

Fourth-place Des Plaines gained 12 per cent, or $131,412 to a 1957 total of $1,262,190; and fifth-place Highland Park gained 9.5 per cent, of $73,846 to a figure of $851,976.

Among the smaller municipalities, River Grove had the next largest increase to Skokie, of 65 per cent, or $101,142 to $256,153, raising it from 22nd to 20th place.

Roselle, 24th with $125,709, scored a 38 per cent rise of $34,813; and Franklin Park, 11th with $515,385, was up 36 per cent amounting to $137,107.

In the 25 to 22 per cent increase category were:

Barrington, 21st, $204,154 from $163,165; Glencoe, 22nd with $199,185 from $162,454; Lincolnwood, ninth with $547,858 from $445,444; Wheeling, 23rd with $142,262 from $110,399; and Niles, 14th with $422,757 from $342,709.

From 18 to 12 per cent up were: Addison, 27th with $85,753 from $72,550; Mt. Prospect, 15th, with $353,866 from $308,898; Harwood Heights, 30th with $67,947 from $59,386; Northfield, 29th with $76,401 from $66,734; and Morton Grove, 17th with $323,221 from $287,770.

Winnetka had a nine per cent rise, being 10th with $522,403 from $470,638; followed by Northbrook, 16th with $343,988 from $317,676; Glenview, 12th with $454,212 from $422,235; Park Ridge, eighth with $691,113 from $645,130; Schiller Park, 26th with $86,701 from $80,573; and Palatine, 18th with $320,796 from $301,596.

Showing very light increase were: Bensenville, 19th with $275,615 from $255,533; Algonquin, 28th with $78,012 from $74,778; Kenilworth, 31st with $27,519 from $27,320; and Bartlett, 32st with $27,519 from $27,320; and Bartlett, 32nd with $25,938 from $23,613. (BB

Ironing Time Is Reduced By One-Third

According to homemakers who have used it, a new arc-shaped ironing table introduced about nine months ago by Arvin Industries, Inc., reduces ironing time by as much as one-third.

Recently, after giving homemakers throughout the country a chance to become accustomed to the new table, Arvin engineers conducted a survey to find out what features on the table the homemakers like best. The almost unanimous answer was the extra width provided at the center.

BECAUSE OF THIS extra width, the homemaker saves time especially when she irons table cloths, sheets, shirts, skirts and other large pieces. The reason is that she can iron a larger area at a time than is possible on the normal ironing table. For instance, instead of having to move a sheet eight or nine times while ironing it, she moves it only five or six times.

The new Arvin table differs from others in that it is straight along the working side and curved on the opposite side. In addition to providing more space in the center, the curve allows the homemaker to iron with a natural swinging motion of her arm instead of having to keep her elbow up and over the iron in an uncomfortable and tiring position.

According to housewares engineers, this is the first major change in the basic shape of the ironing table in nearly a century.

THE FIRST NON-STOP scheduled air service from Chicago to Paris will be inaugurated May 3 by Trans World Airlines. The flight in TWA's Jetstream (pictured) will take less than 13 hours. The long-range Jetstream will operate from O'Hare International Airport and carry 74 passengers.

Prohibition Died 25 Years Ago; Beer Drinkers Revel

Your calendar may not note the fact, but the month of April marks an important occasion — the repeal of prohibition for the beer industry and the start of a revolution in the nation's beer drinking habits.

For it was 25 years ago this month that Congress tempered the Volstead Act to permit the public sales of beer and indirectly touched off developments which have led to beer's becoming a highly respected household beverage.

IN FACT, 96 PER CENT of the nation's beer drinkers are consumers of the foamy brew at home. This is in marked contrast to the days prior to prohibition when the local taproom was the most frequent source of beer.

This is not to say that beer wasn't consumed at home prior to repeal. About 25 per cent of all beer was packaged, and a good deal was brought home by "rushing the growler." A "growler" was a bucket which was filled with beer at the taproom and "rushed" home for leisurely consumption.

Today, however, thanks to the tremendous expansion in merchandising and packaging techniques over the past 25 years, the figures are completely reversed—79 per cent of all beer now goes to market in packages and only 21 per cent in draught form.

THE KEY TO this about-face is the beer can, invented and patented by the American Can Company in 1935. At first skeptical of this "intruder," the brewing industry was soon to turn to it as a major package for its products.

Since 1935 when the beer can (trademarked "Keglined") was introduced, production of canned beer has been phenomenal. In its first year, for instance, 160 million cans of beer (3.7 per cent of all packaged beer) were marketed.

Today's figures released by Canco show an annual consumption of more than eight billion cans, or 36 per cent of all packaged beer.

The 50-billionth can for beer and ale was manufactured in 1955, a year which saw such cans become the can-making industry's largest single production item.

THE BEER CAN, conceived by Canco at a time when it became apparent that the Volstead Act would be repealed, presented many problems to the can company's researchers.

The principal difficulty was that the standard metal can could withstand only 25 to 35 pounds of internal pressure per square inch during processing, while 80 pounds was developed during the pasteurization of beer. It was also discovered that the techniques for enameling and baking cans which had been perfected over a period of 30 years would not be adequate, and that special coatings and methods of applying them had to be developed.

Canco estimates that there may have been as much research on beer can linings as on all other can enamels combined—and research still continues to further perfect this product.

Canco points out that about 108 million people in the United States who are of beer drinking age consume beer and ale at a per capita average of 24.5 gallons a year. By 1960 this group of people will increase to more than 120 million.

A SURVEY conducted by the can company revealed that 42 per cent of the beer now consumed in homes is canned and that 17 per cent of the nation's home beer drinkers buy the product in supermarkets. About a quarter of those drinking at home make their purchases in package stores.

In the Northeast, two thirds of the beer drinkers consume their brew at home. The figure is 59 per cent in the North Central states.

All this is quite a change from pre-prohibition days. The Volstead Act, authored by the late Minnesota Congressman Andrew Joseph Volstead, prohibited the manufacture of beverages containing more than half of one per cent of alcohol by volume.

Congress modified the Volstead Act to permit the sale of 3.2 per cent (alcohol) beer 25 years ago. All limitations of prohibition were lifted in December 1933 by the ratification of the 21st amendment.

Planners to Hear Regional Officer

Metropolitan planning for the Chicago region will be discussed at a meeting in Arlington Heights Wednesday.

Paul Opperman, newly appointed executive director of the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Planning commission and Earl Kribben, president of the same commission, will be the speakers.

IT WILL BE the first opportunity for northwest suburban planning and civic officials to meet Opperman, who gained a national reputation for his achievements as planning director for the city and county of San Francisco.

The Northwest Suburban Planning council, sponsor of the meeting, has invited members of zoning and planning bodies in the northwest area to the talks. Interested citizens will also be welcomed, said Evan E. Olmstead, acting chairman of the meeting.

It will be held at 8 p.m. at Recreation park fieldhouse, Douglas and Miner sts. (B8

BOB ATCHER, Meacham rd., Schaumburg township, president of Bob Atcher Film co. of Chicago, appeared recently on Channel 11 during interviews on Careers Unlimited. Each week the Chicago association of Commerce and Industry invites two high school editors to question business firms about job opportunities in the Chicago area.

Mt. Prospect State Bank Joins Research Program

Mt. Prospect State bank has joined the NABAC Research Institute, which will conduct the first industry-wide research of bank operating problems, William J. Busse, president, announced today.

The institute, is a newly formed division of the National Association of Bank Auditors and Comptrollers. Research targets will include study of banking services to meet customer needs, progress in automation, and solution of the many other problems of rising costs and efficient operations.

Busse termed the project "the most important ever undertaken" to assist banks in improving operations.

"Banking, like most other industries, has been faced with rising costs," he explained. "Research should show us new cost cutting methods, enabling us to add new services to customers and still remain profitable."

NABAC, composed of representatives from 5,200 new member banks holding about 90 per cent of total bank resources in the U. S. was organized in 1924. The Institute was formed this year after a preliminary study by the Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology and found the need for such research "overwhelmingly demonstrated." YMCA Building Will Benefit All

The first question raised by the average northwest suburban family when a local YMCA volunteer comes calling for a contribution to the present building campaign is, "How will this new YMCA building benefit us?"

THE ANSWER to this question and others concerning the Northwest Suburban YMCA has been seriously studied by 1200 volunteers who are helping to raise funds for a new "Y" building to serve this area.

Chairmen, captains and workers are gathering tonight in Prospect high school cafeteria for a kickoff dinner to start the residential campaign. Seven neighboring towns will raise a large part of $378,000 — the balance needed to begin construction of a building unit located in the center of the area's population.

The 4½-acre site is on Northwest hwy. between Mt. Prospect rd. and Cambridge rd., which is convenient to Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Rolling Meadows, Des Plaines, Palatine and Inverness.

THE YMCA, like the local churches and hospital, serves the entire family 52 weeks a year. The funds needed will remain entirely in this area to provide for the health and recreation of all ages. Northwest Suburban YMCA is headed by a board of directors whose members are local civic and business leaders concerned with the welfare of youth and service for the entire family.

Jack Hickman, general chairman of the building fund, was asked recently what the YMCA can offer each member of a typical family. Hickman, who lives with his family in Mt. Prospect, had a ready answer.

For dad and mom the building will make possible a complete program of relaxing recreation ranging from special interest groups to a variety of sports activities.

Adult program includes the usual gymnasium sports, swimming, conditioning and "lose weight the Y's way," but also provides for special interests such as bridge, dancing, Y's men's clubs, speakers clubs, young adult groups, craft and hobby work and industrial management clubs, just to mention a few.

FOR TEENAGERS and youngsters there are team sports, learn-to-swim classes, high school clubs, University of Good Government, Saturday fun fest, and a complete camping program which includes day camping, resident camping and a yearly caravan trip.

Believing in "togetherness" of families, the 'Y' encourages activities which the whole family enjoys. Family swim parties, father-son clubs and special family outings and parties have become a regular part of the YMCA program.

The proposed building facilities necessarily include an adequate swimming pool with wading area, complete gymnasium facilities, club rooms and kitchen. It will also provide the space and equipment that existing community organizations seriously need for their work.

As an added feature the Northwest Suburban unit will have a sliding glass wall for the swimming pool to give indoor-outdoor use and a patio adjacent to the pool for sunbathing, games and picnic parties in summer, which can be converted to a skating rink in winter.

WITH THESE facilities the 'Y' will be open seven days a week with supervised activities for men, women, boys and girls. A professional staff of three is augmented by part time specialists and volunteers who lend their talents and time to the organization.

Thomas M. Blake, chairman of the board of directors of Northwest Suburban YMCA, urges each family to consider the enormous facilities which will be available to all at a minimum cost for year-round healthy activities and family fun before deciding on the amount of the contribution or pledge. Families will be asked to pledge on a three-year basis for a building which will serve them a lifetime. (B8

A Number of Ladies Met in '08 To Organize First GAR Circle

April 17, 1908

A number of ladies met at the home of Mrs. Jas. McElhose, Monday afternoon and organized a Circle of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic. About 20 charter members were enrolled: President, Mrs. Sarah E. Filkins; Senior Vice President, Gertrude Peter; Junior Vice President, Mrs. Lulu Wayman; Treasurer, Henrietta McElhose; Chaplain, Mrs. Amanda Watson; Conductor, Mrs. Maude Castle; Guard, Daisy Proctor; Ass't conductor, Mrs. Catherine Reed; Ass't. guard Mrs. Sarah Eile of Des Plaines. The Circle will be called Sargeant Frank S. Filkins Circle No. 88, in honor of the departed husband of its President. The object of the Circle is to honor the memory of those fallen and to keep forever sacred 'Memorial Day."

A 10-HORSE CADILLAC automobile arrived this week at the home of Henry Schoppe, Palatine.

Local automobiles are making record breaking time between here (Palatine) and Schaumburg. Hi Harmening, with his single cylinder car and 4 passengers checked it off in 22 minutes this week. That is, going down. Coming back, he was distanced by Photographer Kramer, with Wm. Kublank's fast driver. He has a good little machine and it looks well since Painter Kunz refinished it, however, you can't expect an auto to be in the pink of condition all the time. Hi says, wait until next year, and he will have a machine, that can beat anything in this part of the country, horses included.

ROSELE — Henry Secker was born in York township in 1856, moved to Roselle in 1876 and married Miss Carrie Steffen in 1879. He died at his home here April 10. He was a stalwart Democrat. Everybody liked him. He was the nominee of his party in 1906 for the office of Sheriff of DuPage County and made a good campaign against a big republican majority.

The funeral of Mr. Henry Linneman, one of Palatine's most respected citizens, was held in the Lutheran church Monday. It was so largely attended, that many could not gain admission to the church. He was born in Germany in 1832. When 14 years old, he came to America, settling in Elk Grove, marrying Sophie Miller, to whom was born six children, two of whom with their mother, have since died. Mr. Linnemann married Marie Mueller in 1868, and nine children were born to them, two of whom have also died. In 1883, the deceased moved to Palatine, became a member of the Lutheran church April 2nd of that same year, just 20 years to a day, previous to his death.

Palatine — Over 800 dozen eggs were shipped from here on one train Thursday. That's going some — for the hens.

The two aspirants for the village clerkship nomination, Saturday coralled a vote of 221, of which Stuart R. Paddock received 119, and Henry C. Schroeder 102.

HIGHLAND GROVE — Eddie Behrens' baby boy died Friday morning, April 3d. Funeral was held Sunday afternoon at the Highland Grove church. Four young boys acted as pall bearers, Willie Heims, Eddie Berlin, Louis and Eddie Haemker.

The Editor visited Mr. H. F. Martens, the new superintendent of the Crane farm and discovered that himself and family will be a splendid addition to Roselle society. They immediately joined the ranks of our Gilt-edged subscribers.

Roselle — Miss Emma Koch and Mr. Krause were united in marriage by Rev. Goebbert of Ontarioville at the home of the bride's parents April 3.

Miss Louise Neddermeyer, former teacher of Meacham public school, died Saturday. She was loved by all her pupils.

Bartlett — Joe Rudinger has leased the C. C. Schultz store building now owned by H. W. Schnadt. After May 1st he will open an ice cream Parlor and Confectionery. This will save time and money for some of Bartlett's young roosters when they wish to treat their sweethearts to something cool and sweet.

Local Option in Hanover received its death blow Tuesday. 265 votes were polled. 70 dry against 195 who showed their courage.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — The quartette, Mesdames Taylor, and Lorenzen, Messrs. Beaumont and Lorenzen, who lead the singing at the Presbyterian church, furnish very good music. Their voices blended sweetly Sunday evening. If they were in the choir of a wealthy city church they could demand and get a good salary.

G. H. Glazier and Mrs. L. Williams were in town Monday and Tuesday for the purpose of placing an Entertainment course for the season of 1908 in mind. The course is to be under the direction of the Citizens Committee. Prof. Gamble will have direction of the work of promoting the course.

The doors of all schools, churches and public halls in Arlington Heights, have now been hung to swing outward in compliance with the state law. A wise precaution to save life in case of fire, accident or emergency.

Down the Avenue—Relatives, friends and neighbors of Mrs. Helen Lauer celebrated her 80th birthday anniversary Monday afternoon. She is as spry as a lady of twenty, strong and healthy, doing all the housework for a family of four.

The regular meeting of Wheeling Local No. 10 was well attended. Director Gosch reported on what had transpired at the annual dinner at Kolze's Road House. A committee was appointed to look for a suitable place for picnic grounds in or near Wheeling and get estimates on lumber needed.

Fannie Meier was born in Germany in 1825. In 1854 she married John Moellenkamp and they came to America. They first settled in Leyden township where they lived 12 years. In 1870 they moved to Elk Grove where her husband died the same year. In 1872 she married Fred Mesenbrink with whom she lived till her death. After a short illness she passed away March 31, aged 92 years.

WHEELING — Buffalo Creek Farm has bot from Ernest Kirchhoff, Rag Apple Buckeye Duke, the five-year Holstein bull. This bull has been in service in the Kirchhoff herd several years and his daughters show great promise of developing into large producers. Rag Apple at his new home will have a greater opportunity to make good.

Roselle — The general stores of Hattendorf and Sunderlage, the Botterman meat market, and the Felitz Tonsorial parlors will close Sunday promptly at 9 o'clock hereafter.

Several of the "Wets" gave exhibitions of celebrating the Wet victory last week. One man celebrated a whole week in showing his enthusiasm for the Wets. Results were that his employer could turn out only one-half the amount of work. In the northwest section of the village another man celebrated by becoming drunk and taking great delight in giving his wife and children a beating. Still another man celebrated in the east section of the village, the consequences were: Drink and Drunkenness and Quarrels. One home broken up. Keep it up Wets, you are doing fine.

A BENSENVILLE citizen was heard to remark in Itasca last week that "A woman has no business to vote and those who do vote are usually the ones with a hole in their stocking." We would say in reply that the man who votes for whiskey — and he has one — generally has two holes in his sox and then some.

Palatine — Miss Marie Deverman and Mr. Wm. Bockelman were married April 11.

Elmer Sigwalt was born in Long Grove in 1877 where he resided until 14 years old, when he joined his brother Jack Sigwalt at Elk Grove Creamery at Busse's Corners remaining ten years. He then entered the nursery and greenhouse business which he conducted until his death. In 1911 he married Miss Rose Hirn, and to them were born three children. Four weeks ago his head became infected, and death came April 16.

Bensenville — District Sales Manager George Franzen has great reason to feel proud over the sale of the Third Liberty Loan Bonds in his territory. Addison and Bloomingdale townships have gone clear "Over the Top." Addison's quota was $65,000; but subscribed $77,000 the first week. School Dist. No. 4, Addison village quota was $13,000 but they took over $26,000. Bloomingdale's quota was $37,000. They consider U.S. Bonds a good investment and took $46,000 the first week and both towns will probably double their apportionment. This is a splendid showing especially when you consider the fact that 95 per cent of their citizens are descendents of German parentage.

The Bjorndahl Construction Co. of Arlington Heights is a thing of the past. Milburn Bros. of Rockford have purchased the machinery and contracts. Milburn Bros., Oscar and Otto are no strangers to this part of Cook county. They originally came to Cook county from Rockford after they had been awarded a large paving contract at Palatine. Since that time they have secured contracts in a number of the other villages.

There has probably never been a primary in Cook county of Illinois similar to the one last Tuesday when the voters of the state arose enmass and delivered a crushing defeat to a political ring that had proven itself unfit to be entrusted with the enforcement of the laws. By handling such a smashing wallop to the junior partner in control of the Thompson-Crowe political concern, the republican voters of Chicago have come close to knocking the combination of Mayor Thompson, State's Attorney Crowe, former Attorney-General Brundage, Municipal Court Baliff Snow, County Treasurer Harding and Chairman Galpin into smithereens.

THE VOTERS of Wheeling will go to the polls April 30 to vote for or against a bond issue that will make possible an adequate system of sewers — something that is needed in every progressive town. Wheeling today has a series of private sewers and drains, the majority of which eminate from taverns or the larger business houses and deposit the refuse into the Des Plaines river.

Those who have no modern plumbing and still use outside conveniences will not be required to pay the sewer service charge, which leaves the burden upon the taverns, business houses and those who have modern facilities. Is there any reason why these people should not pay the cost of handling their sewage? (B12

Fenton 9 Beats Clock And Notre Dame, 3-2

Odd as it may sound, the Fenton diamond crew had to win a race against the clock Tuesday afternoon in order to leave Morton Grove with a 3-2, six inning, win over Notre Dame high.

By pre-game arrangement it had been agreed no new inning would start after 5:45 p.m. regardless of the score. As Coach Glen Van Proyen's Bisons finished their turn at bat in the top of the fifth the score stood, Notre Dame 2, Fenton 1, and it was 5:41. This meant that if Bill Blaesing, on the hill for Fenton, couldn't retire Notre Dame in less than four minutes the game would be over and Notre Dame would win.

FIRST BATTER in the last of the fifth hit the first offering to center field where Terry Biefeld pocketed it for one out. Getting the ball directly back to Blaesing so as to use up as little time as possible, the Bisons saw it pay off when Biefeld gathered in the second hitters fly ball also after it had been deflected off Larry Bostrom's glove in left—a great catch. The third batter grounded to Jim Meneguin on a 1-1 pitch and the Bisons came to bat in the first of the sixth at 5:44 trailing 2-1.

Fred Hohman, leading off in the inning hit a smash to third which the third sacker, Mularski, threw away after a nice stop. Hohman taking second on the error. Biefeld grounded out second to first and Hohman moved to third. With the infield drawn in to cut off the run, Bill Kebbie's ground ball went right through the second baseman and Hohman scored to tie it up 2-2.

JOHN WYTRWAL popped to the catcher for the second out. With Kebbie running on a 1-1 pitch, sophomore Larry Bostrom drove one to deep left-center for two bases and Kebbie scored the lead run all the way from first. Johnson grounded out to end the inning.

Blaesing, who got better as the game progressed, was very tough in the final inning as he struck out the first man, took the second himself on a tap to the mound, and then after one error put the tying run on, forced the clean-up hitter to ground out short to first ending the game.

It was Blaesing's second win without a loss and Fenton's third in four starts. (Sp

Start Construction of ND Football Field

by LARRY PAKYZ

A break in the weather has permitted workmen to begin construction and landscaping of the athletic field behind Notre Dame high school. The lighted football stadium seating 5,000 is expected to be ready for fall. Several baseball diamonds are planned along with a quarter-mile track circling the football field.

Another goal has been reached by Notre Dame with the formation of a new suburban conference. Notre Dame, together with Joliet Catholic high school, Immaculate Conception of Elmhurst, St. Procopius of Lisle and Marmion military academy of Aurora, will commence league play with the 1959-60 basketball season.

Competition is also slated in football, baseball, track and wrestling. However, football will not begin until 1960 since the Athletic directors have already arranged schedules for the 1959 season. The league promises to be of high caliber since two of the basketball teams were rated among the tops in the state.

BASEBALL is in full swing at Notre Dame with all teams seeing action this past week. The varsity met with success in its opener against Wauconda, winning 7-5. Following this game the Dons beat Sullivan in Chicago, 11-9. After losing to Fenton in the last inning, 3-2, ND came back to beat Sullivan again, 6-1. Closing out a week of baseball, the Dons lost to Waukegan 3-2.

The frosh-soph team lost its opener to Fenton 6-4 but came back strong to beat Waukegan, 6-3.

Saturday, the freshmen also lost their opening game to Waukegan. Trailing 7-4 Waukegan rallied in the last inning to nose out the frosh, 8-7. (Sp

O'Hare Stadium To Open Sunday

O'Hare stadium will throw open its gates for the first time this year Sunday afternoon with a special open house designed to show what's in the offing for the 1958 season at the highly banked asphalt speedway on Mannheim rd., just south of Irving Park. Admission will be free.

Fans will get a preview of the new and late model stock cars that will be in action along with the daredevil amateurs starting Sunday afternoon, May 4. Sunday will also see a sell, swap and show display sponsored by some 100 members of the Model A Restorers club in the O'Hare parking lot.

Among the new and late model stars preparing their entries for the '58 O'Hare season are Kenny Paulsen of Stone Park, Al Warfield of Forest Park, Fred Lorenzen and Dan Moorhead of Elmhurst, Tom Cox of Villa Park, Arnie Gardner of Geneva, Bill Shoulders of Waukegan and champion Gene Marmor.

Bison Soph 9 Beats the Irish

Coach Jim Monahan's Fenton sophs opened their season successfully last Tuesday as they disposed of Notre Dame of Niles by a 6-3 count on the loser's diamond.

Bill Kortum went all the way for Fenton to gain the win. He had a shutout going into the final inning when four walks, an error, and a base hit gave Notre Dame 3 runs.

Leading the little Bisons at the plate were Jack Spence with one hit and a pair of runs scored while Ron Moser scored three times and turned in the defensive gem of the day, a hard running catch of a long drive to right center. (Sp

THE BIG APRIL EVENT at Palatine is the Palatine Relays coming up a week from Saturday. Athletic Director J. E. Stutzman is a busy man these days getting ready for the big meet which is in its 26th year. So are all the other members of the athletic department and the building maintenance men. This year's meet may not have the quantity, with only 8 schools in class "A", but will not lack for quality.

In class "B" the competition may be closer than usual with Ottawa, North Chicago, Palatine, Lake Forest, Oregon, and Crystal Lake probably the best in a 23 team field. Both traveling trophies, put up several years ago by the George Spies Company, may be retired this year. Bloom seems certain to win the "A" division the third year in a row. If either Ottawa or Palatine win, the "B" trophy will likewise go out of circulation.

PALATINE has a strong track but weak field squad. They ought to be at their best in relay meets but the field events also help a lot in the big Palatine meet. Jordan Danforth, who may break the broad jump record of 21' 3½", is the only Palatine contender for points in field events. The Pirates outscored Libertyville 50-8 on the track recently but won the meet by only 15 points.

Likewise the Pirates know their work is cut out for them in the Tri-County conference after being beaten by North Chicago Friday in a triangular at Barrington. Pirate frosh-sophs came out on top, however.

Only 2 Palatine Relays records date back of 1950 and they are 2 of the best, Merwin of Woodstock pole vaulted to a mark of 12' 7" in 1935 and no one has come close since that time. Little Zacco of Geneva high jumped 6' 2", 8 inches above his height, in 1938. This mark would have been erased by Arlington's Bill Palmer last year but for rain and a soft takeoff. Palmer later broke the state record.

AMONG THE BEST Palatine Relays records are :09.9 in the 100 yard dash by Estes of North Chicago in 1955. Estes won the state 100 and 220 that year. Another is the 4:25.1 by Bowers of DeKalb in the mile in 1955. Bowers set a state record and is the best miler in the Big 10, running for Illinois.

Dick Winterbauer of Arlington set marks of 56' 3¼" in the shot and 163' 3½" in the discus in 1954. He was state champion and shot record breaker that year.

Niles' 2 mile relay mark of 8:19, York's mile relay of 3:28.2, and Joliet's 440 yard frosh-soph relay record of :45.3 are really outstanding feats. All were made in that great 1955 meet, the best of the 25 meets Palatine has sponsored over the years. Twelve records, still on the books, were set in 1955.

Mooseheart leads in the record department with 4 but did not compete last year and will be absent again this season.

Naperville leads in championships with 8 but Arlington has 7. Naperville had 5 in a row from 1938 through 1942. Arlington's last championship was 1951. Palatine and Geneva have each won class "B" 5 times and Mooseheart has taken the meet on 4 occasions.

LAST WEEK the Palatine township high school board of education acted on an invitation from the North Suburban conference to join their league. After an hour of discussion of all angles of the question the board voted unanimously to accept the invitation. Board members felt the best interests of Palatine were at stake and felt that association with Libertyville, Barrington, Crystal Lake, and Dundee who are members of that 7 team conference would be greatly to the advantage of the Pirates in athletics.

Palatine was a charter member of the old Northwest Conference along with Barrington and Libertyville back in 1925 and rivalry and interest in competition with these schools has continued over the years. Crystal Lake and Dundee have been regulars on Palatine schedules the last 5-10 years.

The Board felt the well established North Suburban which operates in an area where second schools are unlikely for many years would have the best chance of continuing to operate with even competition. Travel distance to Zion, Woodstock, and McHenry were against such a shift and also the fact that Palatine had helped start the Tri-County League of which the Pirates are currently a member. The shift in conferences will be effective in the fall of 1959.

Back in 1951 Palatine and Barrington of the Northwest were to be shifted to the North Suburban for Grayslake and Warren. The Palatine board gave the official o. k. to that action but Warren refused to move so only Barrington left the Northwest.

Since then only very limited competition has been held between Barrington and Palatine, one of the reasons Palatine fans are anxious to get into the same league with the Bronchos. The Palatine coaching staff has recommended the shift and wanted to join the North Suburban when the school left the Northwest a year ago.

AT THAT TIME it was a case of 3 outcasts, Glenbrook, Fenton, and Palatine, tying together to find a conference home. They found it as a group by joining with North Chicago, Elmwood Park, and Lake Park who were on a semi-free lance basis. It has been quite generally felt that the Tri-County was a temporary conference but it was hoped that it might continue for 4 years until a general realignment of the area would occur with the many new high schools seeking conference affiliation.

New schools are constructed or under construction at Proviso, Morton, Leyden, York, LaGrange, Glenbard, Arlington and Niles. New ones are planned at Waukegan, Highland Park, Glenbrook and Palatine.

The action of the Palatine board was in no way a reflection on relations with schools in the Tri-County League which have been excellent. It was with regret that this columnist, who is president of the Tri-County and superintendent of Palatine high, found it necessary last Friday to notify his friends, the administrators of the Tri-County league. These administrators were aware of the invitation from the North Suburban and of the feeling of coaches and fans on the question as they were made aware of the situation at the last principals meeting of the conference.

10 YEARS AGO: Palatine's eindermen whipped Antioch and Barrington in a triangular track meet scoring 69 1/3 to Antioch's 46 1/3, and Barrington 25 1/3. Harold Stephan led the Pirates with 19½ points . . . Waukegan whitewashed the Arlington Heights golfers 16-0 but Cardinal diamond crew went on a hitting spree to beat Woodstock 15-6. Engelking got 3 hits and Lancilotti and Robinson each a pair . . . Twenty-seven schools were expected for the 16th annual Palatine Relays with Niles and Antioch the defending champs in their respective classes.

ARLINGTON will again host district golf this year, according to announcement by Card athletic director Wally Grace. Meet will be held at Old Orchard May 9 with more than a dozen schools expected to compete, along with about 90 golfers. Other hosts in district golf in these parts are LaGrange and Waukegan.

Arlington won its own district last year with an even 300. Second place Barrington also went downstate as a team by virtue of its 310.

Awards will include a team trophy, plus individual medals to members of the first two teams, plus the first four individuals. District team winner, plus first two individuals will advance to the state finals, as will any team shooting better than four times par for the 18 holes involved. Any individual shooting within six strokes of par will also compete in the finals May 16-17.

WSC ATHLETIC DIRECTORS met Monday and adopted a recommendation to count all tie baseball games as half games won and lost . . . This will remove the extra expense in playoffs of ties, though is admittedly an injustice to early season ties called on account of darkness after just five innings have been played . . . There is enough light later in the season to permit seven to nine inning ties . . . Palatine had to play the same game four times recently, the decisive tilt coming after school was out . . . AD's recommendation will await agreement by the principals.

Arlington played host to 30 physical education majors from Illinois Tuesday, with the men observing coaching and PE instruction methods, the "visiting firemen" going on to a national PE convention in Milwaukee in time for opening day for the Braves.

In case you're planning to watch all of the spring contests at Arlington you'll have to step lively in the eight day period of April 17-24 . . . There are 27 tilts for the 10 teams . . . Arlington VFW honored members of the local wrestling, gymnastics and basketball teams.

THE BOWLING SET . . . A survey of American Bowling Congress membership has shown that "house" leagues and mixed leagues comprise nearly 65 per cent of ABC membership . . . Leagues having church affiliations total nine per cent of the membership and those connected with industry total eight per cent.

The survey was based on Congress membership for the 1956-57 fiscal season, when an all-time record 54,318 leagues were sanctioned by the ABC. House leagues totaled 20,992, or 38.5 per cent.

Another bowling note, when Earl Zahn of Milwaukee rolled an 836 series Mar. 18 he set a new high mark for the year . . . The previous high was an 834 recorded by Ray Bluth of St. Louis . . . Zahn rolled games of 257, 300, and 279.

FROSH BASEBALL roster at Grinnell includes Mike Cromie of Grayslake and Jack Woods of LaGrange . . . Working out with the freshman track team are Warren Carlson of Downers, Stan Norman of Arlington and Charles Turner of Roselle . . . In varsity baseball there is letterman Less Moses of Maine, junior short stop and twirler, plus Larry Dukes of R-B, a catcher . . . Moses is currently No. 3 pitcher . . . On the Grinnell varsity track team are MacDonald Bryan of Mt. Prospect in the broad jump and George Novy of York in the 440.

On the golf squad at Northwestern is promising sophomore Mike Graft of Arlington . . . Wildcats won the Big 10 last year.

Basketball letter winner at Michigan State was Tony Etnyre of New Trier . . . John Daniels of York won a gymnastics letter for the Spartans . . . In swimming it was Alfred Coxon, Gordon Fornell and Glen Fornell, all Maine grads . . . John Cada of York has been named most valuable gymnast at Western Illinois . . . Glenbard's Dick Pond chalked up a 4:11.5 mile for Indiana . . . Harold Caffey of LaGrange is a big help to Hoosiers' mile relay team, also running the 440 . . . Other "furriners" at Indiana include Ron Long of Mooseheart in the two-mile and Willie May of Bloom in the high hurdles . . . In case you're planning your calendar for 1964, Indiana will host Oregon gridders at Bloomington Nov. 14, 1964.

Arlington's Bob Johnson is a member of the seven man tennis squad at Millikin.

They're getting excited about some football transfers at Northern Illinois as spring practice opens, including Palatine's Alan Eck and Ela-Vernon's Don Fenner . . . Eck transferred from Florida's Miami . . . Eck "is another speedster with abliity to cop a starting berth, may get heavy duty at halfback" . . . Fenner has great speed and is expected to be 1-2 at quarterback with Lew Flinn.

EVERYONE IS doin' it, doin' it, doin it . . . So here we are, with the help of our cohort, Mort Leve . . .

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Milwaukee Broves—stronger than last year, class of circuit.

San Francisco Giants—100% improved . . . "team of the year" capable of pressing Braves.

St. Louis Cardinals—not enough pitching and reserve strength for top perch.

Los Angeles Dodgers—only pitching this year . . . far cry from old days.

Cincinnati Reds—still can't find proper pennant ingredients.

Chicago Cubs—on the rise with better things to come.

Pittsburgh Pirates—will start to "jell" also.

Philadelphia Phillies—dismal outlook, wilting on the vine.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

New York Yankees—can't overcome bench strength, power.

Detroit Tigers—fulfilling promise of pennant contender.

Chicago White Sox—can't go all the way on pitching alone.

Cleveland Indians—back in first division riding on Mr. Herb Score.

Boston Red Sox—too much in-and-out performances.

Baltimore Orioles—could do better if hitting improves.

Kansas City Athletics—will struggle to keep out of cellar.

Washington Senators—only a couple of winning ball players.

135 Little Leaguers Try Out at Wheeling

by GUS R. PEKORA

Little league tryouts were held at Wheeling Saturday, April 12, with 135 boys reporting to Amvets field under ideal weather conditions. The place was swarming with boys loaded with energy, eager to show their ability. The improvement was great in some of the boys over last year.

The 11-year-olds topped the list with 32 boys. There were also 29 10-year-olds, 24 12-year-olds and 23 9-year-olds. Pony leaguers showed up later but there weren't too many, with about 12 showing up.

WHEELING athletic association called a meeting Wednesday, April 8, to discuss the erection of a new store shed. This shed will house the pop cooler and some of the equipment.

Fathers of little leaguers are asked to report this Saturday, April 19, to start erection of this shed. McIntyre Lumber Co. and Geest-Wheeling Lumber Co. donated the lumber and materials with Schuler Hardware the paint and hardware.

Heights Golfers Trim Palatine

Arlington high school golfers ground out a double 14-1 victory over Palatine at Old Orchard Friday, April 11, with the first five varsity Cardinals all shooting 78 or better.

Bob Sbarbaro was low man for the day with a 72, helped by three birdies. Allen Kruse, a sophomore, shot a 73 for varsity coach Ed Spacapan, with four birdies and an eagle on the par 5 15th hole.

Other scores for Arlington were Dave Ebert with 76, Rick Lindstrom 78, and Ed Moehling 78. Top scores for Palatine were the two Johns with 82 each.

Police Guns vs. Arrows Special Match Monday

Pistol versus bow and arrow—that's the program Monday night, April 21, at Rand Park field range when four members of the Arlington Heights police force will test their accuracy against the Des Plaines archery club. Both will fire 50 shots at the pistol rapid fire target 60 feet away.

The contest is part of a campaign to organize an archery club in Arlington Heights. The Des Plaines archers are cooperating with the park district in Arlington in the formation of the new club.

THE ARCHERS will be Bob Armbruster, Bob Davis, Herb Niemann and Malcolm Smith.

The Arlington police team will be Chief Calderwood, Sgt. Jahnke, Sgt. Vidrick and Officer Osterman. Officer McDougall will serve as a substitute.

In the event the archers should win, they will not insist that the police discard their firearms for the bows and arrows. (Sp

Babe Ruth, Pony League Tryouts At Arlington

All Arlington Heights boys 13, 14 and 15 years old registered in Little League and who want to play Babe Ruth or Pony League ball should report for tryouts at Pioneer Park Saturday, April 19, at 10 a.m.

All boys should report even if they have already been assigned to a team. The only exceptions are those boys who are engaged in high school athletics.

The second and final tryouts will be held in the same place on Saturday, April 26. (Sp

Hi-Way Paddock Classic Loop Title

HiWay Recreation of Palatine walked off with the grand championship of the Paddock Classic Traveling League Saturday night at Gunnell's Lanes by whipping the second half winner, Victor Electric, all three games. The two teams met the previous week for the second half title with Victor taking all three games at Hi-Way. This Saturday night it was simply turnabout.

The entire league competed in a sweeper the final night of the season, no one shooting particularly outstanding scores other than Ernie Koche with a 604 and Joe Cordulack with a 611. Season trophies and cash awards were presented to the bowlers immediately following the bowling, along with a sociability session at Gunnell's.

Favor Bloom in Class A Of Palatine Relays Meet

Thirty schools are expected to compete in the 26th Annual Palatine Relays to be held Saturday April 26 at Ost Field in Palatine. A reduction in "A" class entries of schools over 1,200 enrollment cuts the total entry list to the lowest in the last 10 years.

Heading the "A" entries will be Bloom, defending champ with two titles in a row. Bloom was last year's state champion and recently won the Oak Park indoor relays in rather easy fashion. Coach Ralph Steben's team is a heavy favorite to take the George Spies traveling trophy by winning the meet for the third straight year. In the "B" division Ottawa, the defending champ, and Palatine each have two legs on the traveling trophy and both are considered strong contenders this season.

THE BIG MEET a week from Saturday will start at 9 a.m. with all the field events in both classes completed in the morning as will be the two mile relay and the high hurdle shuttle relay in the "B" division. Preliminaries in the 440 yard frosh-soph relay and the 100 yard dash will also be run off in the morning. The afternoon program of track events will start at 1 p.m.

Permanent trophies are awarded for first and second in both classes of the meet as well as for first place in each relay event. Medals are given for five places in each event in each class.

THE MEET has produced some exceptional marks and outstanding athletes. The class of competition has been terrific the past three years when most of the present records have been established. Only two marks go back to years before 1950 and these are the 12'7" pole vault by Merwin of Woodstock in 1935 and the 6'2" high jump mark made by 5'6" Zacco of Geneva in 1938. A total of 18 different schools hold one or more records, Mooseheart holds four records, and Bloom and North Chicago three. Schools with two records are Arlington Heights, Woodstock and Naperville.

This year Maine and LaGrange are expected to make a good class "A" showing but not seriously push Bloom. Other "A" entries are Arlington Heights, Glenbrook, Leyden, Joliet, and York.

IN THE "B" DIVISION Crystal Lake, North Chicago, Lake Forest, and Oregon are expected to be contenders along with Ottawa and Palatine. Others expected to compete are Antioch, Barrington, DeKalb, Fenton, Grant, Grayslake, Lockport, Naperville, Polo, Sycamore, St. Charles, Wauconda, Warren, Woodstock, Libertyville, and St. Procopius.

Manager of the meet in J. E. Stutzman, Palatine high athletic director. Sam Marzullo of Maine township high will be official starter and referee of the meet. Admission will be 75 cents. Advance sale will be at the rate of 50 cents. (Sp

Card Soph 9 Host To Glenbrook Friday at 4

Frosh-soph baseball team at Arlington opened the season against Niles Tuesday. Coach "Bus" Ormsbee started Phil Gustafson on the mound with Dick Goeltz behind the plate.

Starters for the frosh-soph nine at Arlington included Mike Nash at first, Bob Leekly at second, John Lind at short and Roy Klehm at third. In the outfield were Fred Empkie in left, Gene Dahlquist in center and Jim Blake in right.

RESERVES expected to see action in the Niles game were Jack Erlander, Carl Massa, Rus Newman, John Miller, Bob Schulze, Dale Hedberg and Bill Schumann.

Frosh-soph mound staff is expected to be drawn from Fred Peterson, Ken Dougan, Ron Schaefer, Gene Dahlquist, Jeff Whiteman and Bill Bennett, in addition to Phil Gustafson, the expected starter Tuesday.

THE CHAMPIONS of the Paddock Classic Traveling league, Hi-Way Recreation of Palatine, pose with their trophies after winning the vital playoff Saturday night, April 12, from Victor Electric at Gunnell's Lanes. In its first year of operation, the league geared its teams to 910 last fall, will be aimed at 940 next fall. Smiling champs are Irv Hahnfeldt, who also took high game award with 276 (186 ave.); Marv Perry, most improved bowler (from 175-189); Capt. Len Koelper, 184 ave.; Lee Adams, 183 ave.; and Al Valentino, 183 ave.

Marks Outstanding as Lions Dump Palatine and Arlington

For the fourth straight year the Lions of LaGrange high school took the measure of Arlington and Palatine varsity track teams. The meet was held under ideal weather conditions and the track was extremely fast as the times indicate.

Among the outstanding times Dick Bader of Arlington ran the 100 in :10.1, the best time turned in by an Arlington sprinter since the days of Gordie Busse. Dick Welty of Palatine also had a fine time of :10.2 in the same race.

BOB LOCKWOOD hit his best time of the year in the lows when he won in :20.5. Arlington's Bob Mors continued to better his time in the 440 with a :51.1 and then came back with a :22.3 in the 220. Atkinson of LaGrange ran a :22.2 in the same race to win.

John Dostalek of LaGrange and Jack Weber of Arlington hooked up in a real duel in the shot put with Dostalek winning with a 53' 5" effort. Weber threw 53'½" his best to date.

Oberg Blanks LaGrange

A 2-hitter by Dave Oberg gave Arlington Cardinals their first victory of the young season last Friday. However, the Birds dropped contests with Downers Grove and Glenbard in the week's play.

LAGRANGE WAS the victim of Oberg's brilliant mound chore. The Lions got only two infield singles off the right-handed curve specialist. Arlington tallied the game's only marker in the fourth inning.

Dick Nickelsen and Lee Magnuson walked to begin the telling fourth frame. Ralph sacrificed, and left fielder Al Sander came through with a single to left field, scoring Nickelsen.

Oberg fanned eight in seven innings, walked one, and faced only three more than the regulation 21. Meanwhile Jim Andersen was doing a good job for the visiting Lions. He held the locals to four hits, a triple by Magnuson, and singles by Wille, Sanders, and catcher Tom Grey.

EARLIER IN THE week Downers Grove scored 10 runs on only five hits and racked up a 10-4 victory at the Cards' expense. Walks and errors were the Redbirds' downfall.

Dennis Thill had spotted the Arlingtonites a one run lead in the first inning when he stole home after reaching third on a base on balls and an error.

The lead was short-lived however, as the Trojans came back with three in their half of the initial frame. Three walks and an error gave the winners two more in the third.

Arlington scored two in the fourth when Lee Magnuson was hit by a pitched ball, Al Sanders doubled, and Tom Grey singled. A final tally came in the seventh inning when Grey, who had walked, rode home on Jim Peery's triple.

GLENBARD'S Hilltoppers took the locals into camp Monday, trouncing them 8-3 with a six run fourth inning.

Again Arlington pitchers registered well in the "hits-off" department, limiting the Bards to only four. The Cards committed four errors however, and Glenbard hitters received six free passes to first base.

Jim Thomas' grand slam homer iced the game for the Downers nine in the fourth. His blow was one of three hits in the inning which produced six markers.

Ralph Wille's double and Al Hutchinson's single had given the locals a brief 1-0 lead in the second inning. The losers' other two runs came in the sixth when Dick Nickelsen walked, Lee Magnuson doubled and Ralph Mille singled. Wille snapped out of a mild slump with three for three in the game. Arlington outhit the winners 7-4.

Card Trackmen Run at Will Over Niles

Arlington high school trackmen won a double victory at Niles Thursday of last week, the varsity taking a 103-115 encounter and the frosh-sophs winning 77.6 to 40.4.

Cardinal varsity took grand slams in the high hurdles, the 880, the low hurdles, the pole vault and the broad jump. Locals also placed first and second in the 100, the 440 and the mile.

BOB LOCKWOOD copped four events, the high hurdles in :16, the low hurdles in :21.1, the broad jump at 19'11½", and the high jump at 5'8". Jack Weber won the shot at 49'11½" and the discus at 139'10". Rich Bader took the 100 in :10.8 and the 220 in :23.6.

Other winners for Arlington were Bob Barbour 880 in 2:09.5, Bob Mors 440 in :53.6, Fred Lussow, mile in 5:04.1 and Ed Wilson, pole vault at 10'. Arlington also won both relays, the 880 in 1.37 and the mile in 3:43 to make it unanimous.

Heaviest Kennel Concentration

More dog breeders are located in the east north central states than in any other U.S. geographical area according to a study by Gaines research.

This region, which includes, Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan, appears to have close to 7,000 breeders. Why this area has such a high concentration is somewhat of a puzzle to all who have been interested in the figures.

The Middle Atlantic region (Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York) has the second highest concentration with the other regions following in this order: Pacific; south Atlantic; west north central; west south central; New England; east south central; and the mountain region.

Spring Sunshine

After a rugged winter of rain, snow and wind, the early spring sunshine will act as a tonic for both dog and owner. Owners should try to keep their dogs outside for longer spells now that the days are stretching out. Spring is an excellent time to make up for lost sunshine.

A little common sense should be exercised when taking the dog out this month, especially if he's been penned up most of the winter in the house. While April can be sunny, remember that chill winds can change a bright, warm day into a cold, blustery day.

Grown dogs, if let out into the yard, will seek the warm, sunny spots, and they'll enjoy "soaking up" the sunshine. Young puppies, on the other hand, may not follow the sun and will stand shivering and shaking in the cold. For the very young pup, a box placed in the sunshine will afford protection from the cold winds.

Dogs in the Yard

Adding dog droppings to the compost pile or turning them under the soil in the flower beds can solve many a lawn and back yard problem.

While dog excreta as a fertilizer does not rate high as the farm animal manures, it does have some value as a conditioner when applied to the soil. This is especially true of those soils which have little organic matter or poor structure.

According to Gaines research, it is well to remember that when composting the dog excreta it should be thoroughly covered with soil. The addition of an organic "compost starter" will hasten decomposition and minimize the possibility of odor. It is also important that the compost pile be placed in a well-drained location

Dog owners having just one dog might not want to go to the trouble of making a compost pile, or have any use for one. In this case, turning the excreta under the soil in the flower beds will suffice. The excreta should be buried at a depth of at least six to eight inches, so as not to interfere with the cultivation of the flower bed.

Pirate 9 Loses To Notre Dame

Fielding misplays led to Palatine's defeat by Notre Dame High, 5-2, in the opening baseball game of the season played Tuesday at Community Park. It took only 2 hits to score all five runs for Notre Dame and 4 players who got life on errors and a hit batsman all scored when the bases were cleaned by 2 timely hits.

Orrin Heims pitched the first 3 innings for the Pirates and allowed 2 hits but one was a double in the third which drove in 3 runs all of whom got on base due to fielding errors. Bruce King hurled the last 4 frames and also allowed 2 hits but an error and a hit batsman followed by a basehit brought the winners 2 more runs in the fifth.

PALATINE GOT 4 hits and bunched 2 of them in the sixth. A walk to Leon Biedrzycki followed by a home run by Dick Wisner brought in the 2 runs. Paul Incaprero then hit a single but a fly to the outfield cut short the rally. Palatine got 2 on base with one out in the last time at bat but got no where as Ryan on the mound for Notre Dame fanned 3 men in the inning.

Frosh Open with 6-4 Win

Arlington's freshmen baseballers opened the season victoriously Tuesday afternoon with a 6-4 verdict over Niles.

The victors tallied 3 runs in the final frame of the 5 inning contest to overcome a 4-3 deficit. Pitcher Greg Beckway fanned the final two opponents in the bottom of the fifth to preserve the victory for Coach Frank Bokac's boys.

ARLINGTON collected 10 hits in the fray, led by Beckway, with a triple and two singles in three times at bat, and Mark Thorne, with two singles in as many times at bat.

A hit batsman, single by Fred Froyd, base on balls, and singles by Thorne and Beckway accounted for the winning rally in the fifth.

BACK TO BACK triples by Beckway and Keith Voigts had produced a single tally in the third for Arlington. They followed with two in the fourth on a walk to Thorne, triple by Bill Zadel, and single by Beckway.

All 4 Niles runs were bunched in the second inning when the losers got four of their six hits. Beckway went the route for the Birdies, striking out seven and walking two.

Walter, DeWitz In Doubles Meet

A record field of 140 teams will be shooting for a record prize fund of $16,000 in the BPAA National Men's Doubles Match game championship which will run from Saturday, April 19, through Tuesday, April 22, 1958, in Echo Lanes, Mountainside, N. J.

The record field — which far surpasses the previous mark of 96 teams set in 1957 in Houston, Texas — represents 13 states ranging from Oregon to New York and from Texas to Minnesota.

The 140 team field has virtually every "name" bowler in the game today including eight of the nine BPAA All-Star champions. The field also has every bowler selected on the first and second All-American teams for the past bowling season.

TOURNAMENT Director Syl Sobanski pointed out that there will be 48 cash prizes for the 140 team field — better than one prize for every three entries. The $16,000 prize money includes $2,000 which is added by the BPAA.

On hand to defend their title will be Lou Campi of Dumont, N. J., and Al "Lindy" Faragalli of Paterson, N. J. They won the 1957 crown in Houston.

The bulky field will open firing at 9 a.m. Saturday with 56 of the 140 teams taking to the lanes for their first six game block.

After each team has bowled 48 games in the two day period (24 games by each bowler), the top eight teams, based on total pinfall, will advance into the match game finals which will use 16 of the 64 lanes at Echo Lanes, which is only a short distance from New York City.

THE TOP EIGHT teams will engage in head-to-head matches on Monday and Tuesday, April 21 and 22, with matches scheduled for both afternoon and evening. Each team will bowl eight matches with the final match being a position round involving the first and second place teams; the third and fourth place teams; etc.

In addition to Campi and Faragalli, other former champions entered include Ray Bluth and Dick Weber of St. Louis, the 1956 winners; George Young and Therman Gibson of Detroit, 1947 and 1955 champions, plus many others who have held the title but will be shooting with different partners. Among those bowling will be the duo of Al Walter of Arlington and Casper DeWitz of Barrington. (Sp

Drag Races At Great Lakes

Drag races will be held every Sunday from April to November, with special 2 day events on holidays at Great Lakes dragaway, Union Grove, Wis. Time trials start at 9 a.m. Eliminations begin at 2 p.m. The strip is ½ mile south of Union Grove, on the Racine-Kenosha county line road, between Hiways 41 and 45.

There are 14 different types of machines divided into 42 classes that race at every event, so that not only does each participant get a fair chance racing against cars in his own class of weight and horsepower, but it affords a tremendous variety to suit the taste of every racing fan. Trophies are awarded to the winners of all 42 classes at each event.

Present track record of 134.4 mph in 11.87 seconds is held by Jim Russell of Hammond, Ind. The world's record holder is Don Garlits of Tampa, Fla., who turned a fantastic 176.40 mph in the elapsed time of 8.79 seconds from a standing start! (S

Arlington C C Friday Golf Loop To Have 12 Teams

Arlington Country Club Friday night twilight golf league will once again have 12 teams opening competition Friday night, May 2, with a possibility of having five members per team. Increased interest in the league with still more men reporting makes the five-man teams a possibility.

The league will hold its get-acquainted opening qualifying matches Sunday, April 27, at Arlington Country Club starting at 1 p.m. Golfers wishing to get into the league are advised to report at that time and make themselves known.

Officers for the league include president Al Walter, vice president Louis Ruggio, treasurer Charles Currey and secretary Fred Jauman. (Sp

Tri-City Ladies To Open May 13

Tri-City ladies golf league held their annual luncheon April 15 at Greer's Supper Club with 51 ladies present.

First day of play is scheduled for May 13.

Anyone interested in playing with the league may do so by establishing handicap for 18 holes while playing with any league member, and mailing score to Mrs. L. Senn, 317 S. George st., Mt. Prospect. (Sp

Boston's Red Sox swept more double-headers than any American League club in 1957, registering eight twin-victories. The Red Sox split two other twinbills and only twice lost both games, their won-lost record in double-header play being 18-6 for a league leading percentage of .750.

Prep Track Honor Roll

by BILL BECKMAN

The good weather of the past week brought times down and distances up, as the Illinois prep track season continued in its third week. The big meets of the past week were the Paris relays and the Decatur open meets down in the central part of the state.

This coming week the Lake Shore invitational at Waukegan, the DuPage county meet at Naperville, the Pana relays at Pana and the East Central meet at Georgetown will hold the spotlight as the weeks big meets.

THE 100 YARD DASH took a sharp dip with a :10.2 required to make the honor roll. LeRoy Jackson continues to establish himself as one of the state's finest dash men as he leads both the 100 and 220 yard dashes.

In the 440 Arlington's, Bob Mors ran a :51.1 in a triangular meet with LaGrange and Palatine Tuesday. Wendell Phillips of Chicago entered the picture with two boys who posted times of :51.3 and :51.8. Morgan of Phillips high school has full 2 second edge over Phil Wooledge of LaGrange in the 880 yard run.

IN HIGH HURDLES a time of 15.3 was necessary to rate honor roll mention. Both DeWitt of Galesburg and Scott of North Chicago led in this event. Two boys from Oak Park have fine times in the low hurdles, Don Patton and John Satterlee.

The field events started to swing upward with some good distances being recorded the past week. Bob Galusha of Galesburg, newcomer on the shot put scene, has a 54'10" throw followed by Joe Connelly of Heyworth with 53'9". Bob Neuman of Maine, who has thrown 57' indoors, has recorded just 51' throw outdoors, but is expected to come back up.

THE DISCUS required a throw of at least 145 feet. Two boys from Heyworth in central Illinois vaulted 11'8" to lead the pole vault. The high jump shows four boys over 6 feet and will continue to go up as the weather stays warm.

Henry White and Les Streeter of Phillips led in the broad jump with fine performances of over 22 feet.

NU Runners In 1st Meet

Northwestern university's track team will make ite first appearance of the outdoor season at the Illinois Relays at Champaign Saturday, April 19.

Coach Rut Walter plans to enter four relays and a number of field events which will serve as a tuneup for the Drake Relays the following week.

The Wildcat contingent is headed by Willmer Fowler, Big Ten 100 yard dash champion. Fowler is rapidly rounding into form after a successful indoor season in which he placed second in the Big Ten 300 yard run and fourth in the 60 yard dash.

NORTHWESTERN will be strengthened for the outdoor season by the addition of Bruce Debes, middle distance runner and Fred Williamson, sophomore shot putter, both of whom were ineligible for the indoor season. The former placed third in the conference indoor half mile last year and the latter had a mark of over 50 feet for the shot put as a freshman.

The Wildcats have a strong middle distance representation. In addition to Debes, the contingent includes Cliff Corzatt and Guy Osborn who placed second and third respectively in the conference indoor 600 last year; Raleigh Floyd, a junior, and John Reid, a sophomore.

Batting Titles

No catcher ever has won an American League batting championship in the league's 57-year history and only on one occasion was it taken by a third sacker. George Kell was Detroit's third baseman when he won it in 1949 with an average of .3429 to Ted Williams' .3427, closest battle for the title in league annals.

Grit Your Teeth And Go Ahead

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

One of the worst habits I have to overcome is a feeling of rebellion. From childhood I have rebelled at starting anything new. Even today, every once in a while that same feeling of rebellion stands between myself and the accomplishment of things I should do.

Such continual warfare against a stubborn and rebellious nature makes work many times harder to accomplish. For first you have to overcome your own mental attitude of rebellion and get started; then you often have to keep spurring yourself on, shaming yourself, promising yourself rewards, or just gritting your teeth and going ahead.

I HAVE FOUND that if I can get enthusiastic over a job before my rebellious nature cuts in, I can often accomplish it quickly, and with ease. For many years now I have practiced putting up a deliberate mental block against rebellion, I have assumed an interest I do not feel. I prove to myself that the job I have to do is important and should be done. All these things help get started; and generally once I get started on a job, I become interested in it, and find it just as hard to stop as it was to get started.

Reminds me of an old physics law I learned in high school: "A body in motion tends to remain in motion, and a body at rest tends to remain at rest unless acted upon by some external force."

The external force in my case is, I think, largely spiritual. Something within me that leads me continually to scheme against my laggard nature, so that I can produce some results.

I AM SURE that many others have experienced rebellion as I have; and I suspect that most everyone has his rebellious moments. I have overcome my rebellion to an extent that I seldom lose time between thinking of a job to be done, and getting at it, though the struggle is there every time. I have found that if you give the rebellious imp inside you a chance, he will whisper a host of reasons why you should not start on a particular job; and the best way to overcome him is to start working. Firestone Introduces New Nylon Truck Tire

An all nylon truck tire designed for the low price market has been announced by The Firestone Tire and Rubber co., according to Jack Walsh, owner of Northwest Tire and Supply, 700 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights.

The announcement came today with initial shipments of the "Transport Nylon" tire to Firestone dealers and stores throughout the nation.

"The new tire fills a need that has existed for some time," Walsh said. "Nylon formerly was used in premium tires only."

Walsh pointed out that nylon cord used in the replacement tire is stronger than rayon.

The synthetic cord has practically eliminated blowouts caused by impacts. Nylon is better able to 'give with the punch' than other fabric cords," he said.

The transport nylon will operate at a lower cost-per-mile than comparable rayon tires, according to the store official.

"Nylon construction increases the retread ratio of truck tires. They can be retreaded several times if properly maintained," he said. (BB

Picture Patter

LITTLE LEAGUERS in your family or neighborhood are excellent picture subject material.

"Play Ball!"

by FRED GAREISS

The clean sharp whack as wood meets leather—is there any other sound that's a surer sign of spring? It's baseball time around the country and no picture-taker has to wait for the big stadium game to get exciting action shots. There's plenty of picture material awaiting you on the Little League circuit at any neighborhood park, playground or empty lot.

If your household boasts a young man in a visored cap wearing a baseball mitt, just follow him almost any Saturday morning. Otherwise amble over to the nearest park or school playground and follow the sound of high-pitched voices until you're right in the midst of a game in action. There it is—every bit as good for snapshooting as what you see on a large stadium diamond—the pitcher winding up and exploding into a pitch, the stance of the batter, the swipe at the ball, the quick movement of the players, the roar of the spectators, the grim-faced referee, the bench filled with eager young "replacements."

A word about camera equipment first: it isn't even necessary to have a camera with a fast shutter unless you're planning to concentrate on the running action of the game. Your trusty box camera can actually do wonders with the material at hand, for a speed of 1/25th of a second is all you need to catch the dramatic highlights of the play.

With a simple camera, however, you'll do well to use your flash equipment even if there's a bright sun in the sky. Flash will increase the effective speed of your shutter to the point where it's about the equivalent of 1/100th of a second — or fast enough to catch all the action of your subjects.

The way you handle your camera can make a world of difference to the final prints. This is no time to have to fuss with adjustments—so have fresh film in your camera, exposure and distance pre-set for the general prevailing conditions. Try to shoot from waist level, if you can. That way, you won't miss any of the fast action which may be over by the time you raise the camera to your eye.

Lessons In English

OFTEN MISUSED

Do not say, "Treat her the same as you would your sister." It is much better to say, "Treat her just as you would your sister."

Do not say, "Endless instances can be found to prove this point." Say, "Innumerable instances."

Distinguish between "flout" (to insult) and "flaunt" (to make a show of). Thus: "He flouted the authority of the court," and, "He flaunted his new title constantly."

Do not say, "Whom shall I say is calling?" Say, "Who shall I say is calling?"

Clean Streams Parley Slated

An all-day conference of citizens and officials who are interested in working for cleaner streams and lakes in the Chicago metropolitan region will be held in Elmwood Park at Nielsen's restaurant Friday.

Sponsors of the regional meeting are the State of Illinois sanitary water board and Chicago Regional Planning association. Engineers from the stream pollution agencies of Wisconsin and Indiana will be present to describe the laws and procedures against polluters of streams rising in their jurisdictions and flowing into Illinois.

PARK OFFICIALS, sportsmen, conservationsists, women's clubs and others interested in protecting and restoring the value of streams are finding their strength and effectiveness increased by serving on county sponsored clean streams committees, according to Howard R. Olson, general manager of the Regional Planning association. The association has been active in clean streams work since the early 1930s.

The sanitary water board is the state pollution abatement authority in Ilinois. It has supervision over the design and construction of all sewers and sewage treatment plants in the state except within the Metropolitan Sanitary district in Cook county. The board's Technical Secretary and the state's chief sanitary engineer, Clarence W. Klassen, will open the morning session at 10 o'clock.

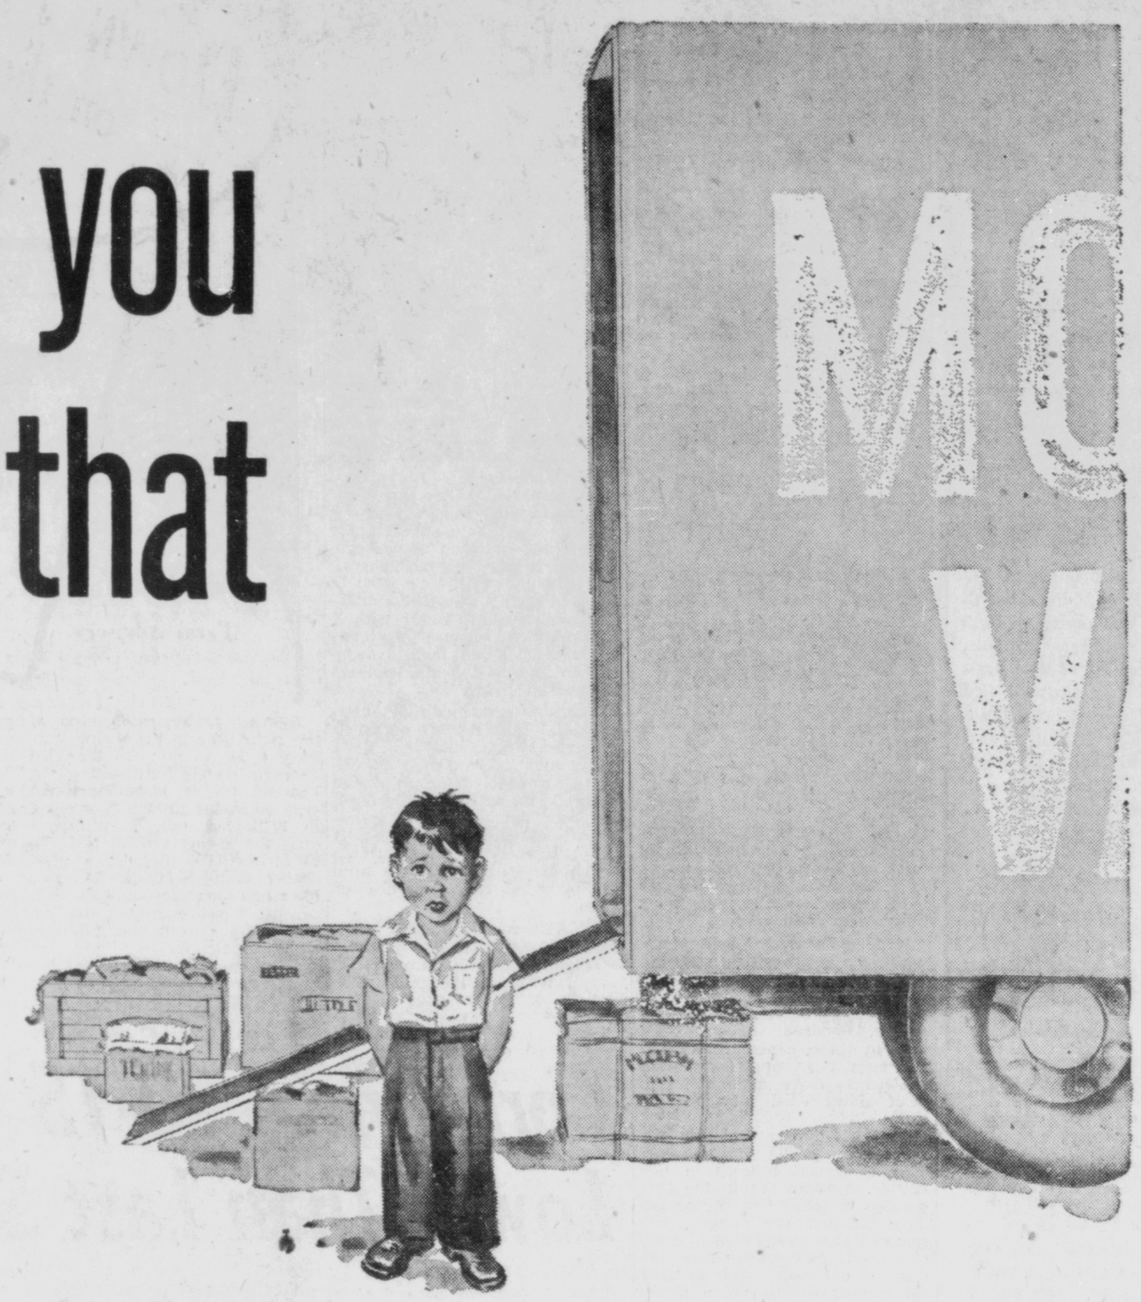
PART 5

Remember when you were the family that just moved in?



Remember that funny feeling — half scared, half lonely — you got last time your family moved?

That's the way we feel this morning. Because while you slept last night we moved the last truckload of appliances into our new Polk Brothers store across from the Arlington Park Race track on Rt. 14. And right now, as you read this . . .

Maybe you've never thought a store could feel this way. But, you see, Polk Brothers is more than just a store — it's a real, honest-to-goodness family, much like yours.

We grew up on the northwest side of Chicago, on Central Avenue and our four Polk stores will continue to serve Chicagoland. We started business just 22 years ago, with a tiny store and a simple Secret (which we'll tell you a little further along on this page). But even though we've got thousands of good friends in the city — and even though they've made us feel that we could expand — still and all it was a mighty big decision to open a new store in Arlington Heights. What made us decide?

Two things. (Three things, counting the Secret.) First there was you. You and your friends helped us decide. And there were the people who make the things that we have to offer you. The national manufacturers, the people we look on as a family within our own Polk family.

It worked like this: you'd come into our store from out Arlington-way. And after shopping a while you'd tell how you liked what we had for you — the big selection of famous national brands that manufacturers have spent millions developing, our common sensible prices, the way we make it fun to do family shopping (balloons for the kids and things like that). "We like your store and the way you fellows do business," you'd say, "but it's a long way from our house to yours. By the time we get the family into a car it's too late to drive all the way to Polk Brothers in Chicago. How about opening a store for us, too? A store in the Northwest suburban area?" (And by golly, the national manufacturers went right along with you.)

That set us to thinking . . . and planning . . . and first thing we knew we were on our way to you. We Polks and our simple Secret. (A secret, by the way, that you, yourself, taught us!)

Now — what did we bring with us, when we moved in? We brought the biggest selection of nationally advertised brands ever sold in Arlington Heights. By anybody! Anywhere! For example, take television. We offer you not just one or two famous brands, but more than 15. Automatic washers, refrigerators, ranges, freezers, hi-fi and radios, just hundreds of work saving devices for your home. You see, we believe that when you're spending your hard-earned money you have a right to choose from among the very best brands. Here at Polk Brothers you can compare them. All in one store!

We brought the most guaranteed merchandise in America. Every single item, large or small guaranteed. We stand behind it. The famous manufacturers stand behind it.

We brought the fastest delivery service in town. We know once you buy something you don't want to wait a week to enjoy it. So — we give you the fastest delivery, Free.

We brought the most common-sensible price in town. You want a liberal trade-in. We give you a King-Size trade-in plus Polk's Easy Time Pay Plan that has made us the talk for years.

And finally — we brought with us that Secret . . . the one that you taught us.

IT'S THIS: WE TRY TO MAKE EVERY CUSTOMER A FRIEND.

It's a simple philosophy — nothing fancy or Big Business about it. But it's the way our family likes to deal. And most important of all, it's the way your family likes us to deal. You've shown us that. Through the years over a million families have come to our store as customers — and they've come back again and again as friends.

And things in our new Arlington Heights store are going to be just the same as they are in the Chicagoland stores — we'll try to make every customer a friend. You'll give us a chance to prove that, won't you? Just consider this your invitation to visit us.

The brands you're proudest to have in your home are the brands we're proud to sell!

Diet Campaign Kick-off Held

Illinois kicked off its "Food Comes First" campaign with a statewide meeting at Decatur Monday.

Albert J. Nickol, Cook County marketing chairman, reported 600 people from agriculture and the food industry attended Illinois' Food conference. The Farm Bureau provided the leadership in launching this campaign to remind citizens about the necessity to be more conscious of the nutritive needs in their daily diet.

Dr. W. W. Bauer, director of health education, American Medical association, was the afternoon speaker. A panel discussion featuring a teenager, homemaker, and nutrition specialist wound up the day's activities.

"Americans need to be more selective in their choice of foods." This was emphasized at the National Food Conference in Washington, D.C.

"Americans eat heartily but not too well. Homemakers have a tendency to neglect their responsibility to familiarize themselves with the best foods to prepare for their family."

Elmo Roper, market research consultant, told the National Food Conference that one of the most serious dangers in American eating habits is the neglect of breakfast.

Dr. James E. Hilton, president of Iowa State college, said we need to re-evaluate our methods of teaching nutrition in colleges. He said it has been too general. Dr. Hilton warned, "We need to teach in such a way that individuals will decide to improve their food practices because they know what it means to them personally in improved health and enjoyment in living."

Others have warned that Americans generally neglect nutritional consideration in their daily eating habits. Dr. David B. Allman, president of the American Medical association has declared that good nutrition is not a proverbial fountain of youth but it can help every American retain — for the longest possible time —many of the characteristics of youth.

Dr. Allman said, "Good nutrition does not come overnight. It is not a hit or miss proposition. Good nutrition is the result of a lifetime of daily good eating habits." (Fm

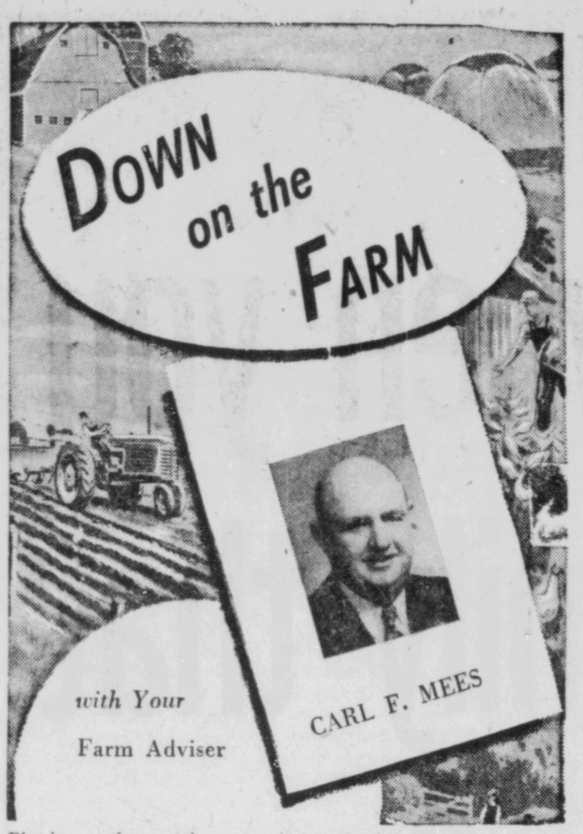
Consider 12 Too Young For Tractors

It is a well known fact that farm youngsters, and adults as well, enjoy the dangerous practice of playing and riding on tractors. Some Parents even allow their children to operate them.

O. L. Hogsett, University of Illinois safety specialist, says it is also a pretty well known fact that tractors are associated with more accidents than any other farm machinery.

Handling a tractor under most conditions requires mature skill, coordination and sound judgment which a 12-year-old, or even older, child doesn't have. Of course, children vary a great deal in these capacities at certain ages, but youngsters are not allowed to drive automobiles in most states until they are 16 years old.

Everyone has a stake in the welfare of youth, but parents have a special concern in this matter. Parents are in the best position to judge whether or not their children are mature. But some parents have failed to exercise good judgment either because of a boastful pride in their children or because of a shortage of help. So it is the duty of everyone concerned to set a good example for childre and cut out needless deaths. (Fm



Corn Prices 10-15 Cents Lower Than Last Season

by L. H. SIMERL

Recent prices of corn were 10 to 15 cents lower than those of a year before. There are several reasons for the lower prices:

1. Supplies of corn are larger than they were a year ago. Farmers have about 5 per cent more and the government has 10 per cent more. Total stocks are probably up around 7 per cent. The western corn belt especially (except Missouri) is much better supplied with corn than it was a year ago.

2. Supplies of other feed grains, especially sorghum grain, are much greater than they were a year ago. Altogether, supplies of these other feed grains are about half again as large as last year. Sorghum grain provides exceptionally baundant feed in the usually dry areas of western Kansas and Texas.

3. Much less corn than last year is eligible for price support. Fewer farmers complied with their acreage allotments, and much of the 1957 crop is too wet to qualify for price support loans. To mid-February, only 181 million bushes had been put under support, three-fifths as much as to the same date a year before.

4. Price support levels are lower than they were last year. The average support rate for compliance corn is $1.40, 10 cents lower; and for noncompliance corn, $1.10, 15 cents lower.

5. The soft and uncertain business situation also probably weakens the market for corn.

Against these price-depressing forces, there are a few price-supporting ones: (1) The government has been selling less corn —only 100 million bushels since October 1 compared with 140 million a year before; (2) exports have increased, amounting to 78 million bushels since October 1 compared with 57 million a year before; (3) prices of livestock are higher than they were last year; and (4) there is a stronger demand in the South and East for feed from the corn belt than there was a year ago.

Looking ahead, it appears that very little additional 1957 corn will be placed under price support because prices already are close to the support levels for noncompliance corn. The government may have to step up its sales of corn in order to prevent losses from spoilage. Livestock prices will not show their usual price advances this spring and summer.

The prospective acreage of corn for 1958 is about 2 per cent larger than for 1957. Finally, the price support level for the 1958 crop seems likely to be lower than that for the 1957 crop. The USDA recently announced that the loan level would be not less than $1.36, four cent less than the present rate.

A change in government policy regarding export sales might lift market prices. Heretofore the CCC has been selling its own stocks of corn for export. Plans are being made to change to the payment of export subsidies as is done with wheat. The subsidies would be paid in corn from government stocks. Whether such a change would boost market prices would depend upon the rate and amount of subsidy payments.

Cites Points on Good Lawn Care

by DR. ROBERT W. SCHERY

Proper mowing of the Kentucky bluegrass lawn is one of the most important factors in building a good lawn. Poor mowing practices can undo months of work of careful seeding and feeding, and result in a lawn that can quickly be taken over by crabgrass and weed.

New bluegrass shoots should not be mowed until they have had a chance to become firmly rooted, sturdy plants. The first mowing of these new leaves should remove as little of the new leaf as possible while still maintaining the desired depth of grass.

THE ABILITY of grass to manufacture food is in direct ratio to the amount of green leaf exposed to the sun and air. Often lawns are permitted to grow for long periods of time, then cut back to short lengths in a single mowing. This means that the energy of the grass plant must be devoted to rebuilding the leaf structure, rather than the development of new growth.

The lawn should be mowed frequently with an inch or so removed, leaving a sufficient amount of green leaf to continue the normal growing processes without interruption.

THERE ARE MANY varied opinions on the practice of removing the clippings from the lawn after each mowing. Experts point out that if the mowing is frequent enough, it is a good idea to let the lawn clippings remain on the lawn and decay in place.

Because of the rate of growth of Kentucky bluegrass — more than three feet of leaf per plant in a single growing season — the nutrient value of these clippings is worth two or three average fertilizations.

If the clippings are removed, additional fertilizer should be applied to the lawn as a top dressing during the season. A good lawn will provide dry clippings at the rate of four or five tons per acre in a single year.

IN DETERMINING the height of the grass, again the weather conditions should be taken into account. During the early spring, a medium height should be maintained. At the onset of hot weather, grass should be permitted to grow slightly longer to protect the soil from the hot sun and thus prevent drying out of surface moisture. The thick lawn also resists weed invasion much better in hot weather.

In hot weather, particular care should be taken to avoid close mowing that cuts the green leaf area to a minimum since at higher temperatures the Kentucky bluegrass grows more slowly and does not rebuild as quickly as it does in the early spring. Continued short mowing may permanently damage the lawn and require re-seeding. (Fm

Type Sprays Recommended

Aldrin and helptachlor are available as sprays, in granular form or mixed with fertilizers. That's the report from H. B. Petty, entomologist, University of Illinois college of agriculture and Illinois Natural History survey.

The two insecticides in all three formulations are equally effective.

Petty explains that aldrin and heptachlor are used to control soil insects attacking the roots and seed of corn. They can either be broadcast or applied in rows as a band treatment. For overall insect control, though, the band treatment is most effective.

Petty recommends using 1½ pounds of actual chemical per acre (either aldrin or heptachlor) for broadcast treatment. One pound of actual chemical per acre should be used in band treatments. Petty says it is extremely important to apply the correct amount of actual chemical per acre. (Fm

U. of I. Plans Guest Day

The University of Illinois college of Agriculture is planning a guest day for high school students, their parents and friends Saturday.

Purpose of the guest day, according to Associate Dean H. W. Hannah, is to encourage high school students to attend college and to tell them of the many opportunities open to college of agriculture graduates.

Guest day will begin with registration and a tour of exhibits in the stock pavilion between 8:30 and 9:15 a.m. Then the program moves to 112 Gregory Hall, where Hannah will speak on "The Challenge in Agriculture." C. D. Smith, assistant dean of the college, will discuss housing, loans and scholarships.

Several agriculture students will discuss social life and campus activities and proper attire for campus life and will explain how students can work their way through college. H. L. Sharp, assistant to the dean, will close the morning session with an explanation of enrollment procedures, freshman week and registration.

A chicken barbecue will be served at noon in the stock pavilion. And Charlie Ponds Palaestrum Kids will give a gymnastic exhibition.

In the afternoon, Harlan Rigney, a junior in agriculture, from Freeport, will tell of his first year's experiences at the U. of I. W. D. Buddemeier, professor of farm management, will speak on the topic, "Fifteen Years From Now." And D. E. Alexander, professor of plant breeading, will discuss "Trail Blazing."

In addition, three special programs will be presented for students interested in dairy and food technology, agricultural journalism or forestry.

Students interested in attending guest day should send their names to the Associate Dean's Office, College of Agriculture, Urbana. (Fm

Heaving May Cause Hay Loss

Severe heaving of alfalfa and red clover this spring may cause a shortage of hay and pasture on some farms in southern Illinois.

Farm Adviser Carl F. Mees suggests that where only part of the alfalfa or red clover has been heaved and some is still healthy, it is best to thicken the stand with spring oats and timothy. The spring oats will furnish early pasture, and the timothy will provide some late pasture. Rye grass can be used in place of the spring oats.

Where all legumes are heaved out of the ground, it may be best to put the field into a cash grain and plan to use a sequence of annual crops for pasture and hay. Spring oats or rye grass planted now will furnish early pasture. Sudan grass planted in May will furnish summer pasture. (Fm to add nitrogen depends on the amount of alfalfa and brome grass in the plowed-down mixture. When the corn crop decreases, it will tell you whether you will need nitrogen or not. You might start increasing the planting rate for corn to help boost your corn yield this summer, but it can also work in reverse.

TWO THINGS that have a lot to do with the planting rate that produces a high rate are productivity of the soil and moisture condition during the growing season. With moderately favorable growing conditions soil capable of producing 75 bushels of corn will probably yield best when planted at a rate of about 12,000 kernels per acre. Fields that can produce 100 bushels of corn can handle a planting rate of 16,000 to 18,000 kernels per acre.

One possible danger of thick-planted corn that has recently been observed by research agronomists is that it increases the spread between pollen-shedding and silking. (Fm

Arlene Gorder Married To Robert H. Miehe

(Community Camera

A college romance was culminated March 22 when Miss Arlene Janet Gorder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Gorder, 905 N. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, and Robert Harry Miehe of Evanston, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Miehe of Oelwein, Iowa, repeated marriage vows before Pastor Weeg in Messiah Lutheran church in Park Ridge.

The double ring, candlelight service was held at 7 p.m. and was followed by a reception given for 150 guests in the Georgian hotel, Evanston.

White mums and sunburst palms decorated the church altar and soloist was the bride's aunt, Mrs. Henry Gorder.

A PRINCESS GOWN of ivory satin was chosen by the bride and was complemented with a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts from the bridegroom. The dress was lined with pelon and fashioned with scoop neck, long sleeves and chapel train. Her pearl crown held her fingertip veil in place and she carried white roses on a white Bible. Mr. Gorder gave his daughter in marriage.

Three attendants, wearing champagne colored sheath dresses, preceded the bride down the aisle. Mrs. Rochelle Gorder of Cedar Rapids was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Beverly Kost of Wheeling and Miss Carol Riddlesberger of Downers Grove. Their gowns were made of silk and cotton with back drapes and beige satin trim. They wore matching shoes and crowns and bouquets of red carnations.

Alfred Miehe of Oelwein was best man to the bridegroom and ushers were Herbert W. Gorder Jr. of Cedar Rapids and C. Dudley Switzer of Elgin.

FOR HER DAUGHTER'S wedding Mrs. Gorder chose a pumpkin chiffon dress with small hat covered in pumpkin rose petals. Her corsage was of baby yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a delf blue lace over taffeta with pink hat and accessories. Her flowers were of pink baby roses.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. Agnes Weis of Tucson, was among the wedding guests.

Following the reception, Mr. Miehe took his bride on a wedding trip to Wagon Wheel lodge in Rockton for one week. The couple is now at home at 915 Sherman ave., Evanston.

The new Mrs. Miehe was graduated from Arlington high school and attended Coe college in Cedar Rapids for two years. Mrs. Miehe is now empoyed by International Minerals and Chemicals Corp. The bridegroom was graduated in 1957 from Coe college and is now with Old Orchard Bank and Trust Co., Skokie, where he is assistant cashier.

Singer Fashion Show Is May 8

The Singer Sewing center, located in the Crawford department store in Rolling Meadows shopping center, will hold its adult style show at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 8, in the store. The winning dress will be chosen at this time and the winner awarded a prize.

The winning dress or suit will then be sent to Chicago where it will be entered in the agency contest. Judges for the local showing will be Mrs. Hazel Jolliffe, home economics teacher at Arlington and Prospect high schools, Miss Rose Kapovich, home economics teacher from Arlington high school, and Miss Marilyn Gamlin, home economics teacher at Prospect high school.

Husbands' Party

Husbands of Delta Delta Delta northwest suburban alumnae chapter members will be entertained Saturday, April 19 in the Park Ridge home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay E. Thompson.

The program, slides and souvenirs of South America, will be presented by the host couple, who lived in Venezuela for five years. All Tri Deltas in Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and surrounding areas are invited and may call Mrs. Morton Riess at CLearbrook 5-4719 for reservations.

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

Piney Woods Needs Help

Dear Peg:

It was almost three years ago that Ralph Edwards had as his guest on "This Is Your Life" a neat, kindly faced, white-haired gentleman by the name of Dr. Lawrence Jones. As the many relatives and friends who played important parts in his life appeared on the TV screen, an unusual story of courage, fortitude and faith unfolded.

Dr. Jones—although born and educated in the north, felt a strong calling to help those of his race in the south who were among the neediest. In 1909, with a tumble down shack and ten students, he opened the Piney Woods Country school near Jackson, Miss. The primary purpose of the school was to teach its students to read and write and to either perform some trade well or to farm efficiently and successfully, thereby helping them to become self reliant and self supporting.

From this small beginning, the school has grown to an enrollment of over 500 students and has several buildings housing dormitories and classrooms. The school also owns about 1600 acres.

At the close of the program on which Dr. Jones appeared, Ralph Edwards suggested that viewers might like to send a dollar to the endowment fund of the school. The response was tremendous. Letters poured into the little post office, most containing a one dollar bill—the total reaching $776,000! Bob and I were so impressed by this sincere dedicated man, through whose efforts poor and underprivileged children of an underprivileged race are being given the opportunity to educate themselves to the best of their individual abilities so that they may fill their rightful places in society, that we too sent our small donation. The donation entitled us to receive quarterly "The Pine Torch," a publication put out by the school which tells of its activities, progress, etc. Last week "The Pine Torch" arrived with shocking news and pictures of the devastation wrought by a tornado which swept through Piney Woods badly damaging and partially destroying three buildings and the chapel. The damage was estimated at $350,000.

Again, Dr. Jones needs those dollars in envelopes if he is to rebuild or repair the buildings that were so long in construction. Perhaps you can spare a dollar, Peg. If so, send it to Piney Woods School, Piney Woods, Mississippi.

Although Dr. Jones must be very disappointed, he certainly shows the spirit which it took to build his school when he says in "The Pine Torch": "We are not sitting among the ruins of the buildings and trees crying, but like Wolf Larsen in Jack London's 'Sea Wolf" we are happy to look up to the heavens and say 'I still live.' That means we will pray as though everything depends upon God and work as though everything depends upon us."

My love,
Patty

New Mt. Prospect Dance Club Takes Indian Name

BIG SOCIAL EVENT of the spring season was the recent dinner dance heralding the beginning of a new dance group made up of 95 Mount Prospect couples. The club has been named Sa-tur-ka, an Indian translation of "night dancer." Among the dancers were Robert Freitag, Mrs. William Anderson, Warren D. Knol and Mrs. Knol. Dancers are already eagerly looking forward to the summer dance scheduled for July 19.

TABLES FOR 10 OR 12 were arranged beforehand by the committee with an eye to mixing the members so all might know each other. The affair was held in the recently re-opened Brookwood country club destroyed by fire two years ago. Compliments are still pouring in to the committee in charge. Mr. and Mrs. William Fankboner, left, chat with Mrs. Wilbur Burhans, a member of the committee planning the affair.

HAPPY GROUP at the Sa-tar-ka club's first dinner dance held recently in Brookwood country club was Mrs. Robert Freitag, William Anderson and Mrs. Ted W. Small. The Smalls were hosts at one of the many dinner tables and provided white flowers for their table. They also entertained at a cocktail party before the dance.

ENJOYING THE LAVISH DINNER, the excellent company and the dancing at Brookwood country club, scene of the first dinner dance of a newly-formed Mount Prospect dance group, are Frank Restivo and Mrs. R. H. Huber, who were among 190 persons attending the affair.

ANNIVERSARY COUPLE at the Sa-tur-ka club dinner dance was Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Zellmer who thought the dinner dance was an ideal way to observe their special day.

PRESIDENT of the newly-formed Mount Prospect dance group is Mrs. Thomas Bodine, chatting here with Ted W. Small, one of the welcoming hosts for the evening. The Bodines were hosts before the dinner dance at a cocktail party in their home for members of the committee who have consented to help with the group's various parties.

Arlington, Palatine Dedicate New Post Offices

The Antiquated Method....

HINDERED BY GLASS, wire and wood barriers, Palatine postal employees and townspeople had difficulty transacting business back and forth across the barrier. A scale set in front of the clerk, Joe Buklis, and rubber stamps hung in a make-shift array on the wall.

Move Compared To Pony Express

"The mail must go through" has been a post office slogan since the days of the pony express. They're true even today.

Instead of having Indians as a deterrent, today's postal officials are confronted by such obstacles as the moving of a post office.

Yet, most townspeople were unable to tell that such a move occurred in Arlington Heights in December and in Palatine last month.

Like riders switching horses, postal officials had everything ready to move at a precise moment. When the signal was given, movers charged into the old quarters, removing safes, desks, sorting racks, and miscellaneous equipment.

When mailmen returned, they entered new quarters all set to pick up where they left off. Everything had come off without a hitch.

As a culmination of the event, both the Palatine and Arlington Heights post offices were dedicated Saturday, April 5, with Congresswoman Marguerite Stitt Church and Robert R. Justus, Chicago regional post office director, performing the honors.

Despite inclement weather, many townspeople turned out for the dedication of both post offices, a tribute to the unheralded service it performs for the community.

The Modern Method....

UNHINDERED BY BARRIERS of any type, Clerk Harold Faughnan transact parcel post business over the counter at Palatine's new post office. Exactly measured drawers are provided for cash and stamps. Scale is set into a recessed part of the beautifully polished counter.

RIBBON CUTTING during dedication ceremonies of Arlington Heights' new post office April 5 was joyfully performed by pretty Leslie Lou Troutman under the watchful eye of Postmaster Virginia Dodge (center) and Congresswoman Marguerite Stitt Church, one of the dedication dignitaries.

DESPITE RAINY AND COLD WEATHER, many residents of both Arlington Heights and Palatine came out Saturday, April 5, for the dedication of their community post offices.

PALATINE POSTMASTER Charles J. O'Hara gratefully thanks Congresswoman Marguerite Stitt Church for presenting his post office with an American flag which flew over the nation's capitol in Washington, D.C. Inclement weather made flag raising ceremonies outside during the dedication an impossibility.

Urges Study of Youth Program

This weekend our criminology class here at Illinois Wesleyan university in a very informative field trip visited the State prison at Pontiac, the Reformatory for Women at Dwight, the Monroe Street Court, and met with Sheriff Lohman and a part of his staff in the County Building.

This was the first opportunity I had to hear from Sheriff Lohman concerning the problem of law enforcement within Cook county. I am especially concerned about the continuation and extension of the new programs which have been instituted during his term of office.

Politics appears to be of second consideration to Sheriff Lohman. I am not sure that this will be the situation during the next term—whether the winner be Republican or Democrat. We can insure the continuation of these programs only through public demand. The public will not demand the continuation of these programs until the public interest has been aroused, as now appears to be the case in connection with the development of a citizen committee to study the problems of the migrant worker within our area.

I am especially interested in the school program in delinquency prevention and control which was described to us today and which appears in a booklet entitled "Law Enforcement and Delinquency Controls in Cook County" by Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman, April 1, 1958, pp. 16-18. As our suburban areas meet greater movement and disorganization through further development we are witnessing an increase in delinquency.

This program within the schools of the county and especially in the township high schools appears to hold great promise for the future. It could do much to aid crime prevention and more positively direct the effort of our law enforcement officers and the attitude of our young people towards these officers.

I am suggesting that Paddock Publications consider doing a study of this program in the same manner as it carried out the study of the migrant worker.

The Addison Street Program

To Ernst E. Leinss (Fence Post, April 10):

I believe the majority of the people who voted against the street program voted conscientiously and selfishly. Who isn't selfish these days of high prices?

We who have bought these new homes had the cost of streets, sewers, lighting and sidewalks included in the price of our home and have paid a much higher price than you folks in the old section of Addison have for your homes.

As for the disposal system—We too are paying each time the water bill comes out. You aren't paying for that alone.

Come out with a decent proposal, where you folks who will benefit the most bear the main brunt of the proposal and the rest is financed by a sound program that eventually doesn't fall back to the taxpayers to finish paying and we'll be glad to vote your streets in.

What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. You want to have your cake and eat it. Only the new homeowners in Addison are on their toes and, I hope, continue to be. The street program that we voted down was unsound!

A Paper That's Bigger, Better

Just a word of appreciation for your articles of Notre Dame high school activities in the April 10 issue of the Arlington Heights Herald.

I have two sons attending Notre Dame high school and find the article very helpful in keeping up with their school activities.

These articles are also of utmost interest to the girls attending St. Patrick's high school in Des Plaines. These girls number about 100 in this area.

Congratulations on putting out a paper that gets bigger and better every week.

Clear Will of Majority?

As a member of the Hoffman Estates Homeowner's association, I hereby wish to register my complete and utter disapproval of the Homeowner's Board of Directors decision to cast aside the clear will of the majority of residents and homeowners. It is apparent that the will of the majority of voters is being thwarted by the will of Mr. Hoffman.

I insist that the name of Twinbrook be restored to its proper place in all incorporation proceedings as well as on the petition for incorporation which is to be filed this week.

I also demand the immediate resignation of those 12 board members who voted to reject the voters' choice.

Appreciation for Help

This is just a note, somewhat belated, to thank you for the vonderful publicity we received on our antique show.

You might be interested to know that the show was a huge success and we all know what an important part the excellent publicity played. Many people came saying, "We saw it in the Paddock paper."

Thank you again for all your help.

Can't Something Be Done?

The pigs are at it again. What else can you call these low people who persist in driving along public roads and dump all their junk and trash along the sides? There's everything from boxes to bottles and can to old lamp shades, old trunks and this year there is even an old crib mattress.

I've lived on Illinois ave. for six years now and every spring and summer it's the same thing. But I thought this year, since there's been a new school built on this road and since the Pleasant Hill's home building has come right to the road too, and also it's police patrolled, there might have been a stop to it. We people who live here on Illinois are careful to burn all our trash and see to it that all cans and other trash is taken to the dump. And it makes us feel very disgusted that because of these people who do these things our road looks so bad.

Isn't there something that can be done about it?

Illinois Voters Will Have Opportunity To Take 'Kinks' Out of Court System

Editorial Writer Explains 'Why' of Judicial Reform

by TOM BRENNAN

Illinois voters will have an opportunity to overhaul their chaotic, outmoded court system next November.

The proposed judicial reform amendment to be on the ballot in November won't take all the kinks out of the courts but it will go far toward improving them, a Chicago editorial writer told an Arlington Heights audience last week.

The speaker was A. T. Burch, associate editor of the Chicago Daily News, who addressed the annual banquet of the Arlington Heights chapter of the League of Women Voters.

Delving into the history of the reform movement, Burch said that it got under way 8 to 10 years ago with two objectives.

The first was to change the method of selecting judges; the second to reorganize the court system itself.

"Cook county has a maze of courts," Burch declared. "There are Circuit, Superior, Probate, County, Municipal, magistrate and justice of peace courts. There is hardly a member of the Chicago Bar association who can tell you the names of all the judges.

"Because there are so many different courts, it is a sheer impossibility for the voters at large to inform themselves about the qualifications of individual judges. Although we vote for the judges, they are in fact appointed by one party or the other."

Burch, who directs the editorial page of the Daily News, said the supporters of judicial reform tried to correct this condition but failed to have their plan included in the amendment which the voters will pass on next fall. They proposed that a panel of laymen and lawyers select the candidates, with the public to ratify the choices.

"THE DEMOCRATIC party machine opposed this on the grounds that the citizens alone have the right to pick their judges," Burch asserted. Actually this is an "illusory" right because the party now picks the judges for the people, he countered.

Although the 1956 legislature knocked the proposed change in the method of selecting judges out of the reform bill, the second principal aim — court reorganization — was left in.

Every court in Illinois — from the justice of peace court held at 2 a.m. in the farmer's front hallway to the Illinois Supreme court with its tightly governed procedures and sedate atmosphere — would be affected by the proposed judicial amendment to the state constitution.

STARTING AT THE top, Burch outlined the principal inadequacy of the state Supreme court. Pointing out that Cook county and 4 adjoining counties comprise 1 district and hence elect only one of seven justices, he said "You could not find a more fantastic system in the United States."

The present apportionment is completely unfair to the populous Chicago area because this district contains more than 50 per cent of the state's population, he explained.

The reform would divide the state into three districts. Cook county would form a single district and elect three Supreme court justices; two other districts would each have a pair of justices.

COURTS AT the intermediate level, Appellate courts, would undergo lesser changes under the amendment but the major change would be at the base of the system, in Circuit courts.

"Cook county is notorious in the nation for having its court calendar in arrears," informed Burch. "It frequently takes five or six years to bring a civil suit to trial. This is a denial of justice. Plaintiff or witnesses may die, memories may dim."

To streamline the maze of courts, the present Circuit, Superior, Municipal, Probate and County courts would be consolidated into one Circuit court with many branches, all with equal jurisdiction.

CHICAGO AND suburban Municipal court judges would become associate judges of the Circuit court. The city of Chicago would elect 36 associate judges, the suburbs would elect 12.

The office of police magistrate and justice of peace, as presently established, would be abolished. But sitting JP's and magistrates would be taken into the system as magistrates and would probably continue to parcel out justice as they do now, Burch thought.

In the future, however, the magistrates would be named by — and removed at the will of — the Circuit judges.

THE EDITORIAL writer noted that many JP's are battling court reform. They don't want to lose their fee offices. Some downstate Supreme court justices who are reluctant to step down when their districts are consolidated are also lukewarm about the amendment, he said.

In urging widespread citizen support of the "Blue Ballot" next fall, Burch acknowledged that the judicial amendment was not "perfect." "But the people of Illinois are starved for such reform," he added, "and half a loaf is better than none when you're going hungry."

Something You Can Get Rid Of

The Way We See It

Expanding Trailer Park Is Threat to Forest Preserve

If northwest suburban residents heard of a plan to build a trailer camp right in the middle of Busse forest preserve, they would shout their disapproval.

The outcry would be greater than the protests several years ago over the elk in Busse Woods. When preserve officials attempted to get rid of the herd—the only one east of the Rockies—the public made them change their minds.

But unless the public again exerts powerful pressure on county officials, a small (65-trailer) camp on a Higgins rd. site will grow into a large camp.

The camp is just across Higgins rd. from the elk pen and is part of the "business district" which straddles the road. The other businesses are a grocery store, tavern and service station and garage.

County officials have taken the attitude that the businesses won't be forced out—although surrounded by forest preserve—because the services they offer are needed by visitors to Busse Woods.

A year ago the camp on the south side of Higgins rd. was home to about 15 trailers. Now, by a late count of a county health department inspector, there are 64 trailers.

The owner of the camp has discussed plans for expansion to 200 trailers with the county health department.

What sort of official approval was needed for the increase from 15 to 65 trailers and will be needed if the number is upped to 200 trailers?

Two county agencies which have much to do with trailer parks are the county board and the county health department. The county board has control over establishment of new mobile home parks, through its zoning powers. The health department regulates their sewage facilities, issuing permits for a stated number of trailers.

The county board didn't have to rezone land for the Higgins rd. camp, as it was merely expanding, not starting anew. So there was no zoning hearing at which the public might have given its views. The owner already had vacant land zoned long ago for such a use.

As to the health department approval, the camp has a permit valid only for 18 trailers, a health department official admitted. The owner applied for an increase several months ago and it hasn't been approved.

Under topsy-turvy county rules, the owner brings in more trailers, later gets permission to keep them.

Thus the past expansion easily glided through the flimsy set of protective regulations and apparently there is nothing in the books to halt further enlargement.

It is ironic that the county commissioners—the same men who run the forest preserves wearing other hats—last month refused to rezone property across the road from the trailers for a proposed milk distribution depot.

There is another point that bears mentioning. The forest preserve has bought and is still buying farmland west of the older part of Busse Woods. All the land west to Rohlwing rd. is to be acquired.

So the trailer camp won't be at the west edge of the forest when trees are planted on newly-purchased lands. The camp will be smack in the center of the woods.

The way the northwest suburbs are growing, the forest preserves will be the only 'green spots" left in this section of Cook county within 5 to 10 years. Thus their wooded retreats and recreation grounds are the northwest area's most valuable natural resources. Every time ground is broken for a new factory, subdivision or supermarket, the value of our last remaining "outdoors" goes up.

How can the northwest area prevent the spoliation of Busse Woods by the expansion of its trailer camp? Or is the eyesore camp there for good?

The county board has the power to condemn the property and buy it for a fair price. The county forest preserve officials didn't hestitate to condemn and buy nearby farms in the past several years.

Northwest residents must demand their county officials take immediate steps to acquire the trailer camp property as public lands, by condemnation if necessary.

The natural beauty of Busse Woods must be aggressively conserved, or it will be forever destroyed.

In The Shadow Of The Steeple

Wilmer DeHuff Marks 40 Years as Educational Leader

by WILLIAM O. McGILL

There is a great deal of talk about education becoming lax in the fundamentals in recent years. And it is also being said that engineering graduates particularly have little awareness of the cultural opportunities of education.

For a moment or two I would like to pay tribute to a man who has spent forty years combining an emphasis on scholarship in education, a comprehensive curriculum, and an insistence on the civic responsibility of the educated person.

WILMER DeHUFF is about to retire as principal of the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute, a high school which offers a college prep course from which many graduate to the sophomore year at a number of the eastern engineering schools.

Poly has had a major advantage in maintaining its toughness. It has always been able to select its students from the better boys of all of Baltimore's grammar schools. Even so, at the time I was a student, it seemed that four and a half years was more typical of the graduating class members than four years. At Poly, it was no disgrace to fail a course or a semester.

AS INSTITUTIONS are often the shadows of great men, so this public school has become in large measure the shadow of its principal. Beyond his contribution to education, Dr. DeHuff thinks of himself as leaving four words to his favorite school: Freedom, responsibility, goodness, mercy. It is said that you can ask almost any student, any graduate, and he'll tell you these words are the light which illumines the Poly curriculum.

There has never been a teacher on duty anywhere in the school except in his own classroom. We didn't even have hall guides or monitors. And there was more student government in a public high school, so far as I was concerned, than there was in a church college several years later.

TEACHERS ARE salesmen, according to Dr. DeHuff. He has always told members of the faculty, "You're selling a product your boys don't want to buy. You've got to convince them what you have to sell—a good education—is worth buying."

While students have always been segregated according to scholastic achievement, there has also been complete integration in all other school activities. There were the A, B and C courses, with the A being the more comprehensive. These graduates became sophomores; B course graduates were college preparatory students; and the C course was more for young men seeking a technical background for skilled work.

Poly was the first school in the Baltimore system to initiate racial integration. The quiet and complete success of this move is a tribute to the emphasis on scholarship, citizenship and school morale which has always been true of the school.

BUT IT STILL remains staunchly anti-feminist.

I am glad to pay tribute to Wilmer DeHuff because I think he has been a large influence in my own life as well as in the lives of 20,000 other young men who have been students at Poly. He wanted every one of us to understand our freedom, to value it and to protect it. And he wanted every one of us to be a humane person. As far as he was able to see, we had to be educated men to fit the role.

Holland Offers Local Fame To Smugglers with Daring

by BILL DILLINGHAM

Would you like to become famous? Holland is offering local fame to almost anybody with a little daring and ingenuity. All the person has to do is attempt to smuggle something across the Dutch border—using clever methods—and then get caught!

In Rotterdam there is a smuggler's museum constantly on the lookout for new material. It is packed with displays of methods that people have used in smuggling things into and out of Holland. The Dutch public gives this building more cultural study than any of the art or science museums in the city.

WALKING AROUND the "Nederlands Belasting museum" one gets ideas on how not to commit such a crime. There is a stick of shaving soap, hollow, that had been used to carry money. There is a necktie, a bit thick when loaded, once used to carry cigarettes. One can find shoes with double soles and hollow heals. There is even a Bible that, when opened, has no pages for spiritual enlightenment, but instead a bottle of spirits for physical uplift.

In a heavily-protected case there is a complete automobile fender fashioned from gold. Just a bit of the black paint has been scraped away to show the public its yellow color. The circumstances of the attempted smuggling, plus a photo of the smiling man seated in his car, appear on a small plaque.

In the "Hall of Fame" there are several stuffed dogs. These were part of the police corps. One of them died while on duty apprehending a coffee smuggler in the woods. Another one, although he succumbed only to old age, had a distinguished record of tearing out the seats of smugglers' pants.

ALSO ON DISPLAY is a large radio-controlled model airplane. It was flown back and forth across the Belgian-Dutch border years ago carrying anything within limits of its 2-pound cargo capacity. The two men who worked this trade are given their due note on a plaque.

"Unfortunately," explains a museum pamphlet in good humor, "the most clever devices for smuggling are not on display here, for their inventors were never caught."

What's behind the PRICE TAG
on a
USED CAR?

When you shop for a USED CAR, the big question in your mind is—WHAT WILL YOU GET FOR YOUR MONEY?

You can't answer that by merely looking the car over, or even listening to the engine. The smart thing to do is to BUY YOUR CAR FROM A DEALER WHO HAS A REPUTATION TO MAINTAIN.

We're Buick dealers. We know it pays to sell dependable cars. We intend to stay in business—to keep making new friends. And we know that the good will of a used-car customer is just as important as that of a man who buys a brand-new Buick.

That's why we recondition and guarantee our best cars—and sell them under a rigid ALL SQUARE POLICY. When we're willing to stand behind them, with all our resources and our reputation—you know they're bargains in QUALITY as well as in PRICE!

Most of these are fine one-owner cars—priced low enough so your present car will more than cover the down payment.

Owner asking $25,900

ARE YOU SQUEEZED BY INFLATION, DOWN PAYMENTS, MONTHLY PAYMENTS AND TAXES?

MORE TO COME —
Why buy a home when you can buy a 3-apartment building for as little as $5000 down—plus live in one unit—for as low as $125 per month including all payments including taxes.

MORE TO COME —
Why not consider a building of this type which will add to your retirement income including social security plus your pension.

MORE TO COME —
We have worked for one solid year on planning and designing these units. They are most unusual because they do not look like row houses or ordinary apartments. We get the most for the least by good planning plus quality construction.

MORE TO COME —
The center unit has 3 large bedrooms, 1½ baths, beautiful living room, full basement, very large kitchen and extraordinary closet space and kitchen cabinet space. The two end units have 3 bedrooms, 1½ baths and they are bi-level units. They are extremely flexible from the standpoint of living.

MORE TO COME —
These units have over 3900 square feet of living area in total, and cannot be duplicated for the price that we are offering.

MORE TO COME —
All units are self-contained insofar as heat, light, etc. We will give you bona-fide renters to rent all of the units from $160 to $175 per month. All units will be in top locations so as to insure top rentals for years to come.

LISTINGS WANTED

We have a large waiting list of buyers who wish to purchase homes almost immediately.

For example, we have two customers who wish to purchase 2-bedroom homes. One needs a full basement and the other does not need a basement.

We also have two customers who wish to purchase 2-story houses in the $30,000 to $32,000 price bracket. We also have customers who wish homes in almost any price bracket.

We do not solicit exclusive listings. We only seek homes that are realistically priced for immediate sale.

If you have a home that you wish to sell, why not call us and let us work out your problem of selling?

County Gets Extension on Sewage Tests

(CNS)—The Cook county department of health has been granted another month to finish running tests on the sewage disposal system under construction behind the White Stucco Lounge in Maine township.

The health department will report its findings to County Judge Ross Millet on May 8.

Michael Zeravich, of Des Plaines, owner of the lounge and a house next door, is charged with dumping sewage into the Des Plaines river through a tile.

ROBERT DE JONGE, chief sanitary engineer for the county, said Zeravich had been collecting and depositing offal, filth, and other noisome substances on the west side of River road north of Central avenue in Maine township.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Houpt said the suit will probably be dismissed if the health department approves the system. (BS

by CAROL BUNTING

No shopping center would be complete without a family drug store. Of course the Prospect Heights shopping center is no exception to this tradition, and can boast of one of the finest modern drug stores in the entire area.

The Prospect Heights pharmacy is located on Elmhurst rd. right next to the medical center and has been serving the residents of this community for many years.

DRUG STORES have branched out in recent years from just handling prescriptions and medical preparations for their customers. In today's modern drug stores you will find cosmetics of all types and descriptions, general medicine cabinet items, baby goods, and many small household items.

However, the principle purpose of a store of this kind is still to serve the residents of the community by preparing prescriptions. The Prospect Heights Pharmacy has a registered pharmacist on duty every hour that it is open to be ready to serve its customers.

In addition to preparing prescriptions to perfection, the store will also deliver its prescriptions to customers. This is a wonderful comfort to those who are unable to make the trip to the pharmacy themselves and has given many an anxious mother a moments peace. Your doctor need only phone in his prescription to the Prospect Heights pharmacy and it will be all ready when you come in or they will deliver it to you as soon as it has been prepared.

So if you need prescription service, be sure you tell your doctor to phone the Prospect Heights pharmacy or you take your prescription to them and you will be sure of the very finest prescription service.

SPRING TIME MEANS new hats and clothes as well as the wonders of the new flowers and gardens. It also means the end of a long and dreary winter and for the lady in your house nothing will give her more of a lift than a visit to the Duet Beauty shop and a new hair do.

The beauticians at the Duet Beauty shop have recently attended a convention in Chicago where the very latest in hair styling and fashioning was presented to beauticians from all over the country. Stylists from New York and Paris presented their original models and now right here in Prospect Heights you can have your hair styled with as much professional care as the Paris shops can give.

Soft natural permanents and short hair are again in style. Also one of the most popular things is the coloring of your hair. Now there is no reason for you to have dull drab colorless hair just because nature endowed you with it. With professional care, such as you will receive at the Duet Beauty shop in Prospect Heights, you can make your hair look alive with beautiful new color. Hair coloring no longer looks like it is artificial. Today you can't tell who has the natural color of her hair and who helps nature out.

For a new hair style, permanent, or beautiful new hair coloring visit the Duet Beauty shop in the Prospect Heights shopping center.

THE HEIGHTS liquor store is very conscious of the shoppers efforts to save money on their purchases. That is one of the many reasons why you can be sure that everytime you go into the Heights Liquor store that you are getting more for your money than you could any place else in the area. Each week the store puts out a list of new items that are special buys for their customers.

Here you will find top name brands and a representative stock of all of the various types of liquors available. Scotches, whiskeys, wines, beers and anything else that you can think of, and there will be one or more items from these categories on sale.
